A few feet to the right or left and this could have been a different picture: A car driven by Jeffrey M. Davis, 20, of 50 Johnson rd., ran off the road on the Mystic Valley parkway, smashed through the Aberjona Bridge fence, hurled over the Aberjona River, and landed on an embankment, at 2:25 p.m. Tuesday. Davis, who was uninjured, said that his gas pedal stuck and his car went out of control. MDC police said that no charges will be pressed. (Staff photo)

At $115,000 cost

School board ok's list of budget items

The school committee gave preliminary support Monday night to 12 budget-related requests which could cost as much as $115,461.

The 12 requests were picked from a list of 43 separate items submitted to the committee by Superintendent William C. MacDonald.

The superintendent presented the 43 items in two separate groups, one of 15 "high priority" and another of 28 "low priority" issues. The committee okayed 11 of the "high priority" group submitted by the superintendent and added one more of their own from the second list.

The approval Monday night was part of the school board's attempt to refine their priorities before digging into the budget preparation for next year. There are still several issues pending consideration by the committee.

Primary Ratios

The most expensive single item is reducing the pupil-teacher ratio at the primary grade level (kindergarten through third grade) to 22:1. Based on projected enrollments for next year, this would mean utilizing two and two-fifths more teaching positions than would be required under the present formulas for a cost of $33,396, according to Assistant Superintendent for Administration Jack Fallon. (The current formula calls for a 25:1 ratio past the first grade.)

Though he admitted that professional opinion is evenly divided over the relative merits of lower ratios, MacDonald said the 22:1 ratio "would provide more individual help for kids when principals feel it is most needed." He said the lower ratio would give the shrinking staffs at the elementary level more flexibility and improve education.

"The highest priority you can give is to provide an effective ratio for good education," was the superintendent's response to how he rated this item against another approved by the committee, staffing for the elementary libraries.

"If by going to the 22-to-1 ratio we are substantially reducing the number of split classes in the primary grades, then I'm in favor of it," commented board member Constance Papis.

"I think 22-to-1 would give the principals flexibility to reduce the number of split classes, but there's no guarantee," replied MacDonald.

(Split classes result when children from two different grades are placed together to conform class sizes to the pupil-teacher ratio guidelines. The committee and the administration generally agree that grades 1 and 2 are the least desirable levels to split.) The board voted unanimously to rate lowering the ratios in grades K-3 as a high priority.

Elementary Clerk-aides

The committee voted 3-2, with Chairman Robert Frank and Catherine Alexander opposed, to support a $26,744 expenditure to reinstate half-time clerk-aide positions at the elementary level and utilize half those aides' time to staff the elementary libraries (this encompassed two of the original 43 issues). "It is a compromise, but I think it's a realistic one," said MacDonald of the proposal. He pointed out that the principals say they need the clerical staff to handle record-keeping and curriculum work.

Assistant Superintendent for Curriculum Walter Gleason explained that with the clerk-aides on hand in the libraries, the libraries could be open. Some of the elementary libraries have been closed because of a lack of volunteer help. You've got to have the doors open to have it (a library) used, and you've got to get someone in there to get the doors open," Gleason said.

The major objection from the committee was that the clerk-aides would not be trained librarians. Gleason argued that at least the clerk-aides would be full time, making it

WHS to admit adults to classes this winter

The Winchester High School is beginning this winter a program of admitting adults to classes of the regular school day. In a survey just completed, a majority of the teachers indicated they would like to have adults in the class. The decision was, therefore, to make adult admittance available in all departments, beginning in the second semester of this year.

In a recent interview, high school Principal Vincent Larocco and Assistant Superintendent for Instruction, Dr. Walter Gleason said that the rich resource of talent, materials and equipment that exists in our school should be made available to all townspeople. Further, the administrators contend, the mix of generations in the classes should provide a learning experience for all concerned and generate better understanding between children and adults while pursuing a common task.

Principal Larocco and Dr. Gleason expect that the experience and work habits of the adults will provide a good example in the classroom and for adults the realization that the high school work of today is as rigorous, if not more so, than the days of their first schooling. Both men say they are looking forward to improving the service to, and communication with, the townspeople.

In order to assure the smoothest relationship possible, there are certain conditions which have been established for adult admittance:

1. Adults are expected to complete the course once they are enrolled.
2. No auditing permitted. Adults will take exams, prepare papers, receive marks, and participate fully in the activities of the class, but will not receive credits except as undergraduates.

3. Adults will be admitted according to openings available. By the addition of an adult: a. no academic class shall exceed 25 students; b. no art class shall exceed 20 students; c. no shop or home economics laboratory class shall exceed 16 students.

4. No parents of students in the same class.

5. Assignments to class are on a teacher's voluntary basis.

6. Same prerequisites, or equivalent, expected from students are expected also from adults.

7. If at any time during the semester, a problem were to arise with regards to the adult in the classroom, the teacher and adult would meet to determine whether the person should continue in the course.

8. Must be a resident of the town.

Since the program will begin at the end of the present fall semester, only those courses which begin in the second semester will be open for adults during this school year. There could be exceptions, depending on the background and experience of the applicant. Next year all courses which meet the conditions will be open to adults, beginning in September.

It is not possible to print in an announcement all of the courses available or the prerequisites necessary for each. If you are interested in taking a course at the high school, please contact the department head by phone for further information. The high school phone is 729-9303. The department heads are:

English, Ms. Russell; Math, Mr. Waite; Social Studies, Mr. O'Connor; Science, Mr. Finigan; Foreign Language, Miss Holden; Industrial Arts, Mr. Aversa; Home Economics, Ms. Nelson; Art, Mr. Tracy; Music, Mr. Cowgill; Business Education, Mrs. Forte; Physical Education, Mrs. Dolan.

Confront DPW problems

Tonaszuck tells selectmen: morale good, work gets done

Selectmen called Department of Public Works Director Walter J. Tonaszuck in to their meeting Monday night to answer some questions and provide some explanations about employee complaints. The questions were raised by town employees at two recent DPW forums, but selectmen wanted further clarification from the director.

Summing up the department's situation, Tonaszuck said, "The morale in general is good and the work is being accomplished."

There were five main points of discussion. Highways Operations Manager Edward J. Murphy accompanied Tonaszuck.

Snow and ice availability. The question came up at the forums about having men on standby for snow and ice removal during weekend emergencies.

Before consolidation of the four divisions now under the DPW (highways, parks, cemetery, and water and sewer), only the highway workers were expected to be available during snow alerts. Now there is one contract covering all the DPW employees and everyone is expected to be available, Tonaszuck explained. "There has been a double standard until now. The collective bargaining agreement says that all employees of the department understand they need to be available."

In response to a question from Selectman Edward O'Connell, Tonaszuck said that almost all employees are needed to cover the 30 snowplow routes, the bombadiers, snowblowers, during a heavy snow storm emergency. "We need to have very close to the maximum number," he said. There are 85 DPW employees.

Town Manager Thomas J. Groux said that if there is a "reasonable excuse" and a man has called in that he will not be available during a specific emergency, "it has not been our practice to deny the leave."

Tonaszuck commented, "This is not a volatile issue." He said that last winter a couple of men were "shook up" by letters he wrote to them. The letters, he said, were "of them" missed your attendance during the snowstorm type." There was no further problem after that, he said.

"The ones most upset are the ones with places in Maine where they want to be every weekend," Tonaszuck said. Selectmen Richard Wilsack took exception to Tonaszuck's explanations.

"I sense we are heading down a path with some unpleasantness," he said. Another time Wilsack commented, "I see a confrontation coming. We should have a healthy discussion now and not when there are eight inches of snow on the ground."

When he asked Tonaszuck if there had been any discussion about the snow and ice standby procedure, Tonaszuck replied that he was meeting Monday with the union representatives on this subject. He also mentioned that the men are not on "standby", which is a term denoting compensation for being available. The men are not compensated.

Wilsack asked if the DPW had considered any other methods of assuring that snow removal would be accomplished during an emergency.

Tonaszuck questioned the use of contract service as some other towns have done. He would want to consider the expense of such action. "The number one consideration in this town is snow removal. That's the one service people here demand more than any other. I invite any member of the board to spend an hour with us during a snow storm. Some of these men work 36 hours in a row," Tonaszuck said.

Wilsack, again indicating a potentially "unpleasant" winter, said, "There is more flexibility when manpower is higher and the men intend to test this to the limit. I have spoken with the men."

The problem, Tonaszuck said, is the single standard which the men are not used to. Arthur Dunbar said, "Either honor the contract or not. We must have guarantees the plowing will get done."

Sale of salt. The DPW has recently stopped its traditional policy of selling salt to contractors because "the practice impinges on the town yard quite severely," Town Manager Groux told the board.

Tonaszuck explained the change in policy which affects 20 contractors a year for a total of $4000 in sales. He said that the money from the sales comes from the DPW budget but goes into the treasurer's account; that the actual amount of salt taken can't be accurately measured; and that safety in the yard is jeopardized by having the contractors come in to pick up salt.

Selectman Edward O'Connell retorted, "This has been a tradition in our town, a community sense, a mood and I do not want to see it discontinued." He added that he has been led to believe that contractors would be willing to pay more than the current $17 a ton. "I view this as part of the total effort to keep the streets clear of snow and ice," he said.

Contractors for a number of years have purchased salt to put down in front of businesses, the hospital, and shops. Private individuals have been accustomed to stopping by the yard for an occasional pail of sand or salt. That practice had not been stopped when the sale of salt to contractors was halted.

Selectman Harry Chelaflo seconded O'Connell's thoughts and Wilsack also supported "the position my brothers are taking on this." Selectmen Chairman Barbara S. Hanks asked that if this policy is to be discontinued, it be done gradually and with notice given the contractors. "There are not many places to store salt in town," she said.

Arthur Dunbar asked Tonaszuck to compute the cost of salt, including labor and book work, and to charge enough "to cover ourselves."

The sale of salt will resume. Sick time docked for emergency. At the recent DPW forums, employees complained about being docked for time spent in the hospital for treatment of on-job emergencies.

Board appoints Faggiano temporary town comptroller

Alphonse J. Faggiano, senior accountant in the town comptroller's office, has been appointed temporary comptroller to fill the position left vacant by James J. Costello's resignation Sunday.

The appointment is temporary until selectmen choose a new town comptroller. This sequence is stated in Section 5-5 (c) of the town charter.

To assist them in making this new selection, the board has established a screening committee and has posted information soliciting members on the town clerk's bulletin board. Resumes are being received in the board of selectmen's office.

Costello resigned his post as comptroller apparently because of internal problems in Town Hall.

Conmen stoop pretty low

You can't trust anybody these days. A man in his 80's found that out Thursday when he was conned by so-called workmen. The impostors talked the Tremont street resident, who lives alone, into allowing them to repair his front steps.

The men did work on the owner's steps and when they were finished, the owner gave them $70 to cover the cost of cement. Later, when the workmen left and the steps fell in, the man realized he had been conned.

Checking his house, the elderly man found that the thieves had made away with two handguns and $50 in cash.

In other police news, a car bounced off a stone wall and hit a utility pole at 12:15 a.m., Friday. The uninjured driver was given a citation for driving so as to endanger.

Another accident occurred in the White Hen Pantry parking lot Oct. 19. A Burlington man was charged with operating a vehicle after the revocation of his license.

A door was forced open at the V.V. Specialists Repair Shop and power tools, wrenches and air guns taken Sunday night.

More than $200 worth of lumber was stolen from Harrison Environmental Co. sometime after closing on Monday.

The Blackhorse Bootery was ransacked Tuesday night. Leather jackets and jewelry were taken.

A white 1967 Ford wrecker was stolen from Frankie's B.P. gas station Sunday night.

Sometime between Thursday and Saturday two diamond rings were stolen from a Forrest circle home. The owner had left her home during this time and upon returning found that a bulkhead had been forced open.

A Winchester youth was arrested and placed in protective custody on Sunday. Several Winchester and Burlington youths were causing a disturbance in front of 596 Main st. at 2:15 a.m.

2 found guilty of possession, plan to appeal

Two local men who were arrested on South Border rd. on July 30 were found guilty in Woburn District Court of possession with intent to sell four pounds of Marijuana (a Class C substance) which has a street value of $30 to $40 an ounce.

A 21-year-old Winchester man was found guilty of two counts of possession of a controlled substance on Oct. 6. He was sentenced to two years in the House of Correction on each count, with two year's suspension, and fined $1000 plus a $125 surfine. After he was charged with conspiracy to violate the Controlled Substance Law and found innocent in District Court on Wednesday.

A 23-year-old Medford man was also found guilty of one count of possession of the same substance and was sentenced to one year in the House of Correction with two year's suspension. He was found innocent of conspiracy.

Both men appealed the guilty verdict in Superior Court.

Lt. Andrew Crawford of the police department and Assistant District Attorney Neil Hasenstab prosecuted the case. Testifying was Sgt. Gil Frechetti of the Mass. State Police, assigned to the Metropolitan Enforcement Group.

Saraco cited for service by health officers

Winchester's Director of Public Health Michael D. Saraco was recently honored by the Massachusetts Health Officers Association (MHOA) with the John D. Crowley Award. The award is given annually to a MHOA member "who contributed to growth and success of the Mass. Health Officers Association through outstanding leadership and extraordinary service."

Saraco has been health director for 19 years and a town meeting member here for 30 years. He was presented the award at the MHOA's 10th annual conference Oct. 6 in North Falmouth.

A past president of the MHOA (1970-72), Saraco serves as a member of the State Board of Certification of Health Officers and himself holds certificates as a registered sanitarian and a health officer. From 1970-72 he was chairman of the State Department of Public Health Task Force on Environmental Health, and from 1968-72 he served as a member of the State Advisory Committee to the Massachusetts Community Colleges on Public-Environmental Health Technology.

In 1974, Saraco received the Paul Revere Award for his service in public health from the Mass. Public Health Association.

At the conference in October, Saraco took part in a panel on food services. He was cited for developing the first form for caterers which records the caterer's endorsement by the local public health board. The form serves as a guarantee of approval for the public, and Dr. George Michael, director of the Food and Drug Division of the State Department of Public Health, recommended that all local boards of health adopt such a form.

Saraco lives at 24 Farow st. with his wife and daughter.

Winchester Health Director Michael D. Saraco, center, receives the John D. Crowley Award from the Mass. Health Officers Association. Making the presentation recently at the MHOA's annual meeting in North Falmouth are Dr. George Michael, left, director of the food and drug division; and Dr. David Kinlock, deputy commissioner of the Mass. Department of Public Health.

★ Selectmen

Tonaszuck said that for the last month has if time spent in the hospital is an hour or less and the employee returns to work, then there would be no sick time docked.

Selectmen O'Connell and Wilsack questioned the length of time which is sometimes needed before treatment at the hospital and suggested that an employee who returns to work the same day not be docked.

This question was left unresolved, but Groux noted that workmen's compensation regulations are part of the problem.

Physicals. There was a question from an employee at the DPW forum about going to a town-recommended physician for a physical check-up. Barbara Hankins asked about for sending an employee to a town doctor after excessive time off before the employee returned to work.

Groux said that a couple of isolated situations have occurred when the DPW has sent an employee to an out-of-town doctor for an okay to return to work after excessive time off for sickness. The out-of-town physician was called because of scheduling problems with local doctors, he said. Tonaszuck added that section 9 of the contract with DPW employees provides for this contingency.

Contract work. Some employees have been concerned with an apparent increase in the number of contractual services the director has engaged. Tonaszuck explained to the board that "if substantial savings can be realized by going that route, they should be considered."

Of special interest to the board was the contract for cleaning catch basins. The town has been contracting with Ray's Catch Basin Cleaning Company to do the town's 3500 catch basins at a cost of $2.94 per catch basin. It would cost the town about $80 a day to do eight catch basins.

Tonaszuck was asked about equipment for the job and he said the town does have a machine which is outdated and which only two men have licenses to operate. He thought the town should hold on to the machine for the time being.

Barbara Hankins asked the question which was uppermost in the minds of the employees attending the DPW forums, she said. "Do you anticipate further reductions in personnel because contract services are more competitive?"

Tonaszuck answered, "I am submitting a budget which provides for two more people." Wilsack asked if the board could be apprised of contracts coming up quarterly, "so that we're not taken by surprise."

Barbara Hankins suggested that the descriptive part of the program budget would be a suitable place to elaborate on contracts.

Groux finished the discussion on contracts by reminding the board that "the benefit of contracting is to have more men available for jobs which have been delayed."

First aid kits. Barbara Hankins had been concerned about the lack of first aid kits in the town trucks. Tonaszuck, citing the high rate of theft of the easily portable kits, told her that last week he had ordered 20 of them.

Coerced retirement. A question of whether there was "forced retirement" in the case of two town employees, one current and one former, was referred to Town Counsel Douglas A. Randall. Arthur Dunbar was particularly concerned with the advisability of discussing the two cases in public session. Randall said he would check the retirement forms for reasons given for retirement to see if they belong in public or executive session under the open meeting law.

Trick-or-treaters who made their way down Sheffield West Monday night may have run into this annual visitor to Winchester in a dark doorway. For the rest of the year, she is disguised as Claudia Edgell of 8 Sheffield West.

Groux studying coordinator for youth services

Town Manager Thomas Groux is looking into the possibility of establishing a full-time youth services coordinator down at Town Hall.

Groux talked about his proposal at a recent meeting of the League of Women Voters.

"Winchester could use a professional person to develop better services to youth," Groux told the gathering. With the approval of the selectmen, the manager is investigating what Winchester might gain from hiring such a person.

Groux suggested that the person would be a full-time professional attached to the recreation department, who would assess unmet needs, develop programs, coordinate town agencies, and supervise volunteers. Groux told the League he thought it would not be practical to expect any temporary, federally-funded programs to answer the need.

The Winchester LWV has in recent years studied the recreational needs of the town as well as of the mental health resources available.

Last year, a committee under the leadership of Mrs. Donald Weintraub studied the problem of vandalism. All of the studies, according to the LWV reports, revealed that Winchester's recreational program for teenagers "is sadly lacking."

The reports also conclude that Winchester offers much less to this age group than many neighboring towns.

Misunderstandings?

"We did everything in our power to convince Jim to stay."

So say Selectmen Barbara S. Hankins and Arthur E. Dunbar, who have been concerned about misunderstandings generated by the town comptroller's decision to resign last Sunday.

Innuendoes and criticisms have been passed by word of mouth throughout the town, remarks about possible misdoings, power struggles, incompetence, even embezzlement.

Hankins and Dunbar, interviewed by The Star yesterday at their request, emphasized that they did not know the reason for Costello's resignation and that there was nothing the board of selectmen or the town manager could have done about it anyway once the town clerk's office received the official resignation.

It is state law, they said, that when the clerk's office receives the resignation it cannot be refused or turned down by the selectmen, the board that appoints the town comptroller.

"We do not know why Jim resigned," The board held an executive session October 12 to try to find out if there were problems between Costello and Town Manager Thomas J. Groux, but the two men had nothing but praise for each other at the time. Apparently there has been some kind of problem about bills not being paid because of inadequate or inaccurate information on various forms required by the comptroller before payment.

"We met with Jim individually and as a board to ask him to reconsider, but he wouldn't. We offered him time off to think about it, to take a vacation, to take a leave of absence," Costello has not had a vacation in two years. He's now in Ireland. The work load has been particularly heavy this summer, Mrs. Hankins said, because of the closing of the books at the end of the fiscal year at the same time as the switch to a new purchasing system and budgeting procedure.

"We would be very, very shocked to find that there is anything remiss in Town Hall." There have been accusations that Costello resigned before something was brought out into the open.

"Jim himself asked for an audit of the town books." It has been two years since the books were audited, a job done by the state. There have been changes in the state's administration and the books have not been looked at for a long time. Costello suggested looking into a private firm to do the audit. "He would not have even suggested such action if he knew about a problem with the books. He urged us to go to an outside firm."

"The town manager is not manipulating the board of selectmen. He knows better." It has been suggested that selectmen will appoint Groux's choice to replace Costello. Mrs. Hankins suggested that Groux will not even be present during interviews of candidates recommended by a screening committee which is in the process of being formed. Anyone interested in serving on the screening committee may write resumes to the board of selectmen.

"If Jim Costello were to come into the office tomorrow and say he's had a change of mind, there is no question we would reappoint him. We all agree about that." — KLV-F

Bay state roll call

Week of Oct. 24-28

The House, in the third roll call attempt in two weeks, approved 117-101, but failed to gain the necessary two-thirds, to suspend rules and allow introduction of an order requiring the House to work Monday through Friday, in full formal sessions, exclusive of holidays, until the work of the legislature is completed. Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr. voted for rules suspension to allow introduction of the order.

The House defeated 140-74 a final attempt to pass an amendment to freeze the legislators' salaries at $14,664. Saltmarsh voted to leave the salary at that level.

In the Senate, final approval was given a bill which allows witnesses to consult with their lawyers inside the grand jury room. Sen. Sam Rotondi voted for the bill, which passed 27-7.

The Senate gave initial approval 23-10 to a "license appeal" measure which authorizes the issuance of a restricted license to drivers who have had their license revoked or suspended and are finding it a hardship. Rotondi voted for the bill. He had voted against an amendment which would have prohibited the issuance of restricted licenses in cases of driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs, leaving the scene or an accident which caused death or injury, or when a vehicle had been used in commission of a felony. The Senate rejected that amendment 26-9.

The Senate did approve, however, another amendment to the "license appeal" law which prohibits reissuance of a restricted license to persons convicted of the same offense a second time. Rotondi voted in favor.

An amendment which would have established a separate collective bargaining unit for MDC police officers below the rank of captain was defeated 35-2. Rotondi voted against the amendment.

Pictorial editorial

The Winchester police department has an honor guard to top them all. Eleven members of the force, volunteering their time, formed the honor guard at Lt. James J. Cogan's suggestion for Memorial Day 1977. The Police Association provided funds for uniforms and equipment for the guard. The four flags the men carry were donated by the families of the late Andrew Saraco and Frederick Marasco and the family of William Gannon. When not on parade, the flags stand in the entrance hall of the police station. Seen marching here in Sunday's Halloween parade in Woburn are William Nash, Jaspar Asaro, Kenneth Albertelli, and Charles Culhane. (Staff photo)

Town Watch...

Stop signs on Wildwood

By The Observer

The forms have been signed and the wheels have been turned to start the process of installing two four-way stop signs on Wildwood street.

The signs, which must be approved by the state department of public works, will be placed at Wildwood-Woodside and Wildwood-Fletcher-Palmer.

A large group of residents of the area have been in arms over excessive speeding and dangerous conditions on the streets of that part of town. So, they got a petition together, asked for a public hearing, made themselves heard.

Something is being done now. Police and town manager recommendations would have seen traffic lights installed at these intersections (one a flashing light and the other a full set of changing lights) but the residents were against the lights.

Once in a while in town, a group of people decide something needs changing. They go through the right channels and get the thing done. Witness the Wadleigh School site. The park there has been a football field for impromptu fall football games, a strolling ground for babies, a place to sit under a tree and read a book.

Citizen concern made that park possible. Now citizen concern may, just may, be able to slow down the traffic on Wildwood street.

Sergeant Angelo Amico of the police department attended Firearms Training School at Camp Curtis Guild in Wakefield.

The course which ran from Sept. 26 through 30 dealt with practical shooting during combat situations. Weapons used were a 38 caliber service revolver and a 12 gauge shotgun. The course conducted by the F.B.I., simulates conditions which may be encountered by a patrolling officer.

Amico will become a fire instructor at the department. He will be assisting the semi-annual training program at Camp Curtis Guild under Officer Buzzotta.

David Swanson is a fifth grader at the Lincoln School. When he goes leaf-hunting in the fall he goes LEAF-HUNTING.

David found what has to be the all-time big maple leaf in Winchester. It measured 11 and a half inches by a foot.

That is a leaf! If they all looked like that we'd have leaf piles for Paul Bunyan himself to jump into!

From Dog Officer Nick Molea comes another warning.

A list has been received from data processing in town of all dog owners in Winchester. This list will be periodically checked for all unlicensed dogs.

If your dog is found not to be licensed, you will automatically receive a $10 dollar violation ticket. Any subsequent violations will bring fines of $15 and $20.

Molea has been trying for months to get all the dogs in town properly licensed. It's the law. Do your part and get the pooch licensed!

Jimmy Fund cans are now out in Winchester. Every year Officer Robert Baird of the police department places the cans in about 40 business localities. The department will be collecting money to fight cancer for the next three weeks to a month.

Selectmen have appointed Frances VerPlanck Winchester's representative to the new Middlesex Canal Commission. Mrs. VerPlanck will bring years of interest and expertise to the commission, which has been formed to work on preserving the remains of the canal.

Outraged

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Many of the people in this community are deeply upset and outraged with the resignation of James J. Costello, town comptroller. Jim in his wisdom and in good conscience, in my opinion, could no longer stand the flagrant violations of the law which were carried out by the town manager and other departments regarding incomplete information on many invoices.

The law concerning bids in excess of $2000 has been completely ignored. As I see it, this has been going on since the new regime took office. It appears to me that neither the town manager nor the head of the DPW qualify for positions they hold. Rather than a savings as a result of voting in the charter, our costs are constantly climbing because these two people are riding the gravy train.

Jim has worked for the town of Winchester for about twenty-five years and I know firsthand what a hard working, honest person he is. He ran his office strictly by the book with no exceptions and showed no favoritism to any individual or group of individuals. I also know that Jim, at this writing, has close to two years of accumulative sick leave and other leaves, all of which is wiped out as a result of his resignation. His deep interest in his work found him working many Saturdays and Sundays. He would work late at the office and at home, all gratis.

As time goes on there will be more early resignations of town employees because of the intolerable pressures on them by the new regime. As for the executive session held on Oct. 12, I, and others, believe that it was a "kangaroo court hearing", cut and dried against Jim Costello. No one can really fill his place.

Many people feel that because of Jim's resignation, the board of selectmen have an obligation to the townspeople to make a public statement, and if they won't make such a statement, they should submit their resignations. Too many people have lost faith in their ability to carry out the duties of this office.

The town manager should have nothing to do with the selection of a new comptroller. He would probably hire someone from Siberia.

The board of selectmen give the impression that the town manager is doing a superb job but people wonder what their definition is of the word "superb." It is most apparent that the board knows little of what is actually going on. They prefer to play in the Little League of politics while giving the town manager too much power, which power has gone to his head. This is only one of the reasons why our town is going down-hill fast.

A reform of town government is mandatory if we are going to retain our loyal town employees. Getting rid of the charter would be a good first step in the right direction.

Vincent G. Carroll
207 Highland Ave.

"differences" arose between the comptroller and the selectmen.

On several occasions during the charter drafting the commissioners discussed the relative positions of the manager and comptroller and emphatically concluded that both officers be of equal status, separate in their jurisdiction and subject only to the law and the board of selectmen.

The charter made several changes in our form of government but neither the drafters, those who supported it, nor the townspeople who approved it could envision the travesty we now witness.

Our comptroller is well noted for his perspicacity and integrity. I believe he would find it impossible to perform his statutory duties with anything less than total compliance. This is what makes Winchester different than most other communities...following prescribed procedures.

The Charter has been blamed for many things that have not worked well, but the taxpayers should understand that it's the administrators that are not working well...the charter does not mandate nor does it call for the law and proper procedures be scrapped for a "new system" of managerial dictatorship...and the philosophy of "if you don't like it, you can leave."

Do the selectmen and the manager believe that with a "new system" the town will function as other communities do, (perhaps as Revere, where the purchasing agent has recently been convicted and sentenced to jail for violations of the public bidding laws), do we really want to scrap the system of checks and balances that has served us so well and given us a reputation for careful management of our municipal finances?

The effect of this resignation can do just that, effectively put the responsibility for approval of invoices in the same personage of he who authorizes the acquisition and certifies the delivery. This was never the intention of the Charter Commission.

Beyond the call

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

We would like to take this opportunity to thank the Winchester Fire Department, police, the merchants and workers in the center, and the many townspeople who all pitched in to help at our unfortunate fire on Sunday, Oct. 23.

In our opinion the Winchester Fire Department has the most dedicated crew possible. They worked above and beyond the call of duty to try to save our shop and stock.

We love Winchester and hope to set up a temporary location in the center until our shop is rebuilt.

Again, thank you for your overwhelming response. You should be proud of yourselves and your town.

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Our comptroller has resigned, apparently due to "differences of opinion as to administrative procedures." The public is not aware whether the differences are between the comptroller and the manager or the comptroller and the board of selectmen.

The manager, in a common response, states "it's a matter of working out a new system." The Town of Winchester doesn't need a "new system" where its accounting procedures are concerned. The current system conforms to statute and any change, any "new system" would have to be approved by town meeting action to revise the charter.

Since the charter specifically states that the comptroller shall not be subject to the control of the manager we can assume the

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

On Oct. 25, we had a kitchen fire that was contained before spreading to the entire house. This note is to express our appreciation to the Winchester Fire Department for the expeditious, professional and courteous manner in which they performed their duties.

It is reassuring to know that we in Winchester have such excellent fire protection services.

Again many thanks,

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The Winchester Star announced that there would be a public hearing on water at the Town Hall on Oct. 26. The meeting was attended by the town manager — selectmen — board of health — water department — two state officials and only five concerned citizens.

The main purpose of the meeting was to find out why the public drank contaminated water for a week before being told to boil their water. Why was the Winchester Hospital warned of the problem while the citizens were not was another point in question. The communication gap between the Water Department and the Board of Health was discussed and resolved that it would not happen again. The state officials explained that the late warning was not because of neglect but due to the time it took for testing, and trying to locate the source, but when the problem became acute and more widespread, the boiled warning was issued.

When the problem was traced to the storage stand pipe, it was shut down, drained and inspected. Nothing was found except the usual sludge build-up which is caused by our unfiltered water system.

I attended the meeting to point out that the water test made every seven days is not sufficient. A bacteria build-up can start soon after a test is made plus a few days for verifying the problem and most people could be drinking contaminated water for a week or more before being warned.

Most towns test their drinking water every day so why not us? In the past, there has not been enough chlorine residual in the distribution system. Since the water crises, the chlorine has been doubled and yet there is still a very low reading at the homes near the end of the lines. Mr. Tom McLaughlin of the State EQE office said that a chlorine residual of 25 must be maintained at the end of the lines to give adequate protection to those homes. The amount of chlorine added to the water at the storage tank should be governed by this 25 residual at the end of the long runs and not at the beginning. The chlorine is made up much faster when the water mains aren't cleaned. It is unfortunate that the water conservation is important but frequent hydrant flushing is much more important to remove the sludge build-up and pipe corrosion which acts as a breeding bed for micro-organisms.

The State did make a chloroform test of the Winchester Water Supply last year and the results will be available soon. Another chloroform test should be made for two good reasons.

1. The fall of the year is when natural organic compounds in water are at their highest levels. These compounds by themselves are harmless but when the chlorine is added, these compounds become dangerous.

2. The chloroform test was made when the chlorine amount was lower. We have recently doubled the amount of chlorine which will make the last test inaccurate.

Mr. Tom McLaughlin stated at the meeting that in the next 10 or 15 years, Winchester will have to build a new water treatment plant. He said our present system is not considered water treatment. All you are doing is adding chlorine to disinfect the water. Nothing is being removed. Water treatment is filtering with sand and carbon that will remove impurities and organic compounds in water. He said that our small reservoirs are subject to all kinds of dangers which will need improvements in time.

I can't see any advantage to wait until inflation will double the cost of a water treatment plant and why should we wait so long to enjoy clean water with more protection. The choice is clear — we either make improvements soon or wait for the next generation to do what we should be doing now.

The upcoming town meeting on Nov. 7 has an article dealing with committees. Someone should make a motion to form a committee to check into our present water system and look into the installation of a water treatment plant. The cost of a filtration system should be estimated and also how much it would cost the consumer on a monthly basis for cleaner and safer drinking water.

Remember that our health hazards are from three sources of pollution, air, food and water. By improving the quality of our tap water, we can improve on one of these important sources of pollution and improve health. There is no price tag for good health, so why postpone this important advancement for better water quality?

Maurice J. DiBlasi
8 Socrates way

Editor's note: McLaughlin is an assistant commissioner with the State Department of Environmental Quality Engineering. He told The Star Tuesday that a water treatment plant may well be in Winchester's future — though it may be 15, 25, even 40 years hence. He said the need for such a plant may come as a result of pressures to use the land now serving as the watershed for the reservoir and from pressures to use the reservoir itself as a recreational area.

As for the action taken by the town and the state after the bacterial contamination in September, McLaughlin said, "We and the town took adequate action to protect the consumers." He added that he felt the weekly testing by the town is "adequate." He recommended adding the outlets from the North and South Standpipes to the weekly list of checkpoints.

Capital planning

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Elsewhere in this week's Star will be seen an official solicitation of input to the town's capital planning process. This letter will serve to reinforce and augment that official notice, by extending a warm invitation to any and every person, group and organization who has in mind a capital project that might provide new, improved or expanded facilities for the benefit of Winchester's residents.

If you know of a potential capital project that you think deserves consideration, the only way to ensure that consideration is to prepare and submit the necessary information, via an appropriate form available at the town manager's office. We'll take it from there.

If I can personally render any assistance or advice, please feel free to call (729-1351).

(Note: to avoid future disappointment, please remember that your suggestions will be thoroughly and thoughtfully considered, but we cannot guarantee that they will appear in the finally-developed capital program.)

This is far from being fair and I just hope you men in high places who have your insurance paid by the U.S. government will surely vote for health insurance when it comes up next, for our low paid men at least. This country is very lax in its care for our people.

Fun fair

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

On Oct. 22 the Muraco School enrichment committee held a fun fair. We owe the tremendous success of our fair to parents and children of the Muraco School who donated their time.

We are, however, extremely grateful to our local merchants for their generous cooperation and support in making our fair the success it was for our children.

We wish to mention Mahoney's, O'Neil's Pharmacy, Winchester Drug, Craddock's, McCormack's, Aberjona, Pampered Pet, Knights of Columbus, Dunkin' Donuts, Marshall Meat, Randall's, and Winchester Savings.

I would like to thank everyone for the flowers, gifts, and cards they sent to me while I was in the hospital. They really cheered up my day, just knowing I had so many people pulling for me.

I would like to send a special thanks to everyone at the Winchester Nursing Home, for their concern for me, and thoughtfulness. Thanks also to those who donated the blood I needed.

Thank you all from the bottom of my heart. Words will never be able to express what you did to make my stay at the hospital more comfortable.

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Recently, the men from the water department were working on a water pipe renewal project at my home. I would like to publicly thank the field supervisor, Mr. Olivodoti, and his men for the exemplary job they have done.

Under cold, rainy weather conditions and great difficulties imposed by the terrain here, they worked conscientiously and efficiently. During the digging and subsequent backfilling operation, they took great care to minimize any damage to the landscaping.

Throughout, their cooperation and courtesy has been outstanding. Winchester is indeed fortunate to have such dedicated men in its employ.

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The nurses at Middlesex County Hospital feel that it is time for us to state our position on the current proceedings regarding the possible closing of the hospital. After careful consideration of the issues involved, we strongly feel that the points in favor of keeping this facility, not only open, but growing, are numerous and important.

The hospital, formally a Tuberculosis Sanatorium, expanded into a multi-level facility in 1970. Opening five, 22-bed units for the care of chronic and terminally ill patients of Middlesex County, while still maintaining a large tuberculosis out patient clinic and one tuberculosis in-patient unit. There are still between 600 and 800 new cases of tuberculosis in Mass. each year and Middlesex County Hospital is the only facility in Mass. treating this disease.

The hospital has a fine reputation for giving high quality care to the patients, and it has been proven that it can run efficiently "in the black" without extra cost to the cities and towns in Middlesex County.

If we can believe the media, and other reports, there is a critical shortage of nursing home beds for the level one, and chronic type patients. Local hospitals are overcrowded having crucial problems placing seriously ill chronic patients in adequate, dependable facilities.

Why close an excellent local chronic care hospital, where this care can be so beautifully provided? A large percent of our patients are direct referrals from the local hospitals (Mt. Auburn, Waltham, Cambridge City, Newton Wellesley, M.G.H.) and many others.

It would be tragic to move the seriously ill patients at Middlesex to large understaffed state institutions or inadequate nursing homes. One only has to see patients cruelly twisted with contractures, and tortured with painful bedsores to realize, what inadequate care can mean.

Most of our patients are local people from surrounding cities and towns. Loved ones and friends can easily visit them, giving all the care and support, so vital for ill and dying patients, we doubt if many of our patients would even survive a move to other facilities.

The buildings at Middlesex are in good repair and the grounds are beautiful. There is room for expansion. The hospital employs 525 local people, many of whom have been employed here for years.

It is a full service hospital having its own lab, X-Ray dept., pharmacy, inhalation therapy, social service, physical and occupational therapy, speech pathology, in-service training, central supply, maintenance, business offices, and security, all of which is included in our one low daily rate.

Patients do not have to be sent "out" for expensive tests and treatments the hospital has eight physicians in twenty four hour attendance and of course a staff of RN's, LPN's, and nursing assistants, all devoted to total care of our 150-200 patients.

Surely some of the monies from county and state can be spent on citizens, who through no fault of their own, have become old and ill. They were once as vital and productive as we are and helped build our cities and towns. Surely they deserve your utmost support and consideration now.

Gov. Michael Dukakis holds the floor at recent fund-raiser held for Sen. Samuel Rotondi, left, who represents Winchester in the Massachusetts Senate. More than 1300 friends, colleagues and state officials attended the event, held at Montvale Plaza Oct. 13 in Stoneham.

Friends, officials gather for Sen. Rotondi fundraiser

More than 1300 friends of Sen. Samuel Rotondi gathered Oct. 13 at the Montvale Plaza in Stoneham to take part in a gala mid-term fundraising event.

Practically all state constitutional officials were present at Senator Rotondi's reception, including Gov. Michael Dukakis, Lt. Gov. Thomas O'Neill III, State Secretary Paul Guzzi, State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane, and State Auditor Thaddeus Buzko.

Senator Rotondi's family was present in large numbers and were asked to stand and be recognized by the Senator.

Senator Rotondi, with his wife Diane, introduced the numerous senators and representatives, who joined Sen. Rotondi from all over the Commonwealth.

In addition to Sen. Bulger, members of the Senate present included: Walter J. Boverini of Lynn, John A. Brennan Jr. of Malden, Frank Mastrocola of Everett, Robert Hall of Fitchburg, Allan McKinnon of Weymouth, Sharon Pollard of Methuen, Alan Sisitsky of Springfield and Stanley Zarod.

Several members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives also in attendance were: Reps. Nicholas Paleologos of Woburn, William Shaughnessy of Woburn, Eleanor Campbasso of Arlington, Lincoln P. Cole Jr. of Lexington, Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr. of Winchester, Angelo Marotta of Medford, Al Minihan Jr. of Wakefield, Paul Means of Stoneham and Kevin Burke of Beverly.

Ms. Gail Tuzzolo of Woburn was the hostess for the huge gathering introducing the various luminaries present for the festive occasion.

Henry Knowlton, former Winchester athletic director, surprised the governor when he came to the microphone to greet his long time associate.

The distinguished Winchester sports figure and friend to many of those present served as Dukakis' camp counselor in the early days of the Brookline young man long before he entered state political life.

Sen. Rotondi expressed his gratitude for the outpouring of senators and representatives from all over the Commonwealth. "The great number of friends who have come to this hall tonight make me feel, first, the importance of my job in the Senate, as well as the positive attitude the people of the district share about my performance in the State House," said Rotondi.

He added, "We have had some difficult decisions, many no-win situations, but I have voted my conscience after full investigation of the issues."

Sen. Rotondi concluded his brief comments by thanking all present, and indicated he would continue to strive for excellence on behalf of his constituents in the district.

Theater review...

Impressions of 'Madwoman'

By Carlene Samoiloff

"The Madwoman of Chaillot" came to the stage of the Winchester High School last Friday and Saturday evenings, bringing a glimpse of earlier days in Paris and the lovely work and human insight of French Playwright Jean Giraudoux.

In a way, the social comment and delightful satire of this play should be seen more often. The Curtain and Cue Society and the English department at the high school should be congratulated for choosing to do it.

The audience this weekend was most enthusiastic, and a cast of more than 30 dedicated young persons, 21 of whom were males, gave proof that acting and the vehicle of the theater serve as excellent outlets for teamwork, self-expression, and a way of being important to one's self and one's school.

Countess Aurelia, the Madwoman of Chaillot, played by Gina Alfano, was not so mad that she couldn't inspire warm friends and loyalty. Her helper, the Rag Picker, played by Robert Hallisey, added stature to the cast.

One of the most convincing and delightful scenes comes in the second act, when the countless argues with her three companions —

Madame Josephine (Louise Cabour), Mme. Gabrielle (Carolyn Neipris), and Mme. Constance (Stephanie Schwartzman,) who made a mark in "Fiddler on the Roof" at McCall last year). The women argue about Mme. Constance's little dog, when she says at last, "Oh well, it doesn't matter — I didn't bring him with me, anyway."

Sarah Downs as the Street Singer and Julia Gittleman as the Flower Girl were charmingly human, though perhaps too briefly on stage.

Costumes were delightfully appropriate to the setting and characters, and the stage work was done smoothly and with good taste.

The director, Hestor Keller, received an enthusiastic demonstration of affection from the cast and the audience after the performances. Sue Perra served as assistant director, Linda Cicciariello as technical advisor.

May the town and parents support more of these growing productions in high school and junior high alike — they may be grooming potential artists.

(It would be fun and interesting to see a bit of "Madwoman" spoken and played by the French classes, even just for the class.)

Ideas sought on capital improvement

The town manager and the capital improvements planning committee are inviting proposals for capital improvement projects from town departments and agencies and also from organizations in the community and interested residents.

The manager and the capital improvement planning committee are currently preparing the 1979-84 Capital Improvement Program, a six-year plan of projects and spending of a capital nature. The chairman of the capital improvements planning committee, James B. L. Lane, and Groux recently distributed forms to all town agencies and departments requesting information on projects. Both the committee and the manager will be reviewing these proposals during the next few weeks. The first Capital Improvement Program issued last year will be up-dated and projects listed in last year's six-year program will be analyzed to determine whether those projects should continue to appear in the capital program and new projects will be given consideration for incorporation into the six-year plan.

Any organizations in the community who wish to bring projects to the attention of the committee or the town manager may obtain forms for this purpose from the town manager's office. The various departments, agencies and organizations are being asked to submit their proposals no later than November 18.

Fresh water takes second thoughts

This is the third in a series of articles about Winchester's water system. It deals with water treatment and the Safe Drinking Water Act of 1974. The two previous articles, printed in the Oct. 13 and 20 issues of The Star, discussed the history and present state of the system.

The act of getting a fresh drink of water has come a long way since the days when the first residents of Winchester built their farms, dug their wells, and settled down to the pastoral life.

With the growth of the population and eventual incorporation of the town, access to water shifted from the private domain of the self-sufficient farm to the public domain of the municipal water works.

As a public utility, water has come more directly under the control of state and federal laws. The most recent of these laws is the Safe Drinking Water Act of 1974, which went into effect June 24 of this year. This law, which for the first time sets national standards for drinking water quality, has some profound — and possibly expensive — implications for the future.

But even more telling is what the mere existence of the law says about the present.

The first settlers here — and the Indians before them — pulled their water out of the ground or took a drink from a stream with nary a second thought. Today, second thoughts are written into the law.

The Safe Drinking Water Act requires that water supplies be checked regularly for a wide variety of conditions and contaminants, including:

—Coliform bacteria (e. coli). Bacteria is not necessarily harmful; some forms are in fact beneficial, playing important roles within the human metabolism. But the presence of any bacteria in the water means that other, more harmful bacteria and viruses can survive in the water. Hence, bacteria is used as a signal to indicate that the water might not be safe to drink.

The law establishes the number and frequency of samples which must be tested according to population served by the water system. Winchester takes seven samples once a week from seven locations. Since the test sites should be accessible 24 hours a day, most of the sites are public places — the West Side Fire Station, schools, town buildings, Winchester Hospital, etc. An additional two samples per month are taken, making a total of 30 water samples taken each month.

The samples are tested at the Metropolitan District Commission's (MDC) laboratory in Somerville. The samples are incubated over a 20-hour period, and a count of the bacteria per 100 milliliters.

The maximum contaminant level acceptable under the law is an average of one colony of bacteria per 100 ml for all samples taken each month and no more than four colonies in any one sample. When contamination exceeds these levels, repeated tests must be taken at the affected sites until two consecutive samples show a count of less than one per 100 ml.

The North Reservoir from Reservoir road. The watershed around the reservoir is off limits to the public. However, increasing use of the land for recreational purposes and the possibility of vandalism to the water treatment system have forced the town to propose fencing off the entire watershed. (Staff photo)

—Turbidity (the degree to which sediments are stirred up, making water cloudy or muddy). A high level of turbidity can interfere with disinfection and with testing for bacteria; excessive turbidity can therefore allow disease-causing organisms to survive.

Testing for turbidity is done daily at the town water department. Samples come from the water sources — the reservoirs located in the Middlesex Fells. Maximum levels are set by the law.

—Inorganic chemicals. The law sets maximum contaminant levels for 10 such chemicals and requires that surface waters be tested at least once a year.

The ten chemicals are: Arsenic, Barium, Cadmium, Chromium, Lead, Mercury, Nitrate (as N), Selenium, Silver, and Fluoride.

All of these chemicals are found to some degree in our natural environment; they may reach higher-than-normal levels as a result of man-made pollution, be it from factories, pesticides, pipe systems, automobile exhaust, and other sources of pollution. Some of the chemicals are known to be dangerous at too high levels, while others are seen as potentially dangerous.

As with bacteria (and turbidity), the law lays out procedures to be followed by the supplier in the event that maximum levels are exceeded.

—Organic chemicals. Maximum levels have been set for six such chemicals most commonly associated with pesticides. A test for the chemicals must be taken from the surface water sources by next June, 1980 and at least once every four years thereafter.

—Radioactivity. Testing procedures are laid out for both natural and man-made radioactive substances. The water sources must be analyzed once before June, 1980 and at least once every four years thereafter.

In addition to the required testing under the Safe Drinking Water Act, regular tests are made for sediment, color, odor, pH, hardness, and such common elements as calcium, magnesium, sodium, phosphate, potassium, iron, manganese, silica, sulfate, chloride, copper, and different forms of nitrogen.

The law does not put any limit on testing. Some towns are following the requirements closely; others have already gone beyond those requirements. For example, Lexington takes 20-25 samples a month, about five per week, all taken on the same day, and they test for bacteria only; the chemical analysis is done three or four times a year, according to Director of Public Health George Smith. Woburn, however, tests every day for everything according to their water department.

The annual report on the town water supply describes the water used in Winchester as follows:

"The quality of the water from the three reservoirs is typical of New England surface water supplies. The water is soft, colorless, with a very low iron content and a pH value of 6.7-6.9. Like nearly all New England England surface water, it is highly corrosive to metals."

(pH is the relative degree of acidity or alkalinity of the water. Ph 7.0, on a 0-14 scale, is considered neutral. A test at the hydrant leading into the South Standpipe taken Sept. 29 revealed a pH of 7.1.)

"The MDC water, which serves the West High system originates from the Quabbin and Wachusett Reservoirs. The quality of the MDC water at its source is almost identical with the quality of Winchester water."

Winchester's water is treated with several chemicals. The water report describes the treatment as follows:

Winchester's water is treated with several chemicals. The water report describes the treatment as follows:

"It is necessary to treat the raw water in the reservoirs with copper sulfate to prevent abnormal growths of algae, which contribute to unpleasant tastes and odors in the water."

"Sodium Hypochlorite is introduced as the water enters the system to control pollution and bacteria in the East High and Low systems."

"Sodium Hexametaphosphate is injected into the East High and Low systems as an anti-corrosive agent and to minimize any 'red' water troubles."

"The West High system is chlorinated by the MDC, however. Sodium Hydroxide is injected to increase the Ph as an anti-corrosive agent."

"Sodium Fluoride is injected into all three systems to minimize tooth decay."

Chlorine is the principal disinfectant used to kill off bacteria in the water system. To a point, the chemical is absorbed in the water; a residual level of chlorine means that bacteria cannot survive in the water.

Prior to the bacterial contamination discovered in September, the chlorine content was kept at about .5 parts-per-million. During the contamination, the level was raised as high as 2.1 ppm; this accounts for the chlorine smell and taste experienced by many residents at the time. The level has since been dropped to about 1.0 ppm.

In addition to setting out maximum contaminant levels and testing procedures, the Safe Drinking Water Act also outlines procedures for public notification in the event of a contamination. The law states:

"If supplier (in Winchester's case, the DPW) fails to meet an applicable maximum contaminant level, the supplier... shall notify the public—

"1. Within seven days of learning of the failure by delivery of a notice to radio and television stations serving the area;

"2. Within 14 days of learning of the failure, by publication in a newspaper with general circulation in the area served by the system for three consecutive days" or for three weeks in a weekly newspaper and by posting notices in post offices. The law also describes the notices:

"Notices shall be written in a manner designed to fully inform the persons served by the system, and shall disclose all material facts regarding the subject including the nature of the problem, and, where appropriate, shall include a clear statement that a primary drinking water regulation has been violated and shall describe any measure that should be taken by the public. Notices may include an explanation of the significance or seriousness to public health and a fair explanation of steps taken to correct the public health and a fair explanation of steps taken to correct the problems."

If the situation calls for more immediate action, the state may provide the public notice or order the local supplier to do so, according to the law.

The fiscal implications of the law are already being felt. The town used a federal CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) grant of approximately $100,000 to hire a crew to clear out undergrowth around the reservoirs, repair the roads, and clean out the ditches and natural depressions which funnel the water into the reservoir.

More testing is also going on. Prior to the law, four samples per month tested for bacteria; now 30 samples a month must be tested. According to DPW Director Walter Tomasuck, the state may recommend that the town increase the number of sampling points from the present seven.

The town water department is doing daily testing in its own lab for turbidity, residual chlorine, and fluoride levels. A turbidity meter was purchased just this year to satisfy requirements of the law. Tests are also made at the North and South Standpipes and the raw reservoirs once a month.

In addition, the reservoirs themselves are extremely vulnerable to contamination, either through vandalism or inappropriate use of the area. At present the reservoirs and surrounding watershed are off limits to the public; but the land is still physically open. To increase security will cost money. In the annual water report, Town Manager Thomas Groux recommended that the entire watershed be fenced and that the treatment stations be enclosed.

In addition to occasional anonymous callers threatening to contaminate the system, vandals have been at work around the reservoirs in past years.

The water report recalls: "In February, 1972 the South Treatment Station was vandalized. A steel door was forced and chemical treatment feeders, plus the entire system of piping, etc., was smashed and the chemicals were dumped into a pit at the station."

"This act of vandalism cost the town some $6000...and put the South Reservoir out of service for four weeks."

Some persons speculate that the contamination of the South Standpipe in September may have been caused by vandals as well.

Groux also reported he would seek about $20,000 in the fiscal 1979 budget to hire a consulting firm to come in and examine the entire system and report on deficiencies. An additional $30,000 will be requested to finance the recommendations arising from the study.

Finally, the standards which went into effect in June are only preliminary. Standards for the future will probably be stricter, and continuing research into the effects of various chemicals, and how those chemicals interact in the water supply, may lead to more stringent testing requirements.

Still to come: What they test for, why they test for it, and how much of it is ok to drink.

Parents hold teachers' sherry at Parkhurst

The Parkhurst Parents Association annual teachers' sherry was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carpenter of Arlington Street to express appreciation to the staff of the school. Hors d'oeuvres and a champagne punch were served to the teachers, to Andrew Allan, principal, and to parents.

Antique art, collecting topic of Wellesley forum

Only an illusion, an idea based on fragments, in this instance artfully crafted furniture from 17th and 18th century New England, was the emphasis of a look at the past with Jonathan Fairbanks at the recent American Arts Forum sponsored by the Winchester Wellesley Club.

Mr. Fairbanks, curator of the recently-formed American Decorative Arts Department at the Museum of Fine Arts, noted that the Americans of that era loved fashion and decoration and were extremely fond of displaying their wealth in their homes and dress, contrary to twentieth century ideas of Puritan simplicity. The past is never seen without prejudice and he invited the audience to become aware of human vanity and a civilized love of art and beauty that is common to most ages of history.

After luncheon a leisurely stroll through the "shop" of Americana, Caron Le Brun Danikian described the many ways art and collecting can be pursued by contemporary Americans. There are galleries in Boston and the suburbs where one can see and shop and learn about the enormous variety of media, styles and products of present day artists. Education can be gained by visiting museums historical reproductions and authentic houses in New England. The collector can spend modest or grand sums to own and enjoy art in the home. Meeting the artists and dealers at galleries can be stimulating, delving into the art market can be provocative and profitable. Mrs. Danikian noted that what is on the walls of a home now tells her as much as in the past the display of a Chippendale tea table and Silver and China set gave a flattering image of 18th century genteel folk.

Peter K. Murphy, an American Foreign Service Officer from Winchester has recently returned to Washington following his assignment as American Consul in Nice, France and American Diplomatic Representative in the Principality of Monaco. Murphy is presently assigned as special assistant to the under secretary for consular affairs in the Department of State. Pictured above at a reception in their honor held in Monte Carlo are, from left to right, Mrs. Peter K. Murphy, Princess Grace of Monaco and Murphy.

Fire dept. busy with stove fire, clogged chimney

It was an active week for Winchester's firefighters.

On Tuesday at 4:36 p.m. police reported a house full of smoke at 20 Foxcroft rd. to the fire department. All apparatus responded. When firefighters arrived they found smoke on the first floor and in the basement.

The men climbed ladders to check the chimney of the house and discovered that it was clogged. After dislodging the clog, they used carbon dioxide on the first floor to free an incinerator door which was used as an outlet for trash. Smoke was cleared with two smoke ejectors.

Later that evening at 5:12 p.m., all apparatus responded to a house fire at 41 Brooks rd. When the crew arrived smoke was coming through the front door. They found fire in the kitchen area around the stove, including a cabinet and wall. The cabinet and inside and outside walls were removed to get at the fire.

The department believes that the fire started from cooking on the stove. Fire ignited the wood around the stove and was drawn into the wall partitions by the exhaust fan. Firefighters pumped for 15 minutes to extinguish the flames.

The crew was called out again that night at 9:41 to combat a fire at the Cross street railroad shelter. The bench, tires, rags, and debris inside the shelter were burning.

Automobile accidents, as well as fires kept the fire department busy this week. At 9:16 a.m. on Wednesday a car operated by D. O'Donnell overturned at Swanton and Main streets. The crew opened the hood of the car, disconnected the battery, and washed down the area of gasoline and oil.

That same day at 1:57 p.m., a car hit a school bus at Washington street and Kenwin road. The bus contained no passengers. Firefighters assisted the ambulance crew with two injured women, and stood by until the tow truck arrived.

Two cars collided at the intersection of Cambridge and Wildwood streets that evening at 5:17. The ambulance crew aided the injured.

Fortnightly plans auction Nov. 14th

The Fortnightly will hold their annual auction at 10:30 a.m. Nov. 14 at Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church. The public is invited.

Arrangements are under the direction of Mrs. Gerald F. Mosher and Mrs. Howard E. Chase Jr. A snack bar will open at 12:30 p.m.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. Dorothy Garniss will present a series of monologues. Having studied at Emerson College, Mrs. Garniss taught English and dramatics at Westbrook College in Portland as well as coached and acted in amateur theatricals for some time. Guests are welcome to attend.

Demonstration of consciousness raising Nov. 10th

Women of all ages are invited to a free public demonstration of consciousness raising, sponsored by the Winchester Chapter of NOW, Nov. 10, 8 p.m. at the Michelson Room of the Unitarian Church in Winchester Center.

In the consciousness raising (CR) program, small groups of women meet for 10-week sessions with trained leaders to discuss in a non-challenging format what women have in common. The women's awareness of their social conditioning is heightened, as is their understanding of their roles in life. During the meeting on Nov. 10, the basic philosophy and general rules of CR will be explained by Lorraine Cogan, coordinator of the CR Task Force, after which all will participate in a mini-demonstration of an introductory CR meeting. The purpose of this meeting is to provide participants with enough experience to determine whether they wish to sign up for a 10-week session beginning in late November.

Since CR is not a class, not a therapy session, nor a problem-solving group, no special education or previous experience are needed. All women from all walks of life are welcome to come to the meeting and to join a CR group, whether or not they are members of NOW.

To defray expenses, a minimal donation will be accepted at the door.

Sachems upset by Wakefield, 15-8

By Jon Kalman

The Winchester Sachems Football squad had a hard day Saturday, losing their first game of the season in an upset to Wakefield, 15-8.

The Warriors marred Winchester's perfect slate during a hard-fought battle, with Michael Faraggi, John D'Alessandro, and Davis Jacquard all turning in fine performances for the victors.

(Jacquard, 5'7", 119 pounds, was named star defensive player of the week by the Boston Globe.)

The Warriors' victory, their third straight, upped their record to 3-3-1, while the loss dropped Winchester to 6-1. The Sachems, ranked second in the Middlesex League behind the unbeaten Watertown squad, slipped two rungs in the state Division One polls to number six.

Wakefield won the coin toss, electing to receive, and Brian O'Connor, playing with an injured right ankle, lofted the ball to the Warrior 20 yard line. Michael Tecce returned the ball ten yards.

The Warriors picked up a quick first down as senior back Paul Jackson banged out 12 yards in two carries, but the Sachem defense held fast as co-captain John Della Grotte and Gerald DiBlasi combined for the next three tackles, forcing Wakefield to punt.

The ensuing kick by Pete Brown was fumbled by Sachem Dave Guarnaccia, but DiBlasi recovered for Winchester on the Sachem 32 yard line.

Winchester's offense ran into immediate problems when Mark O'Neil turned a pitchout on a quarterback option by Don Allard into an exciting 12-yard gain, only to have the play called back on a 15-yard offensive holding penalty.

The Sachems ran two unsuccessful plays — an overthrown pass attempt to O'Neil and a broken screen play which ended with Tom Murray being sacked for an eight-yard loss.

Junior Steve Smith, replacing the injured O'Connor as punter, was forced to kick from inside the end zone and booted a 40-yarder. The Warriors took possession on the Sachem 41.

Following a 12-yard run by Jackson, the Warrior offense was bottled up, with Della Grotte, Sam Bellino and Murray putting the pressure on.

On third down, Della Grotte and Murray just missed sacking Faraggi for a big loss. Faraggi's scrambling saved him from major losses three times that afternoon.

Brown was called to punt, and Anthony Davis fielded the ball for the Sachems, returning it seven yards to the Winchester 26.

Three plays later, QB Allard fumbled on a quarterback sneak, and Kevin Conroy recovered the loose ball for the Warriors on the Sachem 44 yard line.

The quarter ended with the score still 0-0 and the Wakefield team poised on the Sachem 30 yard line after gains by D'Alessandro and Faraggi.

The Warriors made good their threat and scored on a 10-yard pass by Faraggi to Brown after Faraggi spun 12 yards to the Sachem 10. The point after by Joseph Walsh was good to give Wakefield the 7-0 lead.

The Sachems mounted their first sustained drive, following Davis' 13-yard kickoff return to the Winchester 75. After a 65-yard march to the Warrior one, Allard capped the effort by punching over the top for the score.

The apparent extra point attempt turned into a two-point conversion as holder Allard and O'Connor faked the kick, and Allard fired a pass into the endzone to John MacPhee to give the Sachems their only lead of the game, 8-7.

The Sachem defense again held Wakefield as Davis bumped receiver Pete Brown, forcing a fumble which was recovered by Sachem Mark Barry.

With under two minutes remaining in the half, the Sachems took control and started to run out the clock. But after a first down run by Mark O'Neil, the Sachem offense stalled and Wakefield regained possession of the ball on loss of downs.

Wakefield came close to another score when with five seconds remaining, Mike Tecce broke out for 44 yards to the Sachem 10, where he was finally run out of bounds by Tobey Daley to end the half.

Wakefield's Tecce came back to pounce on an Allard fumble during Winchester's opening third quarter downs following a two yard kickoff return.

With the ball on their own 40 yard line, the Warriors' D'Alessandro raced 52 yards to the Sachem 12 before being tackled by David Rubin. But the Sachems could not contain Wakefield's runners, who scored six plays later on a Faraggi touchdown run. The two point conversion was completed, and Wakefield had their 15-8 lead.

Troy Johnson's kickoff was fumbled by Nick Fitzgerald, and the ball was recovered by Wakefield on the Winchester 33. The Sachem defensive line tightened up and staved off the Wakefield rally, aided by a 15-yard clipping penalty against the Warriors.

Walsh's punt for Wakefield was textbook perfect, rolling out of bounds on the Winchester five. The Sachems managed to move out to their 35, but the Wakefield defense stiffened and forced Winchester to punt. The kick went 35 yards and bounced out of bounds on the Wakefield 40 to end the quarter.

The fourth quarter turned into a fumble fest as the Sachems and Warriors each coughed up the ball, and an Allard pass was intercepted by Wakefield's James Crocker. The Sachems last try for a tie fell short, and time ran out... until the Melrose game this Saturday.

Quarterback Don Allard was held back by the Wakefield defense Saturday as the Sachems lost in an upset, 15-8. Here he eludes Belmont defensemen in Oct. 22 game. (Staff photo)

Sachems ranked sixth in division

The Winchester High School Sachems may have suffered a loss last week against Wakefield, but they are still in the running in the Division One Middlesex League competition.

The Mass. Secondary School Principals' Association rates all the schools in Division One on a weekly basis, and this week's rating finds the Sachems in sixth place with their 6-1-0 record. Last week the Sachems were number four. The only Middlesex League team ranked ahead of them is undefeated Watertown, who they meet Nov. 12 at home. This week's game is at Melrose at 2 p.m.

Couples a go-go

Last Saturday evening 21 people showed up to bowl. It was an exciting evening, particularly for Guy Pollino who bowled the high single, 208 and the high series of 554. Tom Vangell bowled a 194 single and Vi Vangell bowled the high women's game of 168.

Kathy Pawlak deserves honorable mention for bowling 78 pins over her average. The "Rolls" team leads in team points thanks to the fine bowling of Isabel Hart, Bob Harris, Kathy Pawlak, Whitey Allan and Vi Vangell.

The hosts after bowling were Bob and Kathy Pawlak.

Early Birds bowling

The Starlings in the Winchester Early Birds bowling league have maintained their first place position. Team members are Elaine Binding, Joan Kelly and Marilyn Kelly.

The Doves are in second place. Team members are Mary Jane Brooks, Jo Vacca and Mary Sullivan. The Doves also captured the high team total this week of 1191.

The Pheasants are in third place. Team members are Heather Bass, Diana Couture and Rose Ann Pasquariello.

The high team single game of 435 was earned by the Larks. Team members are Pat Dean, Maria Nicolai and Debbie LaCascia. Rose Bezzian captured the high individual single game of 172 and also the high individual three games of 462.

New bowlers are welcome and should contact Diana Couture, 21 Old Colony rd., Arlington.

Pop Warner A team loses close contest to Wakefield

In a hard-fought, hard-hitting contest, Wakefield's Pop Warner A team came from behind in the closing minutes of the fourth quarter Sunday with an excellent kick return of approximately 70 yards to defeat Winchester 13 to 12.

Winchester opened the scoring early in the second quarter on a 40 yard run to Ted Guthrie. The conversion attempt failed. Winchester's defense, which was led by Bill MacMillan and Ted Guthrie, was tough throughout the entire first half, keeping Wakefield in their own territory most of the time. The half-time score was Winchester 6 Wakefield 0.

After receiving the ensuing kick, Winchester's offense, which was able to gain good yardage on the ground, was moving down field, but fumbled on Wakefield's 30 yard line to stall their drive. Wakefield scored their first touchdown on a well-executed off tackle isolation play.

Midway in the fourth quarter, Ted Guthrie going off tackle ran for 30 yards to the Wakefield four yard line to set up what appeared to be the winning score by Steve Costello. Once again, the conversion attempt failed. Winchester kicked off and Wakefield's Mike Gerace returned it 60 yards for the tying score. Gerace also ran the ball for the conversion which made the score Wakefield 13 Winchester 12. Winchester moved the ball down field to the thirty two yard line of Wakefield, but time ran out.

Coach Art Giannelli, who has had nothing but praise for this bunch of boys all season, was proud of the game Winchester played, and told the boys that they had nothing to be ashamed of in losing to an excellent Wakefield team. Some of the unsung heroes on offense: Greg Kirk, Pat Gill, Dave Farole, Jeff Tinkel, Joe Russo, and Jim Feeley; on defense: Joe Adelsberger, Tom Gibbons, Brian Guarnotta, Chris Wagstrom and Chris Rogers.

Next week the opponent for the A and B teams will be Woburn, a perennial power house in the Middlesex League. The game will be played at Knowlton Field with kick-off for the B game at 12:30 and A game at 2.

The A and B teams have been invited to participate in the post-season bowl game,

"Honor Bowl," to be played in Westport, Conn. on Sunday, Nov. 13. The teams will be departing from Winchester on Saturday, Nov. 12 and will be returning on Sunday at approximately 8 p.m. Parents and friends are invited to make the trip with the teams. Those who cannot make the trip are welcomed to come down and see the boys off.

WHS Band receives 'excellent' rating

The Winchester High School Marching Band received a Division II rating of excellent in Class C Oct. 23 in the marching show presentation sponsored by the Massachusetts Instrumental Conductor's Association at Cawley Stadium, University of Lowell.

(The Star reported last week that the band won first place in its division; in fact, they did not compete against the other bands this year, which marks their first trip to the show.)

The excellent rating was the highest rating received by a band in Class C.

A total of 18 bands performed before a large crowd for judges from Portsmouth High School, the University of Connecticut, and the University of Massachusetts.

According to members of the band, the WHS students gained a valuable educational experience from performing before a large crowd, observing other bands, and talking to students from other schools.

Pee Wee AA edges Newton 4-3

The Winchester Pee Wee AA's posted an exciting win, defeating Newton last Saturday at the Burlington Ice Palace. Led by Pat Falla's steady and solid goaltending, the Hawks turned in a balanced performance combining strong defensive and offensive play.

Jim Coppins opened the scoring at the 52-second mark of the first period, unloading a slap shot from the slot that eluded the screened Newton goaltender.

This early momentum continued as Coley Wilson outskated several Newton defenders and put a hard wrist shot in the upper corner to make it 2-0, Winchester. Ricky Parker and Paul Ferullo were credited with assists as their sharp passing set up the scoring effort. Both teams battled evenly during the remainder of the first period with Newton maintaining heavy pressure and narrowly missing several chances near the end of the period.

Despite the excellent playmaking of Paul Tucci, Mike Griffin and Steve Masiello, Newton was able to keep the Hawks from scoring during the second stanza and scored two of their own to set the stage for third period action.

Mike Griffin put the Hawks ahead at 1:10, breaking in after a good pass from Wilson and scoring on a strong backhand. Eight seconds later, Griffin scored again — an "instant replay" — after taking a pass from Steve Masiello to give the Hawks a two-goal lead.

Newton fought back to make the score 4-3, midway through the third period but the Hawk defense and Falla's heroic efforts turned away Newton's attempts to score late in the game.

Up-front, solid games were turned in by Sean O'Connor, Ricky Parker, Andy Guleserian, and Scott Binding whose back-checking was important in the Winchester win. Paul Tucci's good positional play and hard work in the corners deserve special recognition.

Defensively, the strong performances of Tim Donaghey, Danny Sullivan and Bobby Divencenzo, coupled with the good two-way play by Billy Eaton and Coley Wilson contributed to the victory.

David Boyle and Pat Falla shared duties in the goal, with David's good glove saves preventing Newton from scoring in several tight situations. Scrimmages are planned this week as the Hawks prepare for their next game against Waltham next Saturday at Burlington.

Swimmers have 4-3 record; relay team favored in EMass.

So far this season, the Winchester High School Girls' Swim team is ahead of the game with four wins and three losses.

The 200-yard medley relay team of Kathy Conley (back), Bitser Dexter (breast), Jackie Hart (butterfly), and Laurie Grant (freestyle) will be swimming in the Eastern Mass. Championships Nov. 12. The team is favored to be one of the top three in this event.

Back on Oct. 11, the girls came close to upsetting a powerful Andover team, and they have shown great progress in the ensuing weeks. The score was Andover 49, WHS 34.

The girls swam against an outstanding Marblehead team Oct. 18. Marblehead is made up of many AAU swimmers, and last year they broke the national record for the 200-yard medley relay. The Sachemettes couldn't come close to such a team.

The meet against Melrose on Oct. 26 was a close one, with the Sachemettes finally coming out on top, 45-36.

The meet wasn't decided until the last few events. The girls from WHS got off to a good start with a first in the 200-yard medley relay (with Conley, Dexter, Jackie Hart and Lisa MacDonald).

The 200-yard freestyle saw Beth Brickley and Margie Roll coming in second and fourth while Hart and Dexter took first and second in the 200 individual medley with a winning time of 2:34.1. MacDonald and Conley swam in second and third in a speedy 50-yard freestyle.

Divers Gaye Pollino and Stephanie Ruta placed second and fourth in the diving event. At the end of the diving, the score was tied 19-19.

Conley and Veronica Karp finished first and third in the 100-yard backstroke with a winning time of 1:18.0. Grant and Dexter swept the 100-yard breaststroke, taking first and second with a winning time of 1:15.0.

In the final event, Kathy Kerrigan, Lisa Melilli, Jeanne Cresse and Grant finished second in the 400-yard freestyle relay to make the final score 45-36, Winchester.

The girls confronted Greater Lawrence Oct. 20 and outswam them by a large margin, winning 98-12.

Are you well-fed but undernourished?

Many people are. Not because they don't eat enough food, but because the food they eat doesn't provide an adequate intake of important nutrients. Aside from endangering your health, inadequate nutrition can take its toll on your looks, showing up in dull, lifeless hair, weak nails, and a drab complexion.

The Nutralon Diet Analysis, by Redken, can help.

Through this unique new computer process, we can now analyze exactly what your intake of nutrients is and which ones you may need more of, according to the recommended daily allowance set up by the federal government.

All you do is keep track of what you eat for three days. The computer does the rest. And if you come up short here and there, we can tailor a Nutralon Food Supplement Program to your specific needs.

Beauty and nutrition go hand in hand. Now we can offer you both.

Soccer pummels Reading, 9-0, loses squeaker to Wakefield

It was a week of extremes for the boy's soccer team. They crushed Reading Oct. 26 in a 9-0 slaughter, but lost a heart-breaker to Wakefield Oct. 28, 1-0.

The Reading game lacked only one thing, that being competition for the Winchester team. They broke the game open for a 9-0 rout.

David McLaughlin (who had a field day with two goals and two assists) started off the scoring barrage by scoring unassisted on a corner kick early in the first quarter. It was the first of many.

George Casey (who also had a good day, two goals and one assist) tallied the second Sackem goal by putting it in on a corner kick from McLaughlin. Winchester continued to dominate as Jack Driscoll dribbled circles around the Reading defense and the Sackem defense had little trouble.

Bob Brosnan started off the second quarter taking a pass from Jim Kohr and placing a low hard drive in to make it 3-0, but they weren't nearly through. Robert Horne continued the scoring as he also scored from a pass by Charlie Mahoney.

The embarrassment continued as Charlie Mahoney scored unassisted as the goalie misjudged his shot. The second quarter ended at 6-0 when George Casey headed one just out of the reach of the goalie on a pass by McLaughlin and the first half ended.

From lack of something better to do, goalie John Waite came in to play center halfback. The scoring still didn't let up as McLaughlin scored one minute into the third quarter on a penalty kick from an illegal charge.

Soon after Winchester tallied another one as Skiffy Sizemore scored while the goalie was down on a pass from Brosnan. Ray Kenney finished off the scoring at 9-0, tipping in a pass from George Casey with one second left in the third quarter.

Unbelievably, the fourth quarter remained scoreless and it ended at 9-0.

It's too bad they couldn't save any of those goals for the first place Wakefield team as they lost a close one by a score of 1-0.

The play was equal throughout, with each team getting their chances. Wakefield got the break they needed in the second half as Winchester was charged with obstruction six feet in front of the net. Wakefield scored on the kick and that was all they needed as both teams couldn't score.

The final game of the season is against Woburn at home at 3:30 p.m.

Mites clobber Melrose 8-2

Winchester Mites, playing an early Saturday morning game at the Burlington Ice Palace, continued their winning ways with an 8-2 win over Melrose.

This win keeps the team in first place and sets up a Friday night encounter with Stoneham, also undefeated in their division. This game will be played at the Burlington Ice Palace at 5:50 p.m.

Pete Regan scored his second goal unassisted after a rink-long rush two minutes into the second period. Greg Winn went to work and scored Winchester's fourth goal, also unassisted. Regan completed his hat trick with another unassisted goal.

Melrose responded with two goals in the period. Sukjong Chung opened with a goal 50 seconds into the third period. This was Chung's first goal in two seasons. The assist went to Greg Winn.

Winchester's seventh goal came on for the score. The final goal of the game came with 4:25 to play. Marc Todisco picked up a pass from David Butt and scored his first career goal.

Kevin Boyle made several good saves on Melrose shooters. Marc Falzano, Matt Quill, and Ted Dever also helped their team with good defensive effort.

Bantam AA beats Newton 5-3

The Winchester Bantam AA hockey team won its second league game Sunday at the Burlington Ice Palace, beating Newton 5 to 3.

Halfway through the first period Ned Fortin scored on a pass play from Fran Murray. Three minutes later John Boyle and Ned Fortin worked the puck around and set up Fran Murray for the second goal. Exactly two minutes later, Bill Ferro scored unassisted on Newton's goalie after a rink-long rush.

Newton responded in the second period by scoring two goals to make the score 3 to 2. The Winchester team went to work and Bill Ferro and Doug Ross combined one minute and eight seconds later, Ross getting the goal. Doug Ross also scored his team's fifth goal unassisted with 2:03 left in the second period.

Newton scored the only goal of the third period with 5:32 left in the game. Newton, in an attempt to tie the score, pulled their goalie with almost two minutes left to play in the game for a sixth skater.

Winchester's Bob Giarrizzo tended goal and kept the Newton team from scoring. Steve Marino, Brendan Nolan, John Ferullo, and Ed Ducharme played excellent defense. The back-checking of Tony Celli, Jeff Lavvy, Jeff Stackpole, and Paul White contained Newton's forwards.

The Bantam team deserved this win as they passed well and checked hard in an attempt to win the game on the return of their coach Dave Boyle, who had missed the past five games because of an operation.

Royal Family opens tonight at Unitarian

While Prince Charles has been visiting various cities in the United States, in the past few weeks, the Unitarian Players have been quietly arranging for the visit of an entire "Royal Family" to Winchester.

This particular "Royal Family" is named Cavendish, not Windsor, and the whole gaudy, flamboyant crew will appear on the stage of Metcalf Hall, Unitarian Church, Main street and Mystic Valley parkway at 8:15 tonight. To give everyone a chance to meet them, they will remain over two more days, appearing Friday and Saturday, at the same time and place.

"The Royal Family" is the creation of Pulitzer Prize winners George S. Kaufman and Edna Ferber. It is directed by Bob Storer and features a large and well known local cast. The setting for their "palace" has been designed by Roger Foskett. Royal costumes are by Carol Bortman, and the throne chamber has been furnished by Dot Roemer and Leslie Wilcox.

Tickets are available at the door each night. Reduced rates are in effect for students and senior citizens.

Children's Theatre fall performance is now in rehearsal

Rehearsals are underway for the fall production of the Winchester Community Theatre Inc.'s Children's Theatre. The performance will be held at the McCall Junior High School auditorium Nov. 18 at 3:30 p.m. and Nov. 19 and 20 at 2 p.m.

The production will include four segments, including the first all-dance performance by the Children's Theatre. The program will consist of an American Indian legend, and Armenian folk tale, a dance feature by Bartok for children, and a Russian fairy tale entitled, "Snow Maiden."

Tickets will be available at the door. For advance tickets and information, call 729-8744, 729-2585, or 729-9263.

At Epiphany

Young Woman's Club hosting alcohol panel

The Winchester Young Woman's Club will host the eighth district meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, junior division, on Monday at 8 p.m. at Hadley Hall Church of the Epiphany.

The topic for the meeting is "Alcoholism and Women," and Rose Capocello, public affairs chairman of Winchester, has brought together four eminent persons in the field of alcohol abuse as panelists.

William J. Hartigan of the Alcoholism Clinic at Mount Auburn Hospital has an extensive background in individual and group counseling with alcoholics, rehabilitation programs for alcoholics, and now has administrative and clinical responsibility for the out-patient alcoholism clinic, drinking driver program, and special project grant at Mount Auburn.

Bernard Malone, the Alcoholic Consultant for the New England Memorial Hospital, has spent 12 years studying and counseling alcoholics. He is a certified rehabilitation counselor. At New England Memorial he is responsible for the inpatient and outpatient substance abuse treatment program and provides supervision for the Information and Referral Center.

Elaine Leonard, a research analyst at the Eunice Kennedy Shriver Center in Waltham, is the coordinator of the Fetal Alcohol Syndrome Clinic at the Shriver Center. The syndrome is the configuration of abnormalities resulting from heavy alcohol consumption during pregnancy. The clinic follows pregnancies of this type and after the birth of the baby, the childhood development of fetal alcohol syndrome victims.

Jay Sea, the fourth panelist, is the director of the Fellsway Inn for Women in Medford. Florence Surratt, eighth district representative from Greenwood, will be chairman for the evening.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs recognizes alcohol abuse and alcoholism as a valid women's health issue, and offers this program Monday as part of their efforts to inform the public and aid the alcoholic woman.

Other clubs in the district that will be attending that night are the Greenwood Junior Women's Club, the Reading Junior Women's Club, and the Junior Old and New of Malden. Federation guests in attendance will be all the Massachusetts State Federation of Women Club Junior Division officers, including Director Marilyn Perry.

Interested guests are welcome to attend.

On Sunday afternoon, the family film program is held in the Story Hour Room of the Junior Library and will begin at 2. It is requested that at least one adult accompany each group of children. There will be a Tuesday afternoon film program for school age children at 3:30.

Family reading topic at Unit. Coop. Nursery

Mrs. Twitchell's topic will be "Reading: A Family Adventure" and will include a discussion of the child's world, family relationships and childhood imagination. Refreshments will be served.

Winchester dog owners are now subject to a 24-hour dog leash law. Fines for first offense are $10; second offense, $15; third offense, $20.

Kazanjan named to Masterworks

Jack Kazanjan, proprietor of Andrews Jewelers, has been named a member of the Masterworks Chorale. The selection was based on competitive auditions.

Kazanjan came to the United States in 1953 from Iran, where he began singing in church choirs as a child. He was educated at a French missionary school and at Alborz College, an American school in Teheran. He speaks six languages: Armenian, Persian, Turkish, Russian, French, and English. His son, Simon, was a violinist for three years with the Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestra.

Kazanjan is a former member of the Arlington-Belmont Chorale. This past summer, he participated in a concert tour of the British Isles as a member of a 36-voice chamber choir conducted by Allen Lannom, director also of the Masterworks Chorale.

Members of the Chorale are preparing music of Bach and Handel to be presented free of charge in a holiday concert on December 10 and 11. Rehearsals are simultaneously underway for the fifth annual Masterworks Festival of Music, spanning three Sundays in March. This year the festival spotlight is on celebrated composers of today.

2 Readers begin terms at Christian Science Church

Two newly elected Readers will be on the platform this Sunday at First Church of Christ Scientist, Richard L. Sampson of 8 Sheffield rd. and Mrs. Joan E. Friberg of 7 Penn rd. will be commencing their three-year terms of conducting Christian Science Church services.

They replace retiring Readers Clarence G. Feldmann and Mrs. Marlene F. Johnson. The two new Readers were elected from among the church membership at a meeting Oct. 3.

In all Christian Science churches, Readers must be members of their local branch and The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist in Boston. Many local churches, including Winchester, also provide that one who has already served a three-year term as Reader in any branch church is not eligible for election or re-election as Reader.

Since there is no ordained clergy in Christian Science churches, church functions are conducted entirely by local members. The Readers' primary duty is to read the Christian Science weekly lesson-sermon to the congregation on Sunday. This is a compilation of related references from the Bible and the denominational textbook pertaining to a specific subject and read alternately by the First and Second Readers.

During the week, the same references serve as a bible lesson studied daily by Christian Scientists throughout the world. Read at the Sunday service, it becomes the sermon and is combined with hymns, a solo.

A memorial service was held in Wilmington, Del. Oct. 20 and another in Winchester Oct. 22, at the Norris Funeral Home. Interment was in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

additional scriptural selections and prayer to constitute the service. The lesson-sermon subjects, 29 in all, range from "God" to "Is the Universe Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" They were chosen by Mary Baker Eddy, who is the author of the denomination's textbooks, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." Each subject is covered twice a year, each time with a different set of references.

The Wednesday evening meeting, conducted by the First Reader, includes a period when individual members of the congregation spontaneously give testimonies about their experiences in Christian Science healing. Readings from the Bible and the church's textbook are presented at this service also, but on a topic chosen by the Reader.

Vets invited to march in parade Friday

The Veterans' Day Committee extends to all Winchester Veterans an invitation to participate in the observance of Veterans' Day, Friday, Nov. 11.

Commanders Warren T. Bolivar of the Veterans' of Foreign Wars and William S. Stevenson of the American Legion welcome all veterans to participate. (Uniforms optional.)

Veterans are to meet at the Winchester Theatre parking lot at 10:30 a.m. to depart at 10:45 for the War Memorial at Main street and the Mystic Valley parkway. They will then proceed to the Honor Roll at the Town Hall and then return to the Winchester Theatre parking lot for dismissal.

Participating in the line of march will be members of the board of selectmen, Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr., members of the police and fire departments, and members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion. Members of the senior high school band will play taps at the War Memorial at the new Lincoln School and the Honor Roll.

Rev. Howard A. Krueger, Pastor of the First Baptist Church, will deliver the prayer and meditation at the Town Hall Honor Roll.

The Veterans' Day Committee hopes that this year's Veterans' Day program will be well attended by all Winchester veterans and townspeople.

Transfer station closed tomorrow

The Winchester Transfer Station will be closed all day tomorrow, Friday, Nov. 11 for the Veterans' Day holiday.

Long-range plans focus of meeting of school committee

The school committee will discuss long range plans and a report from the middle school study committee at a meeting at the Ambrose School this week.

The meeting will be held either Monday or Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., depending on whether or not town meeting completes its business tonight.

This is a regular school committee meeting and will include discussion of nursing services, no-school procedures, curriculum and business matters.

Crash victim in fair shape after accident Sunday

A Woburn man is listed in fair condition at Massachusetts General Hospital as of Wednesday morning after suffering injuries in a two car collision at 1:02 Sunday morning on South Border road.

Winchester Police and Fire personnel aided MDC Police at the scene at 556 South Border road. The Woburn man, Angelo Demarco, was taken to the Winchester Hospital emergency room and transferred to Mass. General the same night.

Two 17-year-olds, Joseph Mirra Jr. of Winchester and Michael McEwen of Arlington were also treated at Winchester and later released. Both were passengers in the second car, which was driven by William J. Sheehan of Melrose.

According to MDC Police, Sheehan went over the center line on the road and sideswiped Demarco's car. Sheehan was cited for operating to endanger.

School board adds $121,631 to budget

The Winchester School Committee voted Tuesday night to include $121,631 worth of "high priority" items in the 1978-79 school budget.

Approved in a list of highest priority items at the secondary level were:

- $960 to extend by two weeks the work year of the guidance department head.
- $10,436 to relieve the guidance department of its special education responsibilities, including core evaluations and individual counseling for special needs children. These tasks would be picked up by a separate counselor.

- $2,783 to reduce the teaching load of the data processor at the high school by one class.
- $13,915 to establish an Alternatives for Individual Development program (AID) for students with severe behavioral problems.

Also okayed as a top priority was expansion of the junior high school reading and writing program, now at Lynch, to include grades 7 and 8 at both Lynch and McCall. This may have no impact on the budget, and final approval is pending a favorable evaluation of the Lynch program in the spring.

The highest priority items at the elementary level voted into the budget by the board included:

- $8359 for clerk aides, with the net increase estimated at one-and-one-quarter positions.
- $43,136 to maintain a 22:1 pupil-teacher ratio in the primary graded (D-3).

- $7000 for vocal music instruction in the elementary schools.

A list of "high priority" (as opposed to "highest") items for the secondary schools included:

- $607 to add one week to the work year of the second assistant principal at the high school. This is to help him prepare for the adult education program.
- $6687 for the reinstatement of a clerk-aide at the high school.

- $8349 to maintain science classes at the high school at a 24:1 ratio. This request was made because of the relatively small size of the laboratory classrooms.
- $2783 to reduce the teaching load of the athletic director by one class.

- $2783 to add a course in music theory at the high school.

Items approved for systemwide were:

- $2000 for resource staff development (an approximate cost for in-service courses).
- $2500 for reimbursements to staff for damage to personal property while they are on the job.

- $9333 for a salary increase for teacher aides. This item has already been tagged against this year's budget, retroactive to Sept. 1.

Scrapped from the list of budget items for next year was $26,748 for adding four aides to the elementary school staff.

All of the items approved will come before the committee again as the regular process of hashing over the individual school budgets begins.

Said Committee member Constance Papas of Monday night's votes, "in no way are any of them (the items) cast in concrete."

Rep. Saltmarsh takes case to attorney general to halt odorous Woburn excavations Assistance from Attorney General Francis X. Belotti was sought last week by Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr. to prevent further excavation at the site on Commerce Way in Woburn where an industrial development is under construction.

The action was necessary, Saltmarsh explained, because noxious odors wafted their way to Winchester, causing residents great distress. Residents of Reading had complained about them for months and a petition with 130 names demanding relief was presented to the Woburn City Council last week.

The Woburn City Council responded by passing an order requesting City Solicitor James F. Lawton Jr. to seek a restraining order against the Mark Phillips Trust and executive William D'Annolfo.

Saltmarsh pointed out that the matter was no longer a local problem when three com-

Town meeting opens

Close vote defeats plans for $62,000 center study

Town meeting whisked through 10 of 21 articles on the warrant Monday night in the opening session of the annual fall town meeting.

By a 68-64 margin, the meeting rejected a bid under Article 2 to spend $62,000 to hire professional consultants to develop a plan for the revitalization of Winchester Center. The rejection of this plan, along with the dissolution of the Center Study Committee which had recommended the plan, marked the end of several years of efforts to come up with a plan to improve the business climate in the center.

The Center Study Committee turned in a 15-page report on the center to the meeting. The report outlined 13 "mechanisms for potential revitalization" ranging from establishing a public redevelopment authority to encouraging private investment through tax incentives.

The report concluded that a professional study was needed. The study proposal would have authorized the selectmen to choose a committee of at least five persons to oversee a detailed study of the center. The study and a resulting plan would have been undertaken by professional consultants at an approximate cost of $62,000. Study Committee Chairman Sam Perkins estimated the plan would have been back before town meeting by next year's fall session. This proposal had majority support from the board of selectmen, the finance committee, and the planning board.

"The town has been discussing the problems and possible solutions to the center for at least 10 years," reads the report. "It is now time for the town to take positive action by appropriating sufficient monies to undertake a comprehensive plan for the revitalization (development) of Winchester Center."

The report argued that outside consultants would offer objectivity in their views and would avoid any conflicts of interest which might arise if local persons were called upon to make the study.

Public hearing on government regs. Wed. at Town Hall

The Committee on Government Regulations is holding its first public hearing Wednesday at 7:30 in the Town Hall. Should that hearing be lengthy, it will be continued Thursday night at the same time and place.

Future meetings of the committee are scheduled for December 1 and another public hearing December 6. Both these events are planned for 7:30 in the Town Hall.

Dance Nov. 12 at Lincoln for high-schoolers

The Winchester Recreation Department and the student union will be co-sponsoring a dance Nov. 12 at the Lincoln School.

The dance will run from 8:11-30 p.m. and will be held for students in grades 10, 11, 12. Entertaining the students will be a group known to some Winchester students called Discotronics. The music will be a variety of music from Beatles to Frampton and a bit of disco.

The same rules and regulation will be held as in the past dance, which was run a few weeks ago.

"We have diddled and doodled for years," said Selectmen Chairman Barbara Hankins, "and the result is absolutely nothing has been done. If we want to do something, let's vote for the appropriation or nothing will be done for a long, long time in Winchester Center."

Supporting the appropriation, Finance Committee Chairman Alice Mirak argued that the plan would amount to a one-time addition of about 30 cents to the tax rate. She compared this to about 33 cents on the rate which has been lost through a $600,000 loss in property valuation from 1968-75.

Speaking for the planning board, which was unanimously in favor of the study committee's proposal, Otto E. Schaefer Jr. commented, "It is totally unrealistic to think something will happen in Winchester Center without a plan." Schaefer noted that Lexington and Arlington had undertaken similar ventures and said they now "have something to show for it."

Mrs. Mirak also pointed out that the town has a need for a master plan which would take into consideration future needs and possible land uses.

Leading off the opposition to the plan was FinCom member James T. Hintlian, who delivered a minority report from the FinCom. Though he praised the efforts of the Center Study Committee, he cautioned, "We don't want to see our fellow citizens and taxpayers led down the primrose path to fantasyland for the bargain price of $62,000."

Hintlian called the plan "another burden to already overburdened taxpayers" and declared, "Where will it lead us? Probably not one step further than we are now." He argued that the study committee's report was sufficient and that "it is private capital spent on private projects, monitored by the selectmen... that will eventually bring about the renaissance we need in the center."

Also speaking in opposition was town meeting member (TMM) Clarence Borggaard, who said: "The only reason we have a desert in the center of this town is that the climate of this town is unsuitable for business. We don't want any business that creates noise, dust, traffic, litter, and confusion; but can you tell me any business that doesn't create noise, traffic and confusion?"

"We have conditions so stringent, so antiseptic... that the climate is no good for business... If we make the conditions right then the problems will take care of themselves," continued Borggaard.

He pointed to the Winchester Savings Bank's project to renovate the old Winchester Theater on Main street and said, "The bank has already initiated the revitalization of the Meeting highlights

Reports show town's in 'solid' financial shape

Winchester "is in very solid financial condition."

So said Finance Committee Chairman Alice Mirak in her report to the opening session of the annual fall town meeting Monday night.

Chairman Mirak gave her report under Article of the 21-article fall warrant, in which the meeting hears and acts on the various reports from town committees. Also addressing the meeting under Article 1 were Selectmen Chairman Barbara Hankins, Phyllis Williams of the personnel board, David Mortensen from the committee on government regulations, and Harrison Chadwick from the committee on rules and regulations.

Finance Report
Expressing "optimism" about the town's financial progress, Mrs. Mirak said, "It is clear we have done some things right, at least on a relative basis." She pointed to several conditions which have helped the town financially, including:

- Winchester's receipts from the state on the "cherry sheet" were up 25 per cent this year, a $547,000 increase from last year to more than $2,750,000. She noted that increases statewide averaged only five per cent.

- Receipts for motor vehicle excise taxes were higher than expected this year.

- The total property valuation for the town, estimated at roughly $203,000,000, was actually closer to $204,000,000.

- The town received $204,000 more than anticipated in reversions from last year's accounts, including $266,000 from the school budget alone.

- About $56,000 was reverted back to the town from old accounts which were closed out by the selectmen. Of this amount, $35,000 came from the Palmer-Lake street project.

- On the negative side, Mrs. Mirak pointed out that Chapter 766 special education reimbursements from the state declined by about $373,000.

Comparing Winchester's condition to other towns in the Commonwealth, Chairman Mirak noted that while the tax rate in fiscal 1976 on an equalized basis, ranked the town eighth from the highest in the state, the fiscal 1977 rate placed Winchester 18th out of 300 towns.

("Equalizing" the tax rate means taking into account that Winchester's property is valued at about 60 per cent of its real market value. If valued at 100 per cent, the tax base would be greater, and a lower rate would be required to bring in the same amount of revenue brought in by the present rate at 60 per cent valuation.)

"The fact that we could hold our level for this year clearly indicates our relative position within the Commonwealth will improve this year," said Chairman Mirak, noting that early returns show an average 11 per cent rise in tax rates throughout the state. She also commented that what fiscal problems the town might have in trying to control the tax rate "have not directly affected the quality of services in the town."

Charter Changes
Speaking for the board of selectmen, Barbara Hankins reported on the status of the various administrative changes brought about by the new town charter.

She noted that in the past year, a department of public works has been established to consolidate numerous town agencies and boards; a new program budgeting system took over from the previous line item method; and a system of central purchasing for all items costing more than $500, was implemented.

Commenting on problems which arose during the organization of the new DPW, which went into effect July 1, Mrs. Hankins said, "Attempts have been made and con-

League to study future energy needs

The League of Women Voters of Winchester is holding units Nov. 15, 16, and 17 to study the problem of future energy needs. The questions discussed will focus on four critical areas:

How Much? Energy growth rate targets. What Shall We Use? Mixed sources between now and 2000 A.D. and after 2000 A.D. How Shall We Use It? Governmental policies and regulatory acts. Who Gets It? Intergovernmental relationships and regional interests.

The units are being presented by Jeanne Duffy, Janet Fredericks, Sandy Thompson, and Priscilla Baumann, chairman. They will be held Tuesday night at 7:45 at the home of Anna Baylies, 7 Harrison st., Leader Betty Small; Wednesday morning at 9:15 at the home of Judy Muggia, 14 Dartmouth st., Leader Marcia Wood (non-smoking); and Thursday morning at 9:15 at the home of Mary Alberts, 26 Seneca rd., Leader Margaretta Thomas. Dr. Curtin to give talk on breast cancer

An educational program on breast cancer will be held Nov. 15 at 8 p.m. at St. Mary's School Hall on Washington street. The event, sponsored by the Winchester Young Woman's Club, is free and open to the public.

Dr. F. Gregory Curtin will give a talk, followed by the showing of a film from the American Cancer Society entitled, "Breast Self-Examination."

After the talk and the film, there will be a formal question and answer session with Dr. Curtin. Later, during a refreshment period, Dr. Curtin will be available for informal discussion.

It is important to educate the public about breast cancer, says event chairwoman Eileen Reegan, because of the controversy surrounding the x-rays and surgical procedures involved in the treatment of the disease. She also notes that 94-95 per cent of all breast cancers are discovered by the women themselves.

The Young Woman's Club is a junior division of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Vandalism is topic for new program

Starting November 14, a program on vandalism will be presented to the elementary schools by the Winchester police.

By November 23, grades 4, 5 and 6 in all schools will have been given the pamphlet "What everyone should know about Vandalism," and shown a film, "The Club House." Enclosed in each pamphlet is a letter for the parents explaining the purpose of the program and asking for ideas and suggestions from families on how to combat vandalism and promote respect for others.

This is a joint project of CONCERN and Winchester-Interagency-Council funded by Rotary.

center." Borggaard suggested that allowing a liquor license for a restaurant in the center and making changes in the town's zoning by-laws would help make a more "suitable business climate."

The 68-64 vote was questioned, and despite the objections of several TMMs, another count was taken. The second vote came out 71-64 against the appropriation.

A second motion to appropriate $16,000 for a beautification program in the center, though abandoned by the Center Study Committee, was brought up by the selectmen.

"Given the defeat of motion number one (the $62,000 plan), the board of selectmen has taken the position that the very least that could be done is to undertake an effort to beautify the center," said Mrs. Hankins.

The town's Alice Mirak argued, however, that the proposal should be dealt with in the spring, either as part of the public works budget or as part of an overall capital plan.

The motion was defeated by a voice vote.

Through Article 5, the town meeting approved the appropriation of $50,450 for collective bargaining settlements. Of this sum, $7075 was for the personal services account for the school lunch program to compensate for additions in salaries, wages and benefits agreed to by the town and the Winchester School Food Service Association. Another $320 was added to the other expenses budget for the school lunch program.

The rest of the sum appropriated, $43,055, partially represents the cost of implementing the new firefighters contract, which was signed Oct. 24. The total cost is $56,055, and the $13,000 difference is to come from federal anti-recessionary funds.

These federal funds come under the Public Works Employment Act and have already been received by the town. Under Article 6, the town meeting voted to appropriate the $13,000 for the contract settlement.

At the urging of the selectmen and after an eloquent plea from local veteran John "Jake" Horn, the meeting voted to spend $5000 under Article 10 to construct an addition to the war memorial plaque located at Town Hall. The funds are primarily for the actual construction and will come from general surplus revenue.

Though she noted the project might appropriately be included in a total capital planning program, Chairman Hankins noted the cost of the project is "pretty small" and said, "We see no reason to delay to the annual spring town meeting the appropriation of these funds. . . We might even be able to finish the project by next Memorial Day."

Jake Horn told the meeting that the need for the addition to the memorial has existed for some time now and complained that the project has been put off year after year.

"Honor the people who served the town with honor, that's all I ask, that's all the veteran's groups are asking."

FinCom member James B.L. Lane said the project would best be considered within the context of a capital planning program. The FinCom recommended indefinite postponement of the project. However, the meeting voted it in with a voice vote.

By a 122-1 vote, the town meeting okayed the appropriation of $1795 from general surplus revenue under Article 7 for four accounts in which the bills exceed the original appropriations for the accounts. These include $283 for civil defense; $1419 for the public works complex; $25 for heating costs at Town Hall; and $68 for equipment for the board of selectmen.

Under Article 8, the meeting appropriated $1350 to pay for unpaid bills due the Boston Edison Company for lighting at the old Lincoln School. The amount is part of a settlement of the unpaid bills, which have been in dispute for several years. The charges were incurred during the Nov. 1973-Sept. 1975 period during which the school was passing from the jurisdiction of the school committee to the selectmen and in turn to the housing authority.

Edison is also trying to collect another $11,000 in interest charges on the unpaid bills. However the law since then has been altered to expand the payment period from 27 to 55 days before interest charges can be incurred; in addition, there are cases pending in court, according to Town Counsel Douglas Randall, which question the right of Boston Edison to charge the interest without prior approval by the state regulatory authority.

Chairmen Hankins and Mirak both recommended that the town not pay the $11,000. The vote to approve the $1350 was 124-1.

By another voice vote, the meeting approved an amendment to the building line on Cross street at the General Motors Plant that would allow the company to erect a security fence around the company's parking lot and property.

The move was recommended by selectmen because of complaints from neighbors that the parking lot was the focus of youth disturbances and vandalism. The approval would allow the company to put up a fence and a gate no more than six feet high but would not otherwise alter the building line code.

In other action Monday night, Articles 3 and 4 were indefinitely postponed. Article 3 proposed the waiving of the inspection fees for the Winchester Housing Authority. Article 4 was for money for the settlement of land damage suits; none of the pending ones have been settled yet.

★ Reports

There had been grumblings from employees within the department about the way the reorganization was handled. Mrs. Hankins noted that the selectmen held two public forums to discuss the problems. "Fewer than 25 per cent of the employees attended either forum," she said, "and only a handful spoke."

In partial explanation of the DPW problems, Chairman Hankins said, "It should be pointed out that many of the issues involved the interpretation of and consistent application of certain provisions of the contract agreed to by both the Town Employees Association and the town."

Central purchasing was implemented this summer. Mrs. Hankins conceded that, because the town does the bulk of its purchasing of goods and services during the summer, "in retrospect, that might not have been the best time to begin" with the new system. "With all of the problems that any new system is likely to generate, added to the fact that the books were being closed on the first year of operation under an entirely new budgeting system, the result probably should have been predictable," she said.

She said that "questions quite properly had been raised about certain contracts by the comptroller." (The comptroller at that time was James J. Costello, who has since resigned.)

Steps were taken in August, according to Mrs. Hankins, to alleviate the problems and expedite the paying of bills owed by the town under those contracts. The number of bills yet to be paid, said Mrs. Hankins, "has been

Members of the Waterfield Consort, lead by Allen C. Hill, play viols, recorders, lute, krumphorns, transverse flute, psaltery, gittern, rebec and vielle and sino. reduced to a handful." She said the remaining unpaid bills would be taken care of within the next two weeks.

As for the resignation of Comptroller Costello, which apparently occurred over disagreements as to how to handle the town's bills, Chairman Hankins declared, the comptroller "was neither forced to resign nor asked to do anything" contrary to the traditional procedures at town hall. She added that the town's books "are in order."

Personnel Board

Reporting for the personnel board, Phyllis Williams told the meeting that of the seven employee groups the town bargains with, three have settled on contracts, three are under negotiation, and one is still under an old contract.

The police, who recently formed their own employee association, and the town are about to go into fact-finding procedures to try to iron out a new contract. The state in the process of assigning a fact-finder for the two parties, since the initial negotiations and mediation have failed to produce a contract.

Other Reports

David Mortensen, chairman of the committee on government regulations, described to the meeting some of the proposed charter changes which will be up for discussion at a public hearing Wednesday (see article in this week's Star).

Harrison Chadwick's committee on rules and regulations of the town meeting handed out a questionnaire to TMMs, posing several questions about rule changes.

Attendance

Attendance at the first session of the annual fall town meeting was 149 out of 184 members, about 81 per cent. District 4 had perfect attendance.

Cars rifled at USA rink, other breaks

Police handled many incidents of breaking and entering this week. Four cars were broken into at the rear of the USA rink on Sunday. Nothing was stolen from two of the cars, but a C.B. radio unit was taken from one car and a camera from another that night.

Rings were stolen on the same night from two Winchester homes. The thefts were reported Friday from Hinds road and Polk road residents. A large quantity of oriental rugs were taken sometime between Thursday and Sunday from a Prospect street home.

On Nov. 1 various jewelry, including a wrist watch and pearls, were taken from the bedroom of a Dothan street residence. On Nov. 2, thieves entered a North Border road home through a rear cellar window and took fireplace tools.

In other police news, a 1970 Oldsmobile, stolen on Oct. 25, was recovered in Rotterdam, N.Y. Rotterdam police arrested Donald F. McPhee of Woburn and charged him with larceny of a vehicle. He is also wanted in Massachusetts in connection with charges involving stolen checks.

On Sunday at 12:17 a.m., a Winchester man ran off the road on Salisbury street and was arrested for operating under the influence.

On Oct. 31 at 6:50 p.m. a hit and run accident occurred at the Symmes Corners area. A Somerville man was charged with leaving the scene of an accident, driving so as to endanger, and driving without a registration. The Billerica resident who was hit was not injured.

Police offer safety tips for holiday travel

"With Thanksgiving travel ahead for many families, the International Association of Chiefs of Police is making its annual effort to remind motorists to plan holiday trips carefully," Chief of Police John McHugh announced today.

A major problem, according to Chief McHugh is that Thanksgiving trips often take motorists into areas hit early by winter storms and for which drivers aren't prepared.

For advance warnings, the chief recommended that motorists keep alert for National Weather Service Bulletins. A flexible schedule should be planned in case dangerous weather warnings are issued.

Other recommended tips include: Ready your emergency equipment -- make sure your trunk contains things you need if a storm does catch you on the road -- tire chains, booster cables, a tow chain, and the other winter equipment that could save your and your family's lives.

Ready your vehicle -- have a reputable mechanic safety check your car and correct any deficiencies -- the heater-defroster system, anti-freeze, brakes, tires, lights, windshield wipers and washers.

Ready yourself -- plan a sensible schedule with plenty of rest before and during your trip. Plan routes carefully to avoid periods of heavy traffic.

Arlington man is sentenced; 2 others to appeal Dec. 13

An Arlington man, arrested Oct. 5 in Winchester for assault and motor vehicle violations, was found guilty of several counts and sentences in Woburn District Court Nov. 3.

The 19-year-old man was arrested by Off. James Gallant and Kevin Richardson and charged with assault and battery and several motor vehicle violations. Found guilty on the assault charge, he was sentenced to two years in the house of correction, suspended two years. For use of a motor vehicle without authority, he was sentenced to one year in the HOC, suspended for two years.

He was also fined $15 for failing to stop at a red light and charged $100 restitution for damages.

The case of two local men, found guilty of possession charges in Woburn Court Oct. 6, will come up on appeal before Superior Court in Cambridge Dec. 13.

Vincent Bement, 21, of Main street, and Jeffrey Marotta, 23, of Medford, were also found innocent of conspiracy charges relating to the alleged sale of four pounds of marijuana July 30.

Local students in world-wide contest

Students of M.A. Reid's seventh, eighth and ninth grade classes at Lynch Junior High School are official entrants in a world-wide economics contest.

The contest, sponsored by Wheelabrator-Frye of Hampton, NH, is based on "The Golden Goose," a special annual report written in simplified language for young people. The contest will test students' knowledge of how business works and produces jobs.

Response to the contest has already come from all fifty states and fourteen foreign countries.

Fifty winning classes will each receive a cash prize of $100. Each school and teacher who produces a winning class will also win a special trophy and prize.

THE WINCHESTER STAR

Serving The Community For Over 95 Years

Still a community?

A fellow came into our office the other day and cancelled his subscription, because, he said, The Star doesn't cover the town anymore—we don't tell him what people are doing, what's going on.

He wasn't outwardly angry about it, and he certainly wasn't unfriendly—once we showed an interest in his complaint, he was willing to talk about it. A look at all the local news in the current week's paper didn't seem to help persuade him to the contrary, though.

After some discussion, the fellow made one telling point: he said perhaps the town has changed, and it isn't as personal as it used to be—folks don't know each other anymore. Still, he didn't change his mind about the subscription.

There's no questioning it—the town has changed. Winchester has grown—filled out—might be a better word for it—over the years. And of course, the more people, the harder it is to know everyone, and the harder it is to know (or even want to know) what your neighbor's up to.

But Winchester is still a community. A lot of the old names are still around. People still go to town meeting, shop at the same stores in the center, participate in community activities from youth hockey to the establishment of the new seniors' center.

And The Star is still a community newspaper, adjusting to the times perhaps, but a local institution nonetheless. One thing we do, without even any conscious effort, is offer some cohesion, some of the glue that holds a community like Winchester together. And we certainly try to help you communicate with each other and share your lives.

One thing you might remember is that we rely heavily on the people in the community to help keep us informed, so we can keep you informed. We don't have the staff of the New York Times, and we can't be everywhere at once. Then again, if you count the people we meet on the street, the people who call us up, and the dozens of people who send in information about all the local clubs and organizations, our "volunteer" staff may number in the hundreds.

This may all sound a bit sappy, but when, after all the effort that goes into putting out this newspaper, someone comes in and says we no longer write about what's going on in Winchester, well, it's downright painful.

Perhaps, though, that's as much a reflection on the community as it is on the paper.

Bay state roll call

Week of Oct. 31-Nov. 4

The Senate held 10 roll calls last week, bringing the total so far to 500. Two of the issues this week were the blue laws and the optometrist bills.

The Senate gave final approval 31-8 to a bill allowing retail stores to stay open during the four Sundays between Thanksgiving and Christmas. Winchester's Sen. Sam Rotondi voted for allowing the Sunday openings.

The Senate tabled 17-16 a measure allowing optometrists to use certain drugs previously reserved for ophthalmologists, to dilate a patient's eyes. Rotondi voted to table (defeat) the amendment.

The House held 27 roll calls last week, bringing this year's total to 573 roll call votes so far.

The House rejected 124-95 an amendment to the supplemental budget to provide that $60 million be used to implement a pending legislative educational assistance program or be given to increase local aid if the package does not pass. Winchester's Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr. voted for the amendment.

Saltmarsh voted for an amendment to restore $46 million in local aid to the cities and towns by hiking the account from $30 million to $76 million. The amendment was defeated 120-105.

He voted for a compromise $25.4 million supplementary budget which includes $17 million in pay raises for state employees and also includes language prohibiting the use of state funds for abortions. The House approval was 150-60.

The House defeated an amendment which would cut $12.5 million from a Park Square project. Saltmarsh voted for the funds and the final vote was 178-47.

Saltmarsh voted to eliminate doctors from a bill revising the state's certificate of need program.

Regarding the ethics code, Saltmarsh voted for the amendment which would eliminate spouse and child financial disclosure requirements. The amendment was defeated 131-90.

Sitting as a Constitutional Convention, the two chambers approved an amendment to a Constitutional proposal prohibiting the legislature from imposing certain costs on two or more cities or towns, unless approved by the cities and towns themselves. Alternative approval could be granted by a two-thirds vote in the House and Senate or if the state funds the law. Sen. Sam Rotondi voted to allow the legislature to impose costs on cities and towns in the three areas of exemptions from local taxation, pensions, and benefits for any class of people. Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr. voted against the imposition of these costs. The votes were for approval, 149-115.

The House and Senate defeated a Constitutional amendment limiting the state's legislative sessions to seven months, excluding emergency sessions. Rotondi voted against the limit, while Saltmarsh voted for the limit. The final vote was 163-94.

Charter changes

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The 1977 Annual Spring Town Meeting voted to charge the Committee on Government Regulations (a standing committee of the Town Meeting) with the responsibility for considering all current proposals for revisions to the Charter. The first of at least two public hearings by the committee to hear the views of voters of the town will be held on Wednesday evening, November 16 at 7:30 in the auditorium of Lincoln School. Everyone is urged to attend.

The suggestions for changes to the Charter which the Committee has received to date include the following:

1. A proposal that the size of the School Committee be increased. Several proposals are being considered, ranging from the present five-member committee to six members, seven members and nine members.

2. A proposal that the term of office of members of the School Committee be changed so as to coincide with the end of the Annual Spring Town Meeting rather than upon conclusion of the election in late March.

3. A proposal that, with regard to the Town Budget, the budget presented to the Town Meeting be that of the School Committee rather than that of the Finance Committee.

4. A proposal that Winchester re-establish an elected or appointed Cemetery Commission.

5. A proposal that there be an elected Board of Public Works having complete authority for developing and enforcing policies relating to Public Works.

6. A proposal that the salary of the Town Manager be established within the Management-Supervisory schedule of the Town's Compensation Plan.

7. A proposal that the annual budget presented for approval by the Annual Town Meeting be the budget of the Town Manager, rather than the budget of the Finance Committee.

8. A proposal to shorten from 30 to 14 days the time between the School Committee's public hearing on its budget and the final adoption of that budget.

9. A proposal to change from 30 to 45 days the time before which the selectmen must close the Town Meeting warrant after receipt of proposed warrant articles.

10. A proposal that the Town Manager not award but merely approve contracts and that authority for awarding contracts be shifted to Town departments and agencies.

11. Various proposals relating to the timetable for preparation and submission of the annual budget.

12. A proposal that the terms of office for all elected committees begin and expire near or at the end of the Annual Spring Town Meeting.

These are representative of the very important suggestions currently being considered by the Committee on Government Regulations in anticipation of a targeted Special Town Meeting to consider them in early Spring 1978. They should be of interest to many voters, and everyone is invited to come to the Public Hearing and to state his or her views.

Very truly yours,
David S. Mortensen
Chairman, Committee on Government Regulations

Join in fast

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The Winchester Ecumenical Association, at its Oct. 28 meeting, voted unanimously to endorse the Fast for World Hunger to take place on Nov. 17. In this they join the Concerned Students at Winchester High School. This means to fast on that day and also to make an effort to become better informed about hunger and good nutrition, to adjust gradually to a simplified life-style, and to work to decrease local and world hunger.

The Ecumenical Association and the Concerned Students urge people to join in this form of concern for one's own health and for the needs of others. Those who wish to do so can contribute the money they save by fasting (or more) by obtaining a sponsor who will pledge money for each hour of fasting. Money realized in this way will be channeled through the churches to meet needs, 20 per cent for local situations and 80 per cent for foreign situations through Oxfam, an organization that converts our concern into action in the poorest countries of Asia, Africa, and Latin America.

Further information may be obtained from The Rev. Jack Bishop (728-1922), The Rev. Walter Davis (729-9180), or Sister Marie Doyle (729-8220). Contributions may be made directly to Oxfam America, 302 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass. 02166.

At least two churches will conclude the day's fast in a special prayer service or liturgy. There will be a Mass at 7:30 p.m. in St. Eulalia Church and a supper at 6:30 p.m. at the First Congregational Church.

Is there a better way to prepare for the abundance of our American Thanksgiving?

Catastrophy

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

My appreciation for the help of the individual, as well as the police department, looms so large it must be expressed.

I started the car en route to a morning meeting last Thursday and saw white fur fly from the hood. What? I suspected it was the cat. But I could not open the hood to look.

I called the police department. The officer (who arrived) opened the hood—ministered to the cat—and the vet says she has eight lives left.

Dick Fisher, I truly appreciate your handling of the cat-astrophe. Thank you.

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I wish to thank everyone connected with the Winchester High School Senior class car wash held at the school on Sunday, November 6.

The seniors did a great job hosing down the cars, and the bake table was a huge success. Also, many thanks to the citizens of Winchester who patronized the carwash.

Town Watch...

Too hot to handle

By The Observer

"The charter commission found it too hot to handle, so they handed it over to the by-law committee; the by-law committee found it too hot to handle, so they handed it over to the rules committee; we found it too hot to handle, so now we're handing it over to you."

So said the rules committee's Harrison Chadwick as he presented his report to town meeting Monday night. And what's the hot issue?

Whether or not the meeting should have the power to declare a town meeting member position vacant if an elected town meeting member doesn't show up at the meetings often enough. The question behind the question is, how often is "often enough"?

Chadwick's committee handed out questionnaires to the meeting to see how they felt about the issue and asking them how many absences the gathering should tolerate.

Town meeting members are, of course, elected, and it should be interesting to see who, if anyone, speaks up about the matter. We may have to wait until election time.

Town meeting continues its second session tonight at the high school. The annual fall meeting seems to be moving along expeditiously and for that we are thankful. On top of that, attendance was 81 percent at the opening meeting Monday night. For that we are pleased.

You town meeting members who didn't make it Monday, get down there tonight. There are some important items on the warrant and the town has the right to know your views—after all you were elected to represent the townspeople.

You citizens of Winchester who want to see government and democracy in action, you get down there too. You have an obligation to keep yourselves informed about the proceedings.

Immaculate Concept ion. St. Mary's and the Second Congregational will be helping under the leadership of Mrs. David Dettinger.

The cards and gift items are colorful and lovely. That's a bonus. The best part of buying the cards is knowing that the United Nations Children's Fund will be able to help children live longer and better lives. For instance, if you buy a single box of cards, maybe a delicate snow scene from Japan or "Mother and Child" by Picasso, UNICEF can buy a stethoscope or four clinical thermometers for a rural health center or enough vaccine to immunize 66 children against tuberculosis.

The sale continues through December 3 at the post office. It's a good way to start the holiday season.

Tomorrow is Veterans' Day and with it come the parades and other celebrations throughout the state. It is also the beginning of a three-day weekend and there will be many cars and travelers on the roads.

From the registry of motor vehicles comes the annual warning to be extra careful this holiday. Schools are closed and shopping areas and streets are unusually busy.

Note: The Star office will be open tomorrow.

The bicycle study committee paid a courtesy call on the selectmen Oct. 31 to receive their blessing on a 500-foot extension to a bicycle path which will go through an unused part of Lynch High School grounds.

The school committee and Lynch in particular gave approval to this extension.

Clearing of the low brush and scrub will reveal the contours of the Middlesex Canal along the path and with the completion of these few feet of pathway, Winchester will connect with the newly dedicated Woburn bike path.

It will be possible to bike almost directly from Winchester Center to Woburn Center.

The bicycle study committee has been quietly articulating about plans for expanding quiet facilities. We would do well to consider their suggestions and use the paths around town. Leave the four-wheeler home and breathe some crisp New England fall air!

Alfred Ferullo, director of the Division of Environmental Quality of the MDC, spoke to the Winchester Rotary Club recently about the pollution control of the waterways around Winchester. These include the Aberjona river, the Upper and Lower Mystic Lakes, and the Charles River basin.

Ferullo spoke about the types of pollution now in these areas and the continuing MDC, state, and federal programs being instituted to combat this pollution and return these valuable lakes and rivers to their original conditions, replete with fish and beauty.

Once a source of pride to Winchester residents and visitors, these waterways are falling prey to pollution. Perhaps Ferullo's talk at the Rotary Club will inspire some of these gentlemen to consider a part the Rotary can take in helping to clean up.

Thanks for support

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I would like to take the opportunity through The Winchester Star to thank all those who supported the Friends Autumn Ball. To the committee members who put their time and effort goes my appreciation. My gratitude goes to those who supported the event by coming and also to those who gave their support as patrons.

When all these fine people give their support, it makes working for the event so much more worthwhile.

My appreciation goes to Mr. Fiumara of the K of C, who gave his assistance to make the event go smoothly.

Lastly, I would like to say that after having traveled a great deal and seeing medical facilities in other countries, the Town of Winchester is indeed fortunate in having such a fine hospital and an excellent medical staff. I was proud and happy to have been part of this event and to be one of a long line of those who have worked hard for the Friends at such events. Thank you.

The Fire Department would like to publicly thank Mr. Bill Wilde of the W. Allan Insurance Agency, One Thompson St. for allowing the department the use of his office window for the Fire Prevention display.

Mr. Wilde's concern for community safety was certainly demonstrated by his generosity, and was deeply appreciated by the members of the Fire Department.

Support the CIA

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Since 1948 the communists have been running a campaign to defame and discredit US departments and intelligence agencies responsible for national security. Their main targets have been the FBI and the CIA.

In the early 1960's our intelligence community obtained full details of this plan.

Congressman C. Melvin Price, now chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, put a summary of this secret plan into the Congressional Record on Sept. 28, 1965. This showed that a central purpose of the Disinformation Department of the KGB (Soviet Secret Police) was to:

"Destroy the confidence of the Congress and the American public in US personnel and agencies in anti-communist and Cold War activity."

In 1951 the US Communist Party set up a front called the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee (as cited by the House Committee on Un-American Activities).

The ECLC devised "Operation Abolition" to campaign for the elimination of intelligence activities like: 1) the House Committee on Internal Security; 2) the Senate Internal Subcommittee; 3) the internal security committees in state legislatures; 4) state and city police files on subversives; 5) the Subversive Activities Control Board; 6) the Internal Security Division of the Department of Justice; 7) the counter-intelligence functions of the CIA; and 8) the internal security functions of the FBI.

All of the above have been abolished, except for the FBI and CIA.

But, the FBI and the CIA have been so badly shattered that they no longer have adequate internal security or counter-intelligence capabilities. They need public support now!

Markey's mobile office in town Saturday 12-2

U.S. Rep. Edward J. Markey announced today his "Mobile Congressional Office," a van designed to bring Congressional services to local communities, will now be driving on a new schedule, reaching more cities and towns and for longer time periods.

"I am pleased to make this announcement for those citizens who may be in need of assistance from my office," Markey said in a Washington statement.

"Because the Mobile Office has met with success," Markey said, "we have expanded its schedule to reach more communities in the seventh District and have increased the amount of time we will stay in each community to two hours."

Although the van does not reach every city and town in the District, the Congressman said he hoped to further expand the schedule so that all communities will be included in the future.

According to Markey, his office can help people with a wide variety of problems such as "red tape or a lack of responsiveness by a federal agency." Included among these services are help in problems involving Social Security, welfare, federal education grants, military affairs, health benefits and elderly affairs.

The mobile office will be in Winchester from 9-11 a.m. Saturday, located across from Town Hall. From 12-2 p.m. the office will be at Zayre's on Route 128 in Woburn; and from 2:30-4:30 that afternoon, it will be at Redstone on Route 28 in Stoneham.

$196 raised for UNICEF drive by Bartlett children

On Halloween evening, the students and parents at Bartlett School met in the gym for a party to benefit UNICEF. A donation of 50 cents for UNICEF was asked and this plus monies obtained as the children used the orange boxes for trick or treat meant that Bartlett

School children contributed $196 to UNICEF this year. During the first part of the evening a professional puppeteer entertained the younger students. At 8 p.m. a music group of Winchester boys entertained. This group included Stephen Viglas, a Bartlett seventh grader on the bass guitar, his brother Jim Viglas and Greg Albers on other guitars, and Mike Gorrasio on drums. Parents as well as children joined in, including William Budd of 34 Wedgemere who arrived in an 8 foot tall Frankenstein costume. Cider and goodies were donated by parents.

Rep. Saltmarsh to hold hours at public library

Winchester residents will have an opportunity to meet with Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh, Jr. this Saturday morning at the town library when the Winchester legislator will hold office hours from 10 a.m. to noon.

During that time, Rep. Saltmarsh will be available to discuss recent and pending legislation and to answer any questions regarding legislative authority.

The meeting will be the first of several that will be scheduled by Saltmarsh for the purpose of maintaining close relationships with his constituency at the grass roots level.

Dec. 7 deadline for filing bills

The deadline for filing bills to be considered during the next legislative session is Dec. 7. Anyone interested should contact Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh, Jr., 154 Mount Vernon st. who will offer assistance with the preparation of content and, if necessary, technical assistance via the house legal counsel, or Sen. Samuel Rotondi, 54 Sunset rd.

Any citizen has the right to file a bill through the local representative, whose sponsorship does not necessarily involve personal support.

Visits legislature

League pushing court reform

Members of the League of Women Voters of Winchester visited the State House Nov. 9 to lobby for passage of court reform legislation during the current session.

Marcia Wood, Deborah Hall, Cynthia Turnquist and Barbara Miliaras called on Rep. Sherman Saltmarsh and Sen. Samuel Rotondi to urge them to work actively for a significant judicial reform package.

The League of Women Voters of Massachusetts called on all 110 local Leagues to visit the State House this week to push for court reform. Marcia Wood, president of the Winchester League, said "The need for better administration of our state court system is too great to let the reform package die for political reasons. The League intends to speak out on court reform until the legislature acts in a positive manner."

"As part of this legislative effort, the Winchester League is offering information to the public about the Cox Report, the Judiciary Committee court reform package, and the current status of the legislation. (Call Deborah Hall, 72 Bacon st.). We hope many citizens will join us in demanding meaningful court reform," said Ms. Wood.

Susan Wiltshire, president of the League of Women Voters of Massachusetts, indicated that League members and friends are expected to speak to every member of the legislature during this week. She stated, "Significant reform of the administration of the state's judicial system is now the primary legislative goal of the League of Women Voters of Massachusetts. To achieve this reform we have worked with the Select Committee on Judicial Needs. We have sponsored forums throughout Massachusetts to help the public understand the issue. We have testified before the Judiciary Committee. We have lobbied from home. Now we are lobbying in strength on Beacon Hill to make certain that each Representative and Senator is fully aware of the importance of this issue."

Mrs. Deborah Hall, the Winchester League's legislative chairperson, reported that Sen. Rotondi is favorable to the bill as it stood before it went into committee, and that Rep. Saltmarsh is in favor of a large part of the bill, especially that part which will speed up the administration of justice, but is reserving his opinion in general until the bill is reported out of committee.

Mrs. Hall commented, "Our legislators need the support of Winchester citizens to continue their support of the bill. A letter or a phone call will show them that the people of this town are in favor of this reform."

Thanksgiving deadline

'Vial of Life'

Quota launches lifesaving program for all seniors

A life saving program for senior citizens and those who live alone, is being launched this month by Quota Clubs in 11 towns and cities in eastern Massachusetts and New Hampshire, including Winchester.

The project, called "Vial of Life" Program, will enroll interested citizens in all these communities in a plan to provide vital information, inserted in a vial in their refrigerators, for reference in case of emergencies, fire, medical, or other crises.

The Quota Clubs are enlisting the aid of police and fire departments, and councils for the aging, in inaugurating the program. Osco Drug, Inc. is donating the first 2500 vials to be given to those who enroll. Forms to be used in the vials will provide rescue persons with such information as doctor's name and telephone number, hospital preference, next of kin, special medications, allergies, etc.

The plan, begun last year in Michigan, has spread throughout Michigan and to many other states. Enthusiastic response has been received wherever it has been undertaken. The need for this information has been a problem to many rescue personnel. The refrigerator was chosen because it is universally in every home, not destroyed by fire, and is readily accessible.

The project has been undertaken by the women of the Winchester Quota Club to enable the people of this area to participate in the advantages of the idea. The Quota Club is comprised of executive business and professional women who unite in service of many kinds.

Any citizen who is interested, is urged to contact the Winchester Council on Aging Office at 729-2111.

WHS to elect delegate to student government day

Elections are to be held in Winchester High School on November 15 to select that school's delegate to the thirty-first Annual Student Government Day Program.

The program was established in 1947 by the Massachusetts General Court in order that secondary school students of the Commonwealth would be able to learn about state government by participating in a unique and meaningful experience. This idea has developed into a six-month program which explores all aspects of our state governmental system and includes a one-day "take over" of the state administration by the students.

Any secondary school in Massachusetts is eligible to send one student representative to this program. The student must be 16 years of age on or before May 31, 1978. The student must be elected by his/her high school in a democratically held election. The student must be dedicated to receiving full benefits offered by the program in understanding state government.

After the election in each school, the name of the delegates are placed in a "Glass Bowl." Names of the student counterparts will be drawn by the governor, other constitutional officers, governor's councillors, legislative leadership, cabinet secretaries and supreme court justices. Another drawing will be held to select department heads, senators, and representatives.

Three series of workshops will be held for the purpose of educating and informing teachers and student delegates about the legislative process and state government.

The first series will be held in each of the six regional education centers. The second and third workshop series will be held at the State House. The governor will participate in these workshops along with the constitutional officers, legislators, judicial officials, members of interest and lobbying groups. The workshops will also provide an opportunity for students to observe the legislature in session.

Student Government Day occurs on the first Friday in April. On this day, students will participate in all aspects of the administration of state government in the place where it happens, the State House. This allows students who have been educated in the state government the opportunity to exercise their newly-obtained abilities in the atmosphere that actual governmental officials perform in.

The Student Government Day Program has been successful in many ways during its long history. Not including the responsibility of educating a concerned population of the citizens and future voters of Massachusetts, it has been estimated that one-third of the elected state governmental officials currently serving in Massachusetts have participated in the program. Therefore, this program has a responsibility to Massachusetts to provide knowledge and exemplary public officials for future generations.

Friends of hospital elect officers at fall gathering

The Friends of the Winchester Hospital held their 27th annual fall meeting on Oct. 22 at the home of Barbara Ashley, 11 Plato ter. Coffee was served by Bea Erickson and Shirley Grieve. The meeting started with the introduction of Carl Olsen, RN, Vernon Curtis of the Reading Fire Department, and Janet Keene, RN by Helen Craig, the incoming president of the Friends.

Olsen has been in charge of in-service education at the Winchester Hospital since 1968 and coordinator of emergency medical training since 1972. He is a certified instructor trainer for the American Heart Association in cardio pulmonary resuscitation. Olsen also went to the Burns Institute of Boston for two years and is an instructor at the Winchester Hospital in EMT and CPR.

He lectured on emergency situation procedures, including the much publicized "Heimlich Hug." Curtis explained that everyone who takes his course will have a thorough knowledge of the human body and pass all exams before receiving their certificates. Students study strokes, poisoning, diabetes, overdoses of medication, heart attacks, childbirth, and many more subjects.

It takes eight full hours of on-the-job training to take trapped persons from cars by using the "jaws of life." There must be two EMT men in an ambulance. Curtis said that there are only five other states in the country that have this kind of training.

Mrs. Keene is an RN and works in the EKG unit at the hospital. She is also seen rushing from one floor to another with her small portable EKG machine to take care of a patient who cannot make it to the unit. She took a course in EMT at Northeastern University in Burlington.

Mrs. Keene demonstrated the Heimlich Mug with the assistance of Curtis and Mr. Olsen. They then passed out instructions with two illustrations on how to do this lifesaving technique. Mrs. Craig thanked Olsen and his panel for a very informative and interesting discussion. Mrs. Pharo, the outgoing president of the Friends, brought the final part of the meeting to a close by introducing the new board and committee chairmen: president, Mrs. Helen Craig; vice-president, Mrs. Linda Nordberg; recording secretary, Nancy Hunter; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Liz Reich; treasurer, Mrs. Agnes Sarmarian; assistant treasurer, Mrs. Betsy Hurley; directors, Mrs.

Marjorie Kaufman, Mrs. Linda Hertig, Mrs. Gladys Cutcliffe.

Winn Co. to aid Red Cross in disaster communications

Winn Company of Washington street, Winchester's oldest manufacturing company, has arranged for the Winchester Chapter of the American Red Cross to receive national disaster information from Red Cross Washington headquarters through the company's TWX-TELEX communications systems.

Here is how it works. Each year some sections of the country, often remote, are hard hit by disaster - flood, fire, tornado, earthquake, hurricane. The Washington office of Red Cross sends out bulletins on the extent of the disaster. But often considerable time elapses before the information filters through regional and district offices before it reaches Winchester - or so it seems to anxious relatives in Winchester.

Now, through the courtesy of Winn Company, the bulletins put out by National Red Cross in Washington will be received directly on Winn Company's Telex machine and immediately transmitted to the local chapter. Outgoing messages will still go out by telephone to national headquarters in Washington.

"Through the courtesy of Winn Company we will be receiving disaster information much more promptly," said Paul M. Colella, chapter chairman. "All Winchester is indebted to Winn Company."

Parents sought for Mystic Valley MH's foster care program

The Mystic Valley Mental Health Center has recently inaugurated a Foster Care program. The goal of the program is to provide temporary foster home care for children and youth through age 21 whose families are in crises.

A pool of foster care parents will be available to provide homes, on a short-term basis, to children and adolescents needing temporary care and parenting outside their home.

The mental health center will provide treatment for the child and services for his parents to help them prepare for foster placement and the return of the child to his or her family.

Training sessions will be held for prospective foster parents at the Mental Health Center. In addition, on-going consultation and support will be provided to them once a placement is made. The foster parents will be paid on a weekly basis for each foster child placed in their home, and a stipend will be provided to enable them to attend the training program.

Mystic Valley Mental Health Center is currently recruiting foster parents, and more parents are needed. If you are interested in the program, or are interested in applying for a foster parent position, or know of someone who may be interested, call Susan McManus, mornings, at 861-0890.

Children's Theatre to open 21st season Nov. 18-20

The costumes have been made and fitted. The stage has been painted and set. The children have practiced and practiced for their performance at McCall Junior High School Auditorium on November 18 at 3:30, November 19 at 2 and November 20 at 2.

For 21 years the Winchester Children's Theatre has been encouraging hundreds of children to express themselves in the performing arts. Since 1956 the Town of Winchester has been enriched by the efforts of these many children. More importantly the children themselves have been enriched. To quote this year's director, Elaine Gariyan Kasparian, "The purpose of the Children's Theatre is to create an atmosphere which will permit the individual child to express himself verbally, give vent to his imagination and to explore his own ability to control his actions. The final production is not as important as the road to that end."

The children are given an opportunity to explore all areas of the performing arts. They sing, dance, paint and act. This year's theatrical performance offers an exciting and varied format of pure entertainment.

There will be three fables performed and one interpretative dance. Mrs. Kasparian notes that "story telling is an art which has passed wisdom and knowledge down through the ages. The hope is that the children will sense the sameness of all people regardless of the culture, age or geography."

Celia Schneider, this year's choreographer, has been responsible for the many dance numbers throughout the Fables and for interpretative dance by Bartok.

Randy Love, a graduate student at the New England Conservatory of Music, provides the music.

Mrs. Carlene Samoiloff and Mr. Gillis have collaborated once again with their artistic talents to create the stage settings.

Music Society begins year, invites performers to meet

The Winchester Music Society held its first meeting of the year on Oct. 14, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Fiecke.

The program opened with a two-piano arrangement of Bach's Sicilienne, performed by Carol and Eric Fiecke. A suite for flute and jazz piano followed with flutist Kristin Abbott and Alice Wilkinson, pianist.

Carole Davidson performed two intermezzi by Brahms from opus 117, and then accompanied Constance Rosenberger who sang three modern selections: Must the Winter Come So Soon by Samuel Barber, followed by The Empty Handed Traveller and Lullaby by Menotti.

Alice Wilkinson concluded the program with a performance of Chopin's Ballade in G minor.

A short business meeting preceded the wine and cheese refreshments.

The next meeting will be held on Nov. 18 at the home of Constance Rosenberger. Anyone wishing to perform for an informal interested audience is invited to attend. For information about the group, please call Corie (Mrs. Andrew) Nichols.

Frank Dattilo promoted to commander in U.S. Navy

Lieutenant Commander Frank Dattilo III of the United States Navy was recently promoted to the rank of commander while stationed on the West Coast. He is now located at his new assignment the Naval Sea Systems Command, Navy Department, Washington, D.C. Commander Dattilo is a native of Winchester and a graduate of the high school. During his high school career he was a star performer on the football team.

After graduation in 1956, he attended prep school for a year and entered the Annapolis Naval Academy where he excelled in football and graduated with the Class of 1961. His career at the Academy prepared him for naval assignments to many areas of the world, especially to the Western Pacific.

A run down on his career lists a number of naval craft and service assignments: 1961-64 USS McKean (Weapons Officer), 1964-66 — USS Advance (Exec. Officer), 1966-69 — Naval Post-Graduate School (Oceanography), 1969-72 — USS Bainbridge (Weapons Officer), 1972-74 — US Naval Magazine, Guam (Ordinance Officer), 1974-76 USS Long Beach (Weapons Officer), and 1976 — USS Norton Sound (Exec. Officer).

During Commander Dattilo's 17 years of naval duty he made seven deployments overseas to the Western Pacific, four of which were during the Vietnam War. He has been to Australia, Thailand, Singapore, Hong Kong, Taiwan, Vietnam, Guam and many islands throughout the Pacific. In his outstanding naval activity Commander Dattilo has received several awards — National Defense Ribbon, Vietnam Campaign Ribbon, Vietnam Service Award, Navy Expeditionary Ribbon, Navy Unit Citation and Navy Commendation Ribbon.

It was while serving on the USS Norton Sound (AVM-1) as Executive Officer, Test and Evaluation ship that the navy Career Officer Dattilo was promoted to his present rank of Commander.

Norton Sound is a Research and Development ship. The navy installs newly developed weapons systems on the ship to be tested in a shipboard, at sea environment.

Commander Dattilo's assignment at Washington involves missiles, only this time from a defensive rather than offensive point of view. He will be working on systems that the navy is developing to protect the country's ships from enemy missile attack. The program is called Anti-Ship Missile Defense (ASMD). A purchase of the system by the Navy when funds are available would mean the installation on future ships.

The Commander and his wife Sharron and their two daughters Michelle, 9 years and Noelle, 7 years, reside in Annandale, VA. He is the son of Mrs. Laura Dattilo and the late Frank Dattilo of Winchester. His sisters are Angie Dattilo of Winchester and Kay DiPanfilo of Woburn, and his brothers are John of Burlington and Larry of Woburn.

Firemen respond to house fires

Firefighters combated two small building fires this week.

At 5:31 p.m. on Nov. 2 all equipment responded to a fire at Legion Hall on Vine street. Upon arrival, firefighters found smoke coming from the second floor between the floors. They removed the flooring and wetted down the timbers. The fire department believes that the fire was caused by a welder cutting the fire escape. The heat from the welding ignited the wood. After pumping for 15 minutes, the firefighters returned to the station.

Last Sunday, at 4:48 p.m., the crew received a call from the Burlington Fire Department reporting a building fire at 616 Main st. All apparatus were sent to the scene. Firefighters found a mattress and cushions on fire and extinguished the flames. The fire is of suspicious origin and is being investigated by the police and fire departments.

Later that day at 10:11 p.m., Engine 2 and Ladder 1 put out a fire in the cab of a truck at Main street and Sheridan circle.

Face Watertown Saturday

Red Raiders rout Sachems, 28-6

By Jon Kalman

The Winchester Sachems were routed 28-6 by a superior Melrose squad Saturday for the Sachems' second straight loss. The defeat drops Winchester into third place in the Middlesex League.

The key to Melrose's convincing victory was the running of Captain Kevin McCormack and the blocking of the Red Raider offensive line. McCormack, who gained 154 yards in the Saturday's game, sports impressive statistics: the Melrose senior is the leading ground gainer in the league, with 1210 yards, and the leading scorer, with 20 touchdowns.

Sachem Brian O'Connor's opening kickoff was received by Anthony Karelas, who returned the ball up the right sideline behind the Red Raider special team for nine yards before being stopped by Tom Murray on the Melrose 39 yard line.

Senior Quarterback Thomas Shay and McCormack quickly established the potent Red Raider offense, as the Melrose squad marched 61 yards for their first score on their first possession. The drive, consisting of 12 plays, was highlighted by the running of McCormack, who carried the ball nine times for 46 yards.

McCormack capped the effort by barreling into the end zone from the five yard line. The two point conversion attempt was completed as Matthew Bennet sprung over the top, making the score 8-0 Melrose.

A short kick by Dean Antonucci placed Winchester in good field position on their own 45 yard line, but the Sachem offense sputtered to a halt as Sam Bellino was stopped for a two yard gain and a perfect pass from QB Don Allard was dropped by receiver John McPhee.

Anthony Davis' six yard gain on third-and-eight was short, and O'Connor, recovering from a recent ankle injury, was called in to punt. His kick went 37 yards, but the play was called back on an offside penalty against Melrose, and Winchester had a first down to end the quarter.

The Sachems opened the second quarter on the Melrose 45. Allard hit O'Connor running across the middle for a ten-yard gain.

Davis then swept right for seven yards, and Murray battled for two more, bringing the Sachems to rest on the Raider 26 yard line.

After a five yard run by Sam Bellino, Allard threw to McPhee in the end zone, but the pass was broken up by a Melrose defender. However, defensive pass interference was called, and on the same play, the defensive line was called for offside.

The Red Raiders were assessed 20 yards for the two penalties, moving the Sachems to the Melrose one. Allard's first touchdown attempt was blunted, but on the next play he shot into the end zone for six points. The conversion failed as Allard was brought down on the one yard line, leaving Melrose ahead 8-6.

The ensuing kickoff by O'Connor was returned 40 yards by the ever-present McCormack. McPhee made the tackle at midfield. Darryl Brown, gaining seven yards on a left sweep, sparked the Raider offense, which moved to the Sachem 17 yard line after runs by McCormack and Shay.

The Melrose drive was finally halted by Murray, who recovered Red Raider Jeffrey Simpson's fumble. But the Sachem offense failed to capitalize on the turnover, as their 12-play, 53-yard drive ended with Allard missing a first down by inches at the Melrose 34.

The Raiders regained possession and after a one-yard push by McCormack, Simpson broke loose for 37 yards to put the ball on the Sachems 31 yard line.

Shay then lofted an aerial to Richard Corrado for 16 yards and a first down. McCormack followed with an 11-yard run, and the Red Raiders were threatening again on the Sachem four yard line.

On the very next play, McCormack struck again for his second TD. The extra point attempt failed, leaving Melrose in front 14-6 at the end of the first half.

The third quarter brought disaster for the Sachems. After Bellino's 13-yard kickoff return, John McPhee caught an Allard pass, then fumbled on his own 43 yard line when hit hard by Red Raider Anthony Karelas.

Melrose was on the march again, moving the ball 43 yards on nine plays, McCormack carrying eight times, and scoring on a four-yard plunge. The conversion failed as Davis nailed QB Shay on a sweep, but the score was Melrose 20, Winchester 6.

The kickoff by Dean Antonucci was Sachems drop to ninth spot in Division 1

Winchester's loss Saturday drops the team to number three in the Division One Middlesex League standings and down to number nine in the overall division standings with a 6-2-0 record.

recovered by Jeff Micciche on the Sachem 37, and he returned the ball seven yards to the 44.

Winchester's troubles multiplied when Randy Davis stripped Allard of the ball on the Sachem 40. The Red Raiders then drove the 40 yards to score again, with McCormack putting on the final touches, tallying on a nine yard run.

Matthew Bennet converted the two points to complete the drive, and Melrose was on top 28-6 at the end of the third quarter.

The fourth quarter proved to be no offensive showcase, as neither team could establish a running game. Winchester controlled the ball for the majority of the quarter though, as Tobey Daley and Micciche recovered Red Raider fumbles. Offensively, Steve Wolf looked good, catching two passes.

Leads League

Jan Oehm sets two records

By George Parker

Last week, the Winchester cross-country team competed in the annual League meet, which brings together all the teams in the Middlesex League.

Andy Wilsack came in seventh overall in the boys varsity meet, in a time of 13:01. He was followed by George Parker, in 36th place, with a time of 13:58. Behind him came Kevin Gosselin (54th, 14:18), Mike Haukedelan (47th, 14:22), Kevin Consales (54th, 14:39), Greg Cummings (57th, 14:44), and Mark Costello (58th, 14:44). The varsity team came in sixth overall, with a total of 176 points, despite the absence of Jim Wilbur, one of the top runners.

In the JV meet, Winchester placed fifth, with a total of 161 points. Coming in first for Winchester was John Baker, in 29th place, with a time of 15:08. Immediately following Baker was Joe Flynn, in a time of 15:09. Closely following these two was Rob Flynn, in 32nd place, with a time of 15:17. Trailing these runners were Jim Connolly (39th, 15:25), Tom Doucey (40th, 15:28), Chris Zappala (65th, 16:18), Jon Haber (68th, 16:21), and Tom Groux (75th, 16:40).

In the girls' race, Winchester came in second overall, with 71 points, as Jan Oehm led the team with a record-breaking effort of 14:12 (her own record). Sara Fotsch and Michelle DeMars also had an excellent race, placing sixth and eighth respectively, with times of 16:28 and 16:41. Donna Senna (18:24), came in next for Winchester, in 21st place, followed by Kathy Cullen (19:27), in 36th place. Carolyn Barger and Donna Farrell completed the scoring for Winchester, placing 40th and 41st, with times of 20:02 and 20:03.

The top runners, except for some seniors who were taking SATs, also participated in the Coaches Invitational meet. Jan Oehm again shattered her own record, taking the girls' race in a time of 15:19 on a wet and muddy course. Michelle DeMars also had a very good race, receiving a medal for her 23rd place, 18:00 effort. Kathy Cullen then came in, in 63rd place, with a time of 19:30.

In this meet there was a specific race for sophomores. Winchester's sophomore runners show great promise, as Mark Costello came in 89th, with a time of 16:28, against stiff competition. He was followed by Jim Connolly (125th, 17:12), Rob Flynn (137th, 17:26), Joe Flynn (138th, 17:26), and Tom Doucey (142nd, 17:36).

In the Junior and Senior race, Andy

Wilsack came in twelfth overall, garnering a medal for his time of 14:48. He was followed by George Parker (15:30), in 45th place, Jim Wilbur (83rd, 16:00), Greg Cummings (107, 16:34), and John Baker (125, 16:51).

The coaches meet marks the end of the season for most of the team. However, Jan Oehm will be competing in the All-State, New England, and National championships. Best of luck, Jan!

Thanks to the coaching of Joe Cantillon, the varsity and JV harriers ended up 5-4 records, despite the loss of co-captain Charles Larkin early in the season. The girls team finished with a 3-1 record, losing only to Wakefield, in an extremely close meet.

Youth hockey sign-ups now

Youth Hockey intramural program starts this year on Sunday, November 20, at the U.S.A. Rink. Applications are available at the Sports Shop, Craddock's Pharmacy and at the rink. Early returns of completed applications are urged so that plans for the winter season can be finalized. Boys must provide skates, sticks and all protective equipment for safety's sake. Jerseys, supplied by Winchester Youth Hockey, will be kept by the boy. Complete information is on the application.

Eighteen years ago when Winchester Youth Hockey was first formed, the only ice available in the area was the outdoor, roofless M.D.C. rink in Stoneham and the first game started at 6:00 A.M. Needless to say it was always cold and the Winchester caravan of cars had to leave very early.

Now it's much easier to leave home at a more reasonable time and not have to leave town to get the hot shots to the rink on time. Also, there are no wintery winds blowing at 40 M.P.H. or snow to be shoveled off the ice of a nice comfortable enclosed rink right here in Winchester.

In answer to many requests the directors are extending the age limit to 17 years to accommodate boys who will not be skating for any high school and would still like to participate.

It was a familiar sight Friday afternoon — the ball getting by the Tanner goalie. WHS Soccer players Skiff Sizemore (22) and Robert Brosnan (8) are in on the play in front of the Woburn goal. Sachems won, 7-1. (Photo by Greg Plowman)

Loses to Melrose

Field hockey ends season with win over Watertown

By Kelly Gately

Winchester High Girls' field hockey team ended a long, frustrating season with a disappointing 3-9-1 season with a win over Watertown 1-0 and a 2-0 loss to Melrose. "I was disappointed with the record," commented Coach Harvey. "They're a good, strong young team."

Winchester managed a 1-0 win over Watertown. They dominated throughout the game, but they had problems with scoring. Kathleen Driscoll, Christine Driscoll and Beth Noble lead the Sachem attack with some strong drives. Liz Fuller also played well, but they just couldn't put one in. Kelly Evans played her usual strong game.

The effort was there and Winchester was clearly the better team. The first half ended scoreless.

Winchester finally managed to score in the second half when Kathleen Driscoll scored from the right side and they finally could breathe a little easier. They were hungry for more though, but they had to settle for a 1-0 win. Good defensive play was turned in by goalie Nella Barrow, Barbara Jacobs and Mary-Claire McCarthy.

On account of darkness, the JV team played a shortened game. They just pulled out a 1-0 win as Kathy Heffernan scored late in the game.

They ended the season against a strong Melrose team losing 2-0. It was a close game despite the score.

Play went back and forth through much of the first half with each team having their chances. Both forward lines were very aggressive. It seemed as if the first half would remain scoreless, but it was not to be as Melrose scored with 40 secs left in the half. McGee tipped one in on a pass from Donovan which looked as if it were going out.

Melrose increased the lead to 2-0 when Marie Taylor scored on a mix-up in front after Nella Barrow made a nice save on her first shot. Nancy Dean and Beth Noble played well on offense while halfbacks Kelly Evans, Sue Flaherty and Mary-Claire McCarthy held off the Melrose attack.

Final Field Hockey Notes: Winchester has scored 12 goals in 13 games. Goals were scored by Kathleen Driscoll 6, Beth Noble 3, Christine Driscoll 2 and Liz Fuller 1. They have allowed 26 goals in 13 games.

Soccer team makes tourney

By Kelly Gately

Somewhere in between the thrill of victory and the agony of defeat, the boys soccer team qualified for the State Tourney in a hectic week which included the other team tying up the game in the last minute of play and a rout of the so-called team of Woburn.

Less than a minute left, George Casey takes the throw-in down near the Lexington goal with the Sachems trying desperately to come back from a 3-1 deficit. The score is 3-2 as Casey lets go of the throw. It deflects off Jim Oliver's head and then hits off the head of a Lexington defender. It sails over the reach of the goalie and into the net and the game is tied. That was the high point of the Sachems excellent come-from-behind tie with Lexington.

Lexington broke the ice in the first quarter. Don McCarthy took a corner which came down right in front. Waite seemed to have it, but at the last moment it slipped out of his hands and Robert Zorn put it into the open net for a 1-0 lead.

Winchester had some chances. Jack Driscoll broke in alone from a pass by Jim Oliver, but his shot was just wide. Driscoll also placed a low hard drive into the lower left corner but Lexington goalie Manning made a nice sliding save. The game remained at 1-0 at the end of the first quarter. The Minutemen increased their lead to two in the second quarter when Bruce Ahn scored alone in front after getting a good pass from Bernie Kissosyan and it was 2-0.

Play went back and forth throughout the quarter, but then Winchester finally got on the board. Barry McQuillan put one in from a nice pass by Bob Brosnan to put the Sachems back into it in the third quarter.

Just after though, Lexington again made the lead two when Bruce Ahn dribbled by two defenders and powered a shot off the post and in and it was 3-1. Winchester came back as the McQuillan-Brosnan pair combined again.

This time McQuillan looped it just under the crossbar on a pass from Brosnan. As the time was running out Jim Oliver got the final goal on a freak play and it ended at 3-3.

Coming off that exciting tie with Lexington, Winchester just couldn't comeback again as they lost to Belmont 2-1. Winchester got the quick start after the Belmont goalie was charged with steps. Barry McQuillan tapped it softly to Jack Driscoll on the indirect kick and he booted it in as they took a 1-0 lead.

That was all they could score however and Belmont took advantage. Belmont's forward Manuellan dribbled down the left side and centered to Kevin Keefe who finished off the play by putting it by the goalie three feet in front to tie. The half ended with Belmont ahead 2-1 and that's how it ended. Keefe scored again off the rebound of a penalty shot by Vona. The Sachems tried to come back again, but just couldn't do it.

Since they lost to Belmont, Winchester needed to tie or beat Woburn to qualify for the Tourney and they did just that as they demolished Woburn 7-1.

Winchester made it clear who was the better team in the first few minutes of play. Barry McQuillan headed one in on a pass from Kohr to go ahead quickly. About a minute later they scored again. Mahoney crossed one over to McQuillan who then centered one across in front and Jack Driscoll tapped it in and it was 2-0.

The Sachems continued the pressure as Driscoll scored again after a key play by Bob Brosnan. George Casey lead Driscoll, but it was just a little too hard. The goalie seemed to have it, but Brosnan took it from the goalie and Driscoll put it into the empty net.

The Sachems weren't nearly through as McQuillan broke in alone to tally his second goal of the game. He then passed one to

Driscoll who also broke in alone and it was quickly 5-0.

Woburn couldn't put anything together as the Winchester defense held them off. It was Brosnan's turn to score and that's what he did on a nice pass by David Guthrie and at the end of the third quarter it was 6-0.

Believe it or not, Woburn actually scored in the fourth quarter. Brian Keyoe placed a high shot into the net after receiving a pass from Ryan. Sachem Anthony Sisco scored the last goal of the regular season scoring on a penalty kick, as Winchester ended it at 7-1.

Sign-ups begin Monday for youth basketball program

On committee

The annual dinner program of the Massachusetts Maritime Academy Alumni Association will be held Saturday, Dec. 3, at the U.S. Coast Guard base in Boston.

Mario Marrocco of Winchester, former president, is on the nominating committee.

Registration for Winchester Youth Basketball for children in grades 3-6 begins Monday. Application forms may be obtained at the recreation department and the Winchester Sport Shop.

Since the number of participants will be limited, applications should be completed and left at the Winchester Sport Shop as soon as possible.

Spartanettes top Lynch, 4-1

In an excellent effort both offensively and defensively, the McCall Field Hockey Team defeated Lynch Junior High by a score of 4-1 Nov. 3.

Early in the first half McCall and Lynch appeared quite evenly matched. Lynch scored the first goal and McCall followed soon after with a goal through the brilliant and untiring effort of forwards Robin Hill, Jane Kent, Kathy Looney, Pam McIntosh and Maria Montuori and halfbacks Alice Greene, Leslie Koplow and Caroline Twomey.

However as the afternoon wore on the McCall offensive line made up of Karen Cagnina, Nancy Cowen, Laura Cunningham co-captain, Kim Donlon, Kathy Durante, Laurie Gleason, Nan Keller, Sara Samoiloff and Marina Sartori along with the above mentioned players put forth a strong cohesive attack, successfully penetrated the Lynch defense and scored three more goals.

Defensively, halfbacks Karen Cagnina, Alice Greene (co-captain), Leslie Koplow, Sara Samoiloff and Caroline Twomey were repeatedly called upon to break up offensive plays along with backing up the McCall forward line; these halfbacks covered the play in style, executing effective drives and tackles.

The fullbacks Elaine Pigott and Diane Strazzuolo were called upon many times to intercept and successfully tackle Lynch forwards in one-on-one situations; during the entire game the fullbacks were steady and consistent in foiling Lynch's attempt to score much of the first half and all of the second half. Goalie Amy Fitzgerald did a superb job in saving many sure goals through her consistent moves and fine sense of anticipation.

A real salute goes to the McCall Field Hockey Team including Paula Deskin, all the above-mentioned players and managers Christin Costello, Leslie Keats and Betsy Thomas for they all worked hard, exhibited a determined effort and maintained a healthy enthusiastic spirit.

Warriors lead as youth soccer goes into stretch

As boys' youth soccer approaches its final week, the Warriors managed to remain in the lead, even though the mighty attack of the Minutemen handed them their first defeat by a 2-1 score.

The Celtics also fought a hard battle to tie the Knights 4-4 after having led through most of the game.

The Tigers earned their first victory of the season in a decisive 3-1 win over the Shamrocks. The Eagles and the Panthers fought to a scoreless tie.

This week's regular games will be played Saturday. On Sunday, an all-star team will play against the coaches and any parents who wish to show up at 1 p.m. at Ambrose Field, weather permitting. There will also be a feature game of all-stars versus all-stars which should demonstrate what the kids have learned throughout the season.

Pop Warner A team wins first ever over Woburn

What initially appeared to be a romp by the Winchester Pop Warner "A" team over Woburn turned out to be a hard-fought defensive battle between two well-coordinated football teams. After leading at the half 18-0, Winchester had to hold on tight, coming out on top in the end, 24-22.

Early in the first quarter, halfback Steve Costello put Winchester in front on a well-executed off-tackle dive play, following the blocking of Jimmy Feeley and Dave Fariolo for a 25-yard scoring play. The conversion attempt failed, leaving the score Winchester 6-Woburn 0.

Winchester kicked off to Woburn, who took the ball on their own 40 yard line. After two downs, Jimmy Feeley (who played excellent both on offense and defense) recovered a fumble to set up the second score of the day by Winchester.

After moving the ball down to the ten yard line on some fine running by Ted Guthrie, Adam Hirshman, and Chris Rogers, quarterback Joe Donlon handed off to Steve Costello, who once again followed the blocking of Jim Feeley and Dave Fariolo for his second score of the game. Once again the conversion attempt failed.

The final score of the first half came on a pass play when Chris Wagstrom, after receiving a perfect pass from quarterback Joe Donlon, ran 60 yards for the score. The half-time score was Winchester 18-Woburn 0.

Woburn came out to play in the second half, making a football game of it. Credit must be given to the Woburn players and coaches for not giving up after being down by 18 points at half time. But credit must also be given to the Winchester boys: after seeing their half-time lead dwindle down to three points, they never gave in.

The final score for Winchester came on a pass from Joe Donlon to fullback Chris Rogers, who broke some tackles on his way to a 50-yard scoring play. In the closing minutes of the fourth quarter, Woburn scored again to make it a little tighter, but the Winchester boys were not to be denied, and they dug in on defense to preserve the victory.

This victory marks the first time in the history of Pop Warner Football that a Winchester team has defeated a Woburn team. The credit for the victory must be given to the members of the offensive and defensive line who played an excellent game: On offense, Mark Merritt, Jeff Tinkel, Jimmy Feeley, Billy MacMallan, Dave Fariolo and Joe Russo; on defense: Greg Kirk, Ted Guthrie, Adam Hirshman, Chris Kelley, Chris Wagstrom, Tom Gibbons, and Brian Guarnotta.

This game ended the regular season for Winchester. The team had four wins and three losses for the season, which is a considerable improvement over the past several seasons. Next week both the "A" and "B" teams will be travelling to Westport, Conn. to play.

Pop Warner C

The Pop Warner "C" Team lost their last game of the season to a fired up team from North Reading by a score of 36-6 on Sunday Nov. 6. The only bright moment in an otherwise gloomy day came late in the game when John Walsh broke through tackle and ran 60 yards to the North Reading 5 yard line.

Three plays later, quarterback Chris Collis threw a short pass to Jeff Ewing at the end zone for the only Winchester score. Keith Parry and David Koffman recovered fumbles for Winchester.

The "C" Team will travel to West Point, N.Y. for a post-season game on November 19. All parents and friends are invited and further information is available from Jack Korngold 729-2127.

This year's "C" Team was coached by Paul Stevens, Joe Menowske and Jack Korngold. The players are: Billy Harris, John Ockerbloom, David DellaGratte, "T.J." 5-3 record

Sachemette swimmers beat Arlington to end season

The WHS Girls Swim team finished their regular season Nov. 1 with a record of 5-3. The last meet was against Arlington High School, which proved to be no match for the Sachemettes, who won 49-28.

The girls got off to a good start, taking first and second in the 200-yard medley relay. Relay team Veronica Karp, Maryellen Kennedy, Margie Roll and Dottie Dobbins won with a time of 2:26.0. Teammates Sarah Parkhurst, Susan Kerrigan, Stephanie Nichols and Susie Harris came in second at 2:27.9.

The 200-yard freestyle saw Beth Brickley and Afaf Georgis swimming in first and second with a winning time of 2:38.5. Jeanne Cresse finished second in the 200-yard individual medley, and Beth Burns and Dobbins swam a quick 50 free, finishing second and fourth.

Divas Stephanie Ruta and Susie Gerard finished second and third in their event. By this time the score was 22-15 in Winchester's favor.

Margie Roll swam in first in the 100-yard butterfly event with a winning time of 1:28.3. The 100-yard freestyle saw Kerrigan and Marissa Gulino coming in first and third with a winning time of 1:09.4.

Georgis and Harris swept the gruelling 500-yard freestyle, taking first and second. Georgis' time was 7:42.9.

In the 100-yard backstroke, Lisa Wright and Lynn Foder took first and third, with 1:27.1 the winning time, while teammates Lennea Carlson and Kerrigan swam in second and third in the 100-yard breaststroke.

In the final event, the 400-yard freestyle relay, the girls finished first and third. Relay team Burns, Gerard, Parkhurst and Dobbins won with a 5:07.22 time, while Gulino, Melilli, Slattery and Fiorello came in third.

The girls showed a lot of enthusiasm and team spirit all season. They were led by tri-captains Lisa MacDonald, Bitser Dexter, and Laurie Grant, who helped get the girls motivated for such a successful season. The swimmers practiced Monday through Friday from 4:30-6:30 in the afternoon at the Northeast Vocational School in Wakefield.

This weekend the Eastern Mass. Championships will be held at Brockton High School, and next weekend, Nov. 18-19, are the State Championships.

Good goaltending helps Bantam AA's outscore Waltham

The Winchester Bantam AA team, with some superb goaltending by Bob Giarrizzo, beat Waltham 5-3 in a well-played hockey game at the Burlington Ice Palace last Sunday.

Doug Ross began the scoring early in the first period after combining with Bill Ferro on a well-executed pass play. Five minutes and three seconds later, John Ferullo set up Fran Murray for Winchester's second goal. Waltham responded with a single goal in the first period.

Second period action saw Ferro and Ross sharing the credit with linemate Jeff Lavey as he picked up the loose puck and put Winchester ahead 3-1. Waltham's McGiese tallied again to close the gap to 3-2.

In the final period, Ferullo set up Ned Fortin, who wasted no time hitting the strings to up it to 4-2. Waltham came back a minute 11 seconds later to put the pressure on the Winchester skaters.

With 1:05 left in the game, Fortin executed a perfect pass to point man Ed Ducharme, and his slap shot held true and closed the door on Waltham.

Outstanding defense was logged by Brendan Nolan and Steve Marino. John Boyle, Paul White, Jeff Stackpole and Tony Celli played solid hockey up front. Giarrizzo, playing solo in the absence of Steve Noble because of injury, made many key saves.

Mites hockey lose first game, 7-2

A strong Stoneham team snapped the Winchester Mites' unbeaten streak at five games, 7-2, behind a hat trick by Stoneham's McCarthy. A full crowd attending lent excitement even before face-off time, as the two undefeated teams warmed up.

Stoneham opened the scoring in the first period, but less than three minutes later, Scott Paine tallied for Winchester on a rebound off a shot by Petey Regan.

The second period was a good defensive effort by both teams, but Stoneham notched another two goals and led going into the third period 3-1.

The American League Division-leading Stoneham team came on strong in the final round and scored four additional goals. Marc Todisco tallied the last Winchester goal with 5:30 left in the game. Assists were given to Petey Regan and Timmy Day.

Kevin Boyle played a good goal, making several saves in each period that kept Winchester in the game. The Winchester defense of David Butt, Ted Dever, Billy Coppins, and Ronnie Settipane were kept busy clearing the puck, while Greg Winn, Sukjong Chung, Derek Sullivan, Matt Quill and Marc Falzano turned in a solid game up forward.

Four trapping calls were called against Stoneham in their successful effort to tie up Regan, who has scored a lot for the team this season.

The Mites have been invited to play an exhibition period against Stoneham between the first and second period Nov. 18 at the Burlington Ice Palace during the Boston Bruins Old-Timers' game. The game will feature many former Bruin players and is played for charity.

TAKEOVER NOT AUTOMATIC

When buying an existing home, taking over a mortgage can be practical and profitable. But be cautious. Don't take for granted that assigning the mortgage to another is automatic.

The lender has a stake in who's going to repay him. Many mortgages are written which specifically prohibit this practice without the consent of the mortgage lender. The teeth will be found in an inserted acceleration clause which makes the whole balance due and payable upon sale.

The bank can activate or waive this clause depending on the credit rating of the buyer.

maintenance of the property or spread between original and current interest rates. If the interest spread is great, don't count on a takeover mortgage.

Before you advertise "low int. mort. takeover", and set yourself up for a letdown, why not have us check your mortgage and advise you.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at ANN BLACKHAM & CO., 11 Thompson St., Winchester. Phone 729-1663. We're here to help!

School committee notes

New personnel

Mrs. Bonnie Poe Robbins was elected unanimously by the school committee to be director of a project in Early Childhood Special Education at the Muraco School. The program is being federally funded under Title VI.

The election is effective Nov. 1 and will cost $10,147.

Mrs. Robbins earned her BS from Georgia State University cum laude in 1974 and received a master's in education from Georgia State University in 1976 in early childhood education. She has been teaching since 1974.

Principals

The board voted down a proposal to consider the issue of a full-time principal for each elementary school for this year's budget. The vote was 2-3, with Jack Noble and Catherine Alexander in favor of it.

Superintendent William C. MacDonald noted that the issue was the one item the principals felt was a top priority among the budget issues.

Two schools, Noonan and Parkhurst, are now sharing Principal George Flynn. Most of the other principals have taken on extra administrative duties as a result of cutbacks last year in the central office staff.

"I support them, but I just don't think we can do it today," said MacDonald of the proposal. He noted that the possibility that another school may be closed within the next few years would complicate the issue. He also said the system of having principals performing other administrative duties needs another year of operation to effectively evaluate how well it works.

Committee member Constance Papas suggested that the money for an eighth principal be placed in the budget for now, "so

Teachers in Winchester

This is the first of a series on teachers in Winchester's schools. The information, compiled by McCall teacher Felicia Hall for the Winchester Education Association (WEA), is intended to relate some of the recent accomplishments and activities of the teachers in the Winchester School System.

Muraco School

Maryann Boyd, third grade teacher at Muraco, earned her master's degree in curriculum and instruction from Northeastern University in June. She specialized in reading and science-math education. Mrs. Boyd has been teaching in Winchester for five years.

Patricia Slater, a second grade teacher who has taught here for 11 years, also earned her master's this June from Northeastern, in human development.

Sue Bokil, also a second grade teacher, worked during the summer as a master teacher in the Lesley College Summer School program, held at Muraco, in which she helped train Lesley College student teachers.

Lesley Eggleing, starting her fifth year in Winchester teaching third grade, has completed all her course work and is now working on her dissertation for a PhD in human development from the Institute for Child Study at the University of Maryland.

Randolph Brumagin, fourth grade teacher, was elected last spring to the regional school district committee of the Nashoba Valley Technical High School. Brumagin has taught in Winchester for seven years.

Through Madalaine MacFall, Muraco teacher and member of the Nazareth Child Care Center, Muraco collects used clothing and toys all year for the Nazareth Child Care Center in Jamaica Plain (donations are welcome).

Lynch

Recently all ninth grade students at both junior high schools saw the movie, The Old Man and The Sea, starring Spencer Tracy, as part of the ninth grade English curriculum. Later in the year they will be seeing the Franco Zeffirelli film, Romeo and Juliet as part of their study of Shakespeare. Fran Lane and Barbara Norton teach ninth grade English at Lynch. Ted Benton and Jack Eidenberg at McCall.

that it's there in the spring when we've had more time to evaluate how it's going."

Noble added his support: "I am not happy with the setup we have now." He questioned whether having eight principals with some as teaching principals would be more effective.

MacDonald agreed that it probably would be a better setup if the principals were relieved of some of their curriculum duties. But Mrs. Papas relented. Referring to a future reorganization of the schools, she said, "I can't see opening a Pandora's Box." She added, "The right time to do it is when we reorganize."

Unallocated expenses

Monday night's vote to approve a pay raise for teacher aides throughout the system means that the school board has overrun its unallocated expenses account by $13,639, according to Asst. Supt. for Administration Jack Fallon.

The raise — $2 a day (from $20 to $22) across the board, plus a $5 a day raise for four aides at the high school — will cost $9333. The raise is retroactive to Sept. 1.

Fallon told the committee Monday that an expected $30,000 surplus from salary differentials would cover the overrun. So far this year, $48,102 has been spent from the unallocated account, including:

- $13,955 for a teacher at Parkhurst.
- $12,145 for a teacher at Mystic.
- $8395 for a teacher at Ambrose.
- $5458 for a salary adjustment.
- $3220 for a teacher aide at Mystic.
- $2289 for one-fifth German teacher at the high school.

- $1840 for a half teacher aide at Vinson-Owen.

Most of the additional expenditures are for adjustments to effect the desired pupil-teacher ratios.

Lincoln School

Sandra Barsanti spent part of the summer at Loyola University in Chicago where she studied "Diagnosis and Remediation for the Bilingual and Bicultural Student." Miss Barsanti teaches first grade at Lincoln School.

Maryvale Norris spent from July 13-30 in England. In London Mrs. Norris visited Infant Schools and attended lectures at the University of London, Institute for Education, as part of a course entitled "Comparative Methodology in Education." Mrs. Norris then toured the country, visiting colleges and universities and studying the characteristics of English private and public school education for "Directed Group Field Experience: Schooling and Culture in England." Both courses were sponsored by the B. U. Overseas Program through the B. U. School of Education, Department of Humanistic and Behavioral Studies. Mrs. Norris is a first grade teachers at Lincoln School.

McCall

Catherine LeFevre, French teacher at McCall, this summer completed certification requirements for the teaching of Spanish. Mrs. LeFevre took a course at Boston State in Advanced Composition and Conversation in Spanish.

Ted Benton, who teaches English to ninth graders at McCall, will be a group leader at the National Council of Teachers of English Convention. The Convention will be held over Thanksgiving weekend at the Americana Hotel in New York City. Benton, who has a master's degree from Boston University, has studied at Tufts, Boston University and Salem State during the last two and a half years and has completed 30 hours of study beyond his master's degree.

Allegre Atkinson took a graduate course in non-fiction writing at Tufts with Martin Green (author of Children of the Sun) in the spring of 1976. This summer Mrs. Atkinson went to Seattle to update her own guide

Reading the planets...

Mr. Spock's 'Tri-corder' comes to life

By Mena C. Paton

Imagine a satellite flying by some remote planet like Mercury, aiming a sensitive instrument at it and shooting a report of the planet's composition back to earth. Dr. James R. Aronson of 8 Blossom Hill rd. has developed a technique to accomplish this long-distance analysis using a device invented in the last century.

"I remember Mr. Spock had an instrument that could do that on Star Trek," recalls Dr. Aronson. The device Dr. Aronson works with at Arthur D. Little Inc. (ADL) in Cambridge is somewhat larger than the pocket-size "tricorder" used by TV's Mr. Spock to scan a planet's terrain. But, except for not identifying life forms, the real-life version performs basically the same task: it analyzes mineral content without need of laboratory samples.

The idea for the project occurred to Dr. Aronson in the early sixties when the space program was flourishing. He believed he could derive a set of equations that would use measurements of mineral heat emissions taken from an orbiting space ship to determine the composition of planetary surfaces.

The instrument that would make the heat emission measurements had been around for about 100 years, explains Dr. Aronson, but had never been used in this way. With a small group of scientists at ADL he developed his theory to its present form, "where," he says, "I feel it is pretty capable of analysis based on the data we have."

Dr. Aronson holds a PhD in chemistry from MIT and began his work at ADL in that field. But as a child, he had always been devoted to astronomy until he abandoned the field as impractical. Ironically, he found himself back in that area when his interest in infrared (heat wave) studies led him to the terrain scanner project.

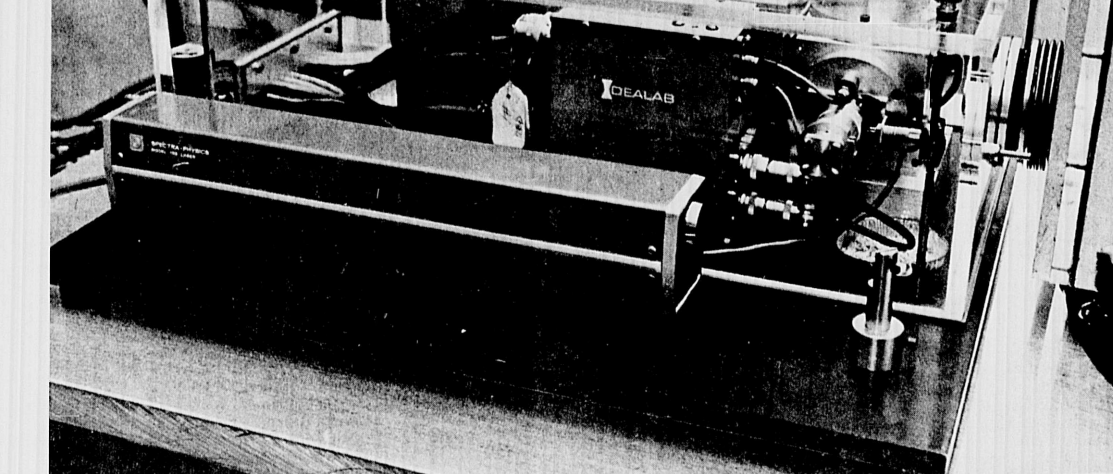

The first practical use of Dr. Aronson's technique was in 1971 when the Mariner 9 space craft journeyed to Mars. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) asked Dr. Aronson and his colleagues to interpret the data collected from Mariner 9 to determine mineral content of the Martian soil.

However, when Mariner 9 landed, it soon found itself in the midst of a planet-wide dust storm. "So the theory we had developed to interpret the material lying on the planet's surface had to be modified to interpret the content of this dust storm since the stuff didn't settle until late in the mission," explains Dr. Aronson. Based on this work, he and his associates eventually published a paper on the composition of the Martian soil.

The device which takes the heat emission measurements goes by the tongue-twisting name of infrared interferometer spectrometer. It works by measuring infrared or heat radiation from different areas on a planet's surface. Every mineral has its own spectrum or pattern of infrared emissions that can be plotted on a chart. The pattern on the chart is called the mineral's signature because it characterizes the mineral in the same way a person's signature identifies that person.

"Now pose your Mr. Spock. He would point his tricorder to a planet surface and report there's so much iron, silicon or whatever. He didn't do any interpretation, just click click," recalls Dr. Aronson. "That clicking," he explains, "is someone's computer program matching the spectrum it gets to the answer."

Unlike Mr. Spock's instrument, the real life version is not held in the hand but installed aboard a rocket or planetary probe where it takes readings from the planet's surface while orbiting it. The readings relayed back to earth are compared to laboratory models to determine the mineral type on the planet. For example, if a substance on the moon's surface gives a

This rather innocuous box hardly looks like the ingenious "tricorder" used by Star Trek's Mr. Spock to determine the makeup of far-off planets. But, mounted in a satellite, that is exactly what the device can do. Called an infrared interferometer spectrometer, it can determine from a distance what type of minerals and chemicals make up the surface of a planet. Winchester resident Dr. James R. Aronson is working with a team at Arthur D. Little Inc. to develop the capabilities of the device.

signature which matches that already established in the laboratory as iron, you could conclude that the lunar mineral was iron.

The problem facing Dr. Aronson and his colleagues is that planetary soils, unlike laboratory samples, are made of particles varying in shape and size, factors which affect their signatures. Dr. Aronson's theory takes these variables into account so that the laboratory reference charts will be meaningful when compared to field data.

At present, researchers must make comparisons between field and laboratory soil signatures mostly by hand, says Dr. Aronson. Scientists still need more data on infrared emissions of different minerals, he says, "so that's what we're working on." While scientists know a good deal about the visible light emissions of minerals, they have much to learn about the more diagnostic infrared. However, in the future, when there is more infrared data, a computer will probably have a file on mineral infrared signatures and, like Mr. Spock's device, will match up a planet's soil readings and produce an analysis in seconds.

Dr. Aronson and his colleagues are now under contract from NASA to examine lunar samples to further develop the theory of interpreting mineral composition of remote sites. For this, they are using samples of lunar soil (lunar rocks are few and mostly covered with soil) from various Apollo missions. Dr. Aronson plans to explore certain traits of lunar soil samples which distinguish them from earth samples and confuse signature interpretation.

For example, why is the lunar surface so dark? (The earth looks much brighter from the moon than the moon from the earth). Scientists speculate that one reason may be that the solar wind has bombarded the lunar surface for so long that it has reduced many of the compounds to tiny metal spherules which make everything appear darker than it might otherwise.

"This is something you wouldn't expect from any work you did on terrestrial minerals," says Dr. Aronson, "so one thing we want to do is fit our theory to whatever data we'd get from a mission orbiting the moon."

Knowledge of the lunar surface has been limited by the fact that samples could only be taken from a few spots on the moon. Dr. Aronson's technique could help answer some unresolved questions about the moon's composition as well as the composition of the planets.

Youths to fast for Oxfam Nov. 17

Several Winchester youth organizations will close the November 17 Fast for a World Harvest with a spaghetti dinner and film showing at the First Congregational Church.

Cooperating are the high school's Action '77 and youth groups of the Episcopal and First Congregational churches.

The 14 hour fast on the Thursday before Thanksgiving is for the benefit of Oxfam-America, a nonprofit international agency which funds community self-help programs in Africa, Asia and Latin America. Participants send the estimated cost of a day's food.

Following the dinner at 6 p.m. a film depicting an Oxfam agricultural project,
"Water from Stones," will be shown. Further information is available from Tricia
Wells, 729-5171.

Eight hundred million people go hungry in our world. Oxfam depends solely on individual contributions to help them.

On November 17
thousands of campuses, churches, work groups,
community organizations, consumer groups, families and individuals will go without food and send their contributions to Oxfam.

The 50-member national sponsoring committee includes Alistair Cooke, Jean Mayer, President of Tufts University, Fr. Theodore Hesburgh, President of the University of Notre Dame,
Dr. George Wald, Lillian and Dick Gregory, Andrew Young and Margaret Mead.

Oxfam has found that people work hard for change in their community when the work reflects their own needs and choices. Oxfam field directors do not administer projects. Instead they seek out and encourage projects where local people do the work, make the decisions and manage their own development.

4-year high school

Proposal would close three schools by 1980

A recommendation to close three of Winchester's elementary schools, consolidate grades 7 and 8 into one middle school, and establish a four-year high school by the 1980-81 school year was presented to the school committee Tuesday night by Superintendent William C. MacDonald.

The consolidation plan, prompted by declining enrollments, was the unanimous choice of the middle school study committee, which prepared a report to the committee outlining 10 alternative proposals. The study committee is comprised of MacDonald, ex-Wyman School Principal John J. Carmilia, and principals Dr. Clare M. Corcoran, Robert D. Fitzgerald, and Dr. Martha C. Grenzeback.

The recommendation calls for closing the Noonan, Parkhurst and Washington Schools; maintaining six schools for grades K-6 (including the present Lynch Junior High, Ambrose, Lincoln, Muraco, Mystic, and Vinson-Owen Schools); consolidating grades 7 and 8 at McCall Junior High School; and turning the high school into a four-year (9-12) school.

The proposal was presented to the school board before a crowd of about 40 persons in the Ambrose School auditorium. The 10 alternative plans in the study committee's report ranged from eight K-5 middle schools and two 6-8 middle schools to seven K-8 schools. All of the proposals included establishment of a four-year high school.

"Enrollment declines have reached a point where additional closings and consolidation of schools becomes necessary," said MacDonald, who noted that, "This is the start, but no more than the start, of discussion of this issue."

The school committee did not take any formal action on the recommendation but did set up a timetable for consideration of the various questions involved in such a consolidation.

At the next regular meeting of the board in two weeks, further alternative plans will be discussed, including any proposals from outside the middle school study committee. In four weeks, the board will hear from MacDonald on the advantages and disadvantages of a four-year high school. And after the first of the year, the board will hold at least one public hearing on the issue and discuss the cost factors involved in the various alternatives.

Chairman Robert Frank of the school board said he felt the committee should allow plenty of time for consideration of the proposals. However, MacDonald replied he hoped the committee would "act with a certain amount of expeditiousness." The superintendent said that if the committee waited until April or May to begin the process of implementing the recommendation, the committee "will be doing a disservice to the community . . . and to the teachers."

The plan preferred by the study committee also includes moving the central administration from the Sanborn House on High Street to the Lynch school and disposing of the Sanborn property.

The timetable suggested in the report calls for formation of an implementation study committee, which would report to the school committee by Mar. 1, 1979 with recommendations regarding financial implications, transportation requirements, redistricting, building changes, curriculum and staffing, and enrollment trends.

Two other groups involved in the timetable include a study committee on a four-year high school, due to report sometime during the 1979-80 school year; and an advisory committee to study possible uses of the buildings to be vacated.

Any necessary changes in the school buildings would be initiated during the 1979-80 school year, and the actual closings and rearrangements of grades would go into effect in September, 1980.

Using what MacDonald termed "the best set of numbers we can work with," the ad-

Liquor article p

Town meeting denies RB-20 zoning changes

The question of a liquor license passed town meeting Thursday night, while the zoning changes to allow mid-rise apartments in the center failed after two hours of debate.

Those were the two major articles facing town meeting members on the second night of the fall town meeting.

The so-called RB-20 article, designed to relax zoning standards to permit construction of mid-rise apartment buildings in the center, failed by four votes. A zoning change requires a two-thirds vote. The tally, after much emotional debate and discussion, was 77 in favor and 48 opposed.

At Monday's meeting, a motion for reconsideration of this action was defeated, 67-67. (See separate story.)

The area involved is less than five acres, or one percent, of Winchester's total land. The RB-20 zone is in the Main street-Vine street-Park street-Wedge Pond road area of the center. It is the only RB-20 zone in Winchester.

The article would have changed the height requirement from 45 feet to 65 feet for certain lot sizes and would have also made stricter off street parking allowances and landscaping requirements.

In presenting the article, Planning Board Member Stephen Carr Anderson said that "regulations as they are now are unworkable and unsatisfactory." He called for action which would provide "economically workable" zoning. As compensation for reduced parking and more open space around buildings, Anderson said the planning board would seek to increase the height restrictions.

As the restrictions are now, buildings in the RB-20 zone are limited to 45 feet. Under the proposed zoning change, greater height would have been provided depending on the size of the lot. For example, on lots of 20,000 to 40,000 square feet, buildings could be 55 feet; 40,000 to 60,000 square feet would allow 60 feet; and lot size of more than 60,000 square feet would permit construction of buildings of 65 feet.

Information provided to town meeting members by the planning board and shown in projections at the meeting Thursday, indicated that no buildings would appear taller than Stetson Hall. Stetson Hall is an apart-

At last session

Reconsideration of RB-20 article voted down 67-67

The third evening of town meeting finished the warrant quickly and then went to debate over reconsideration of article 16, the RB-20 zoning changes which would permit construction of mid-rise apartment buildings in the center. The vote to reconsider the previously defeated article was 67-67, not the necessary two-thirds, and the fall session of town meeting was completed.

Harrison Chadwick moved that the article be opened for discussion again for several reasons. Moderator John J. Sullivan had said before debate that he would allow discussion only on the merits of reconsideration and not on the actual article.

Chadwick gave these reasons for reconsideration: Only 125 of the 184 town meeting members voted Thursday night when the article came up. Some new material would be offered at this meeting. The article affects everyone in the town because of the expected tax rate reduction if the zoning were changed. He also remarked that the planning board did not have ample chance to rebut the opponents Thursday night and the board of selectmen were not given the opportunity to offer their recommendations.

Debate on reconsideration followed for the next hour, with opponents and proponents alternating in their recommendations.

Marion Crandall, who spoke Thursday against the zoning change, suggested that there had already been ample time for preparation and presentation. "I regret this motion is before us," she said.

Those thoughts were seconded by John T. Horn, who said, "We try to expedite town meeting and the first thing we have is a motion to reconsider."

Another opponent, Jessie Salter of Wedge Pond road, objected to "a walled city and cars and people." She said, "Town meeting has already spoken."

On the other side were the finance committee, the planning board, the seniors, who argued that additional information from the planning board "might cast article 16 in a different light," according to Planning Board Chairman Joseph F. Geary Jr.

When asked if the selectmen had a recommendation on reconsideration (Moderator Sullivan had not recognized Mrs. Hanks Thursday night), the chairman said that the board was 3-2 in favor of the zoning change, but on the question of reconsidering the article, the board was split 2-2-1.

TMM William R. Zettler urged reconsideration "because of future town meetings." He said, "We have important business and we cannot be rushed. We have attempted to rush through this important article."

Clarence Borggaard said, "I prefer landscaped apartment houses to empty lots that look like bombed-out areas."

Before debate on reconsideration was completed, Jeremiah J. McCarron made his customary move for adjournment until Thursday night, but the town moderator ruled that debate continue.

When the standing vote was taken, the tally was 67-67. Two-thirds majority is required to place an article for reconsideration before town meeting.

No school signals

On days when school has been cancelled due to bad weather, the fire whistle will blow two pairs of blasts (2-2) four times in a row. The whistle will sound at 6:45 a.m. when there is no school for all schools.

If the whistle blows at 7 a.m., there will be no morning session at the elementary schools; if the signal comes at 11:45 a.m., there will be no afternoon session at the elementary schools (these last two instances are rare).

In addition to the fire whistle, announcements for no school will be made on the following radio stations: WRKO, WHDH, WMEX, WHSR, WEEL, WBZ, AND WEZE.

Other news

Foner appointed DPW operations manager

David Foner, newly appointed operations manager, Buildings and Grounds, Department of Public Works, confidently withstood 45 minutes of intense questioning by the Board of Selectmen Tuesday night.

Foner's appointment officially begins on Nov. 28, but he will not be starting work until mid-December. His most recent employment was at a chemical company in Andover, where he has worked for four and a half years. He also has 30 years of college teaching experience, and has worked on building construction in Boston. Foner has a BS in mechanical engineering, an MS in civil engineering, and an MS in civil engineering. He is married, has two children and lives in Andover. But he plans to relocate to Winchester.

The 56-year-old appointee will be working under DPW Director Walter Tunaszuck. The Buildings and Grounds division is responsible for all building maintenance (school and town), transfer station, town garage and yard, parks, playgrounds, school grounds, cemetery, and forestry operations. Foner will also be responsible for the preparation of a budget-for submission to the DPW director.

Foner said that he is taking this position because he enjoys community work and would like to live closer to Boston.

Another appointment was made to fill the capital planning committee vacancy. John Redmond, an electronics engineer at Raytheon, has experience in capital expenditures in an industrial sense. Redmond has his real estate broker's license and is currently taking business management courses at Northeastern University. He is involved in church and scouting activities in Winchester.

Redmond, who was the only applicant for the job, will fill this vacancy until June when the committee goes out of existence.

On November 16, Town Manager Thomas Groux will be appointing Jerry Ferro to the position of recreation coordinator in the recreation department. Ferro, of 55 Irving St., has several years of experience in various recreation department activities and programs both on a paid and volunteer basis. He has been a volunteer worker for Little League, Scouts, CONCERN, and Pop Warner as well as working two years as a volunteer in the senior service in Salem. He has a BS from Salem State College.

Ferro was one of 12 applicants interviewed by a committee consisting of four members of the Council on Aging, Don Spinney (director of recreation), and Town Manager Thomas Groux.

During the "Matters from the Audience" section of the meeting, four residents of Myrtle terrace voiced complaints over the stricter enforcement of over-night parking regulations. Many of the homes in this old section of Winchester do not have driveways. For the past 25 years these citizens have been parking their cars on the sidewalk and have not been ticketed. Now they are being fined $4 for parking on the sidewalk and $2 for parking on the street overnight. The residents asked to be allowed to park on the sidewalk until spring when they will be able to put in driveways.

The selectmen were very reluctant to endorse selective enforcement of the law, although they did sympathize with the residents' problem. The board decided to take the matter under advisement.

In other selectmen news, the board discussed the new merit program time schedule. By Nov. 25, the selectmen are to have their evaluations of Alphonse Faggione, the temporary town comptroller, and Pauline McNulty, the data processing manager, in to the personnel board. The board decided to ask former Comptroller James Costello for his evaluation. If Costello does not wish to evaluate the two, then the selectmen will ask to have their evaluation deferred to early next year.

Selectmen Chairman Barbara S. Hanks announced that she would attend the Middlesex County Advisory Board meeting tonight. The Rotberg Study Review Committee of the advisory board will be submitting legislation that will dramatically change government policy in Middlesex County. This legislation will concern hiring a professional county manager and electing approximately 11 commissioners from districts, as opposed to three. Selectman Richard Wilsack was in favor of such legislation.

Another matter to be discussed at the meeting will be whether or not the county highway department should be abolished.

Early deadline

Thanksgiving deadline
The Thanksgiving week issue of The Star will come out a day early, on Wednesday, Nov. 23. Deadline for news copy will be 5 p.m. Friday, Nov. 18.

Noonan student Renee Downey takes a swing at candy-laden, pumpkin pinata at school's Halloween party, held in the school auditorium. Winners in the costume contest were Nancy and Kim Davis as Raggedy Ann and Andy, Michael Haddad as Geraldine, and John Lampassi as a mummy. Winners in the "Create a Creep" poster contest were Arlene Reidinger, Warren Carvalho, and Jeffrey Gangi. Judging by the tongues hanging out and the expressions, the pinatas were the highlight of the evening.

Ok's library repairs

Town meeting wraps up rest of the fall warrant

Thursday

Articles up for discussion Thursday night included a request for $13,500 from general surplus revenue to pay for repairs to the library roof; a request for $5000 for professional services in determining capital improvements to the library; and a request for $2500 for printing of the town manager's proposed budget.

Library repairs

Austin Broadhurst, chairman of the library trustees, asked under article 11, for $13,500 from general surplus revenue to pay for repairs to the library roof. Calling the situation an "emergency matter", he said, "The roof is close to the point where it has stopped being impervious to water."

Alice Mirak, chairman of the finance committee, said she would prefer to see appropriations come under the fiscal articles of the spring town meeting, but that "the emergency nature of this problem has been confirmed."

She also asked that ventilation and insulation be undertaken at the same time as repairs in an effort to save energy.

The town meeting passed the article on a voice vote.

Library improvements

The request for funds to engage consultants to look into a five-year capital improvements plan for the library was indefinitely postponed at the request of the finance committee. The FinCom prefers to see this article under the capital improvement program for fiscal year 1979.

The fall meeting finished its business Monday night, decreasing the length of office for planning board members from five to three years; establishing a capital planning committee; and dissolving committees.

Budget Printing

Town meeting members voted in favor of appropriating $2,500 from general surplus revenue for the Printing and distribution of the town manager's budget. Last spring the members were dissatisfied with the distribution of a single budget document just before town meeting.

Even though last year's single document contained less detail and was less confusing, the members decided that they wanted more information earlier.

Audit Committee

The board of selectmen's audit advisory committee was granted $500 at town meeting to secure the services of certified public accountants to audit the financial records of the town.

The last audit by the state Bureau of Accounts was completed in March 1974. Selectmen Chairman Barbara Hankins said that it would be a long while or possibly never that the Bureau of Accounts would get to the auditing. The comptroller recommended to the selectmen that they hire a private auditing firm.

Recent federal revenue sharing regulations require that all municipalities undergo an outside audit at least every three years. Without this audit, Winchester could lose $351,000 in federal revenue funds.

Monday

Vine street zoning

Under article 17, the meeting voted to change the zoning of 34 Vine st. (American Legion hall) from conservancy-institutional to general residence.

Coronis Equipment and Real Estate owns the property and plans to rehabilitate the frame dwelling into a double family house, according to Atty. Paul Colella.

Under the RG-6.5 zoning, which was supported by the planning board and approved by town meeting Monday, possible dwellings include two single family, one double family, and two double family. The change in zoning brings 34 Vine st. into conformity with its neighbors.

Star Market zoning

Under article 18, zoning at the Star Market complex on Cambridge street would be changed from residential B (RDB-10) to general business (GBD-1.0). This article was indefinitely postponed pending further information.

Capital Planning Committee

The town meeting approved creation of a capital planning committee and the discharge of the capital improvement planning committee 30 days after the spring town meeting closes.

The article was written to elucidate inconsistencies in the town charter. The capital improvements planning committee, authorized by the 1973 town meeting, was given an "ad hoc" assignment, according to Harrison Chadwick.

He said that the work of the committee was to bring the finance committee and planning board together to work on a six-year planning program. He further said that there has been no joint meeting of those two boards and that the charter calls for a permanent capital improvements planning committee to make recommendations to the town manager.

There was some confusion in the discussion of this article about the dissolution of the present committee. The new committee would be appointed and given standing committee status 30 days after completion of the spring town meeting. At the same time, the old committee would be dissolved.

A motion for indefinite postponement was defeated. The motions to create the new committee and dissolve the old were passed.

The committee will consist of five voters of the town appointed for three year terms by the town moderator, and the chairmen of the board of selectmen, finance committee, and planning board.

Robert Ericson, in discussing the article, said, "This committee represents a way of bringing experts into town meeting purview."

Planning board terms

Article 20 was placed on the warrant to bring the charter into line with state law. Under the charter, the term of the planning board members is three years, although members are now serving five-year terms. Under state law, planning board members may serve either three or five years, as determined by town meeting.

The planning board itself was split on its recommendations, three favoring five-year terms and two wanting to change to three-year terms.

Planning board member Otto Schaefer, although personally opposed to the decrease in term, said that the shortened term would encourage more persons to run for that office.

"On the other hand," he said, "we have to face issues that go on for more than three years."

The standing vote was 84-53 in favor of the three-year term.

Committees

Several committees were dissolved and others named in this final article of the fall warrant.

The Christmas decorations committee and the Winchester Aberjona Watershed committee were dissolved.

The Winter Pond study committee was to be dissolved under the motion. Selectmen Chairman Barbara S. Hankins indicated that there might be a need to reactivate that committee and no action to dissolve it was taken by town meeting.

The Student Government Day committee was dissolved and a new one created. The original committee was established in 1973 with the sole function of reporting to the 1974 town meeting about setting up an annual student government day.

That committee, whose function has been completed, will be replaced by a new group appointed by the board of selectmen to set up and direct a student government day every year.

Both Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr. and Town Manager Thomas J. Groux had expressed an interest in seeing this committee formed.

The committee on names was dissolved and a new one set up. The new committee will be made up of two public members, a member of the board of selectmen, a member of the school committee, and one from the planning board.

The planning board chairman, Joseph Geary Jr., asked that the motion be amended to allow a designee of the planning board to serve on the committee, rather than an actual member. The amendment was denied by vote of town meeting. Mrs. Hankins said, "It is particularly important that a member of the planning board serve on this committee."

The motion as amended to add "public lands as appropriate" to the wording. The meeting voted the new committee, which will be responsible for recommending names of public buildings and lands as appropriate.

The town meeting also voted to receive the report of the human services study committee and to charge that group with "evaluating all proposed new or expanded human services programs and bringing recommendations concerning them to the town meeting" next spring.

Another proposal in the study committee report includes beginning work on an inventory of services already provided by town agencies and public and private agencies outside town government.

★ Zoning

ment building on Vine street and is 64.5 feet tall. Because of median grade measurements and the slope of the hill behind it, the building does not appear that tall.

Planning Board Member Charles Tseckares, in presenting visual material to the meeting Thursday, said that the backdrop of the hill going up from Main street would serve to lessen the impact of the height of taller buildings. "Winchester is made up of certain punctuations," he said, "and these would remain untouched." He was referring to the steeple of the First Congregational Church, across from Stetson Hall, as well as the Town Hall tower.

A table of illustrative building heights shows that the Parkview Apartment building on Main street is 70 feet high, the Winchester Town Hall to the clock face is 82 feet, and the Mill Pond building is 63.5 feet.

Opposition to the article was lengthy. Marion Crandall, a realtor, said, "Relaxing the zoning laws is equivalent to lowering our standards. The character of the town would be changed forever." She told town meeting members that Winchester is in the middle between "residential Lexington and Concord" and "commercial Medford and Arlington" and could go either way, depending on the vote.

Town Meeting Member Robert C. Ericson said, "I don't mind changing the character of less than one percent of the town. I don't like the way it looks at all."

He added, "You have to take risks or you'll never answer a need."

Sarah R. Cincotta, TMM from district 5, questioned the reasons for changing zoning "to accommodate developers." She cited the Winchester Theatre site, which was changed zoning from RB-20 to GBD (general business) to central business.

Jessie Salter, a 27-year resident of Wedge Pond road, feared "a small Columbia Point" if the zoning change passed.

The finance committee urged favorable action in its recommendations to the meeting. Selectmen Chairman Barbara S. Hankins raised her hand to give the selectmen's recommendation, but apparently Town Moderator John J. Sullivan did not see her. He also cut off rebuttal offered by the planning board to the opponents of the article, citing previous public hearings and the length of the evening's debates.

The vote was 77-48 to change the zoning requirements, not the necessary two-thirds. The liquor license article passed on a voice vote, with virtually no debate.

Selectmen Chairman Barbara S. Hankins presented the article which now goes to the state legislature. If the state passes it, the town will be asked if it wants more than three liquor licenses issued to restaurants of at least 100 seats.

The referendum will be on the town election ballot in March and will read:

The question for legislators and for Winchester voters reads, "Shall not more than three (3) licenses be granted in this Town for the sale therein of all alcoholic beverages by restaurants having a seating capacity of not less than one hundred (100) persons?"

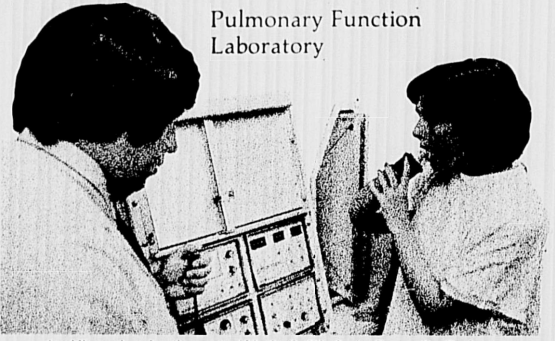

In making the selectmen's favorable recommendation Mrs. Hankins said, "The question is can the town support three licenses? I can tell you that the board of selectmen intends to issue one license and as the licensing authority can set any restrictions as to location, decor, and the like, that we want."

She added, "We do believe that a quality restaurant is wanted and is necessary to the revitalization of Winchester."

The finance committee and the planning board also urged favorable action. Minimal discussion followed, with two town meeting members indicating they were opposed to restaurants with liquor licenses in town.

With the passage of the article, the next step is to send the question on to the state legislature for approval as a referendum next March.

Selectmen

Selectmen Wilsack said that from his own experience with the department, the amount of work done was almost negligible.

The selectmen briefly discussed a Boston public hearing on Nov. 21 on the revitalization of town and urban centers. Also discussed was a letter from Governor Dukakis favoring court reform legislation. They then voted to sign a sidewalk curbing order for Olde Village Drive.

Other business was the discussion of the audit committee charge. Three persons, all in the accounting profession, have applied. The board would like five appointments including people from varying occupations. The audit committee will ultimately assist in the selection of the auditor, define the scope of the audit, and estimate the cost of the audit.

The selectmen discussed the establishment of an ad hoc traffic advisory committee comprised of residents of Wildwood street. The committee would present single recommendations to the board about traffic problems. The selectmen will try to formalize this proposal with the police department, the DPW, and other departments.

Mini-college

Every Wednesday after school at 2:30 in the cafeteria of the high school, the guidance office will be conducting a mini-college program to which all high school students and their parents are invited.

On Wednesday, Nov. 23, there will be no program, because of the Thanksgiving holiday.

On Wednesday, Nov. 30, admissions representatives from the following institutions plan to attend: Aquinas Junior College, Bentley College, Endicott College, Gordon College, Laboure Junior College, Massachusetts Bay Community College, and Simmons College.

Speak up when it counts

In the abstract, it was a reasonable question. It costs 10 times the per pupil cost of track and at least twice as much as 11 other sports. Why not replace it with several less expensive sports that might serve more students?

Why not? Because hockey has a lot of friends in this town, and it's not likely to die in the near future. When School Committee Chairman Robert Frank brought up the possibility of trading off hockey for other sports, Tuesday night, there was a score of parents there to show their support for the program.

Frank's figures spoke clearly: hockey at the senior high school costs $17,841, $8329 at the junior highs. The per player cost is $496. Track costs about $50. And the program serves a limited number of students—about 75 a year.

Of course, Winchester High School doesn't have its own ice rink, and the cost of ice time comes to about half the total expense. That brings it more into line with other sports. And the competitive nature of the game dictates that there be a limited number of participants.

Chairman Frank was looking for a cost-benefit analysis. He got one. At the heart of the issue is what the kids want, and whether the parents are behind them. A number of the kids showed up at the school board meeting Tuesday to show their support, and the parents were there and quite vocal on the issue. If you consider the level of participation in the local youth hockey programs on top of it all, it would be little short of foolhardy to suggest this town does not want a hockey program.

You could clearly hear the emotion in one woman's voice when she asked the committee, Why do you think these kids get up at five in the morning to go out and skate? They spend years working at it so they can play for their school in the Middlesex League. The woman was shocked (along with a few others) that the committee could even consider cutting out the hockey.

Needless to say, hockey remains in the budget for next year.

The irony of the confrontation at Tuesday's school committee meeting will turn bitter by spring town meeting. There are plenty of residents willing to go to bat for their individual programs, from hockey to Latin, and they should.

But when the school committee faces town meeting and the annual pressure from the finance committee to put the budget on a crash diet, where are all those eloquent speeches?

Jack Noble was behind the hockey parents all the way Tuesday. But he also tried to give them the message: go to town meeting, communicate with your town meeting members, and if you're willing to pay for a program, be it four new girls' sports or an extra English course in Shakespeare, speak up. —DKF

Week of Nov. 7-11

In the House, 19 roll calls were held, bringing the 1977 total to 592. Seven of the votes are described below.

The House rejected 129-95 an amendment to the $55 million capital outlay budget for state construction and land acquisition. The amendment would strike a $1.1 million item to build a Registry of Motor Vehicles in downtown Worcester. Those opposed to the amendment claimed another site of the West Boylston line would be more appropriate.

Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh, Jr., voted with the majority against the amendment.

The House reconsidered its earlier 131-90 defeat, and then defeated by a lesser 125-98 margin, an amendment to the House Ethics Code which would have excluded spouses and children from the code's financial disclosure requirement and replace it with a section requiring any transfer of more than $1000 to a spouse or child to be reported. Opponents argued in favor of total family financial disclosure.

Rep. Saltmarsh voted for the amendment and for eliminating the spouse and child financial disclosure requirement.

By 148-74, the House approved another amendment to the ethics code to include parents who make their home with a state representative in the provision requiring financial disclosure. Saltmarsh voted against this amendment.

On another ethics code question, Rep. Saltmarsh voted for an amendment to an ethics code section prohibiting lawyer-legislators from appearing before state agencies for a fee.

The amendment, which was approved 166-51, eliminates three permissible quasi-judicial proceedings that the code, without the amendment, allows lawyer-legislators to represent clients in. These three areas are: if the action of the government body is adjudicatory in nature (i.e. where a judgment is to be made), is appealable to the courts, and if both sides are entitled to representation by counsel.

Rep. Saltmarsh also voted for an amendment to the financial disclosure legislation which deletes a requirement that representatives disclose the approximate amounts of their outside income and the size of

Letters from readers

EDITOR OF THE STAR:
THE MEDIUM IS THE MESSAGE — A current truism that is gaining substantial credence in this age of instant communication and even faster "solutions" to complex problems was demonstrated last Thursday night at the Town Meeting in the particular instance of the proposed revisions of the Zoning Bylaws.

It is my position that by overzealous, punctilious, and perhaps even supercilious attention to the rules of the meeting, the moderator so restricted the opportunities for rational presentation and debate that defeat was effectively guaranteed.

I voted against the revision and thus was on the "winning" side; I state this in order to establish the fact that my comments are those of an unhappy winner — not a sore loser.

The subject matter under consideration was fairly complex and detailed. The arguments in favor of revision required a coherent and thorough presentation. Instead, they were given a disjointed, rushed, and truncated review with no attempt at coherence. This came about because of the rules: no more than 10 minutes per speaker, and that only if he begs. Consequently, the Planning Board gave three separate and disconnected speeches and no presentation. Concomitant with this was the lack of proper rebuttal of the often pointed and relevant questions from the floor.

A particular point that worried many Town Meeting members was the allowed height of the apartments. Mr. Tseckares attempted to cover this in his segment, but ran out of time. He had slides which presented his point of view (and possibly presented the facts); yet, he was not allowed time to explain them either during his presentation or in response to various comments and questions from the opposition.

In the public hearing on this bylaw the rules were not so restrictive. The Planning Board's argument was presented by one speaker who had time not only to demonstrate why he felt revision to be desirable but also to answer all questions as they arose from the floor. His answers included reference to his visual aids and were thus generally quite responsive and helpful in the discussion.

Allowable height was discussed at the Public Hearing, and the attendees were apparently satisfied. Unfortunately, only about 30 persons were in attendance and even fewer Town Meeting members. This suggests that the subject may not have been thoroughly debated as the number of questions varies exponentially with attendance.

Which brings me to the crux of the problem: It is clearly the opinion of the moderator that all questions could be resolved before the Town Meeting, and the Meeting could and should be limited to a brief review, followed by a prompt vote. In this way the Town Meetings would not require so many sessions and citizen participation would be encouraged.

It is, apparently, the intention of the moderator to encourage "prior debate" by greatly restricting debate during the formal Meeting. This attitude dictated the format of the meeting — "The Medium," and also dictated "The Message" — hurry up and get this over with!

It was the quest for a speedy solution to this complex problem that provoked defeat. Town Government should not be bound by the same rules that govern 30-minute television shows — get things over with so we can have a commercial!

We must ask ourselves if we would like our meetings to provide adequate time for presentation and debate. If the answer is affirmative, then we must ask the moderator to reconsider his restrictive attitude.

To those among us who feel that most questions could be resolved by better attendance at public hearings, let me make the following comments:

A. If all Town Meeting members attended all the public hearings, or made all of the telephone calls and visits to Town Hall that "prior debate" would require, we would individually and collectively spend far more time before the Meeting than we do even in the most prolonged Meeting.

B. The number of questions rises exponentially with attendance because with each new argument or point of view new doubts are generated and must be allayed by additional information. This demands response by proponents of an article and, depending on the adequacy of that response, still further questions are raised.

Witness the fact that no adequate response was given to the spoken fears about height, or the definition of height, or the questions on multiple buildings on a given lot.

I remind the moderator and the Town Meeting members that the introduction to Roberts Rules of Order (revised) states:

—"Fundamentally, under the rules of parliamentary law a deliberative body is a free agent — free to do what it wants to do with the greatest measure of protection to itself and of consideration for the rights of its members."

We should not be hamstrung by our rules.

Timorous ways

EDITOR OF THE STAR:
The town meeting made a good start in the right direction last Monday night and kept it up through half of Thursday's meeting, only to relapse into its old timorous ways before the night was over.

Article 16 was probably the most important article in the warrant. It seemed to be an attempt on the part of the planning board to come to grips with the problem of the many vacant areas around the old Bonnell Motors site. I think the planning board had finally gotten the word that the average taxpayer in this town is disgusted with the bombed-out aspect of the area and would like to see something done to improve it. Article 16 seemed to deal exclusively with this area.

However, the various spokesmen for the planning board repeatedly referred to the area as "The Center." We hear a great deal about the "center" these days and I rose to request a point of information: I wanted to know just what was meant by the term, "the center." Did it include the old railway station? Was it a given distance from the Town Hall in all directions? Or was it just that area north of the Town Hall that was then being discussed? I thought that the town meeting should know the answers to these questions if it was going to be able to discuss the problems of the "center" intelligently. I didn't know what the "center" was, and I did not think that they did, either.

It turned out that even the planning board did not know precisely just what the center was. Apparently, it had never been defined! If THEY did not know, how, I ask, could we be expected to know?

I had asked for a point of information. I did not express an opinion, pro or con on the issue.

Yet, when, later, I rose to speak my mind on the subject of Article 16, the moderator ruled that I had made my "speech" as he called it, and refused to let me have the floor.

Furthermore, when another member suggested that he would like to hear from the board of selectmen, the moderator ruled that it was too late, they had plenty of time and had failed to take advantage of their opportunity. So we never did hear what they felt about the matter. We voted without having their opinion.

I think, therefore, that the moderator, in his highly commendable zeal to expedite the meeting, short-circuited and blew the fuse on the meeting. Judging from our performance up to that point, I feel that the meeting was in the mood to start bringing about what I had called for on Monday night, namely, a better climate for business in the Town of Winchester. A good restaurant is not enough; a good bank is not enough. We must encourage people to live here and nowadays the only places where average people can afford to live is apartments.

The land in the area under discussion is far too expensive for single houses. Sooner or later we will get apartments there — if not by virtue of our own decisions in the matter, then by virtue of the so-called "snob-zoning" law. I prefer the former!

Town Watch...

Local growth vs. local needs

By The Observer

According to the Metropolitan Area Planning Council (MAPC), Inner 128 communities' expectations for the future will not materialize unless area cities and towns take the initiative toward long range planning. MAPC will conduct a public policy forum on Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at the Chelsea Public Library, 469 Broadway, Chelsea, to discuss with Inner 128 communities, including Winchester the approaches available for meeting long range goals.

In an effort to graphically show citizens the need for planning, MAPC has developed two land use maps. One, based on last year's local growth policy statements, shows how communities want to grow over the next twenty years. The second map, based on carefully researched growth projections, shows how communities will grow if present trends continue. When the two maps are compared it is clear that what communities want is not what they will get because of the lack of long range planning.

The Inner 128 communities' meeting, one in a series of eight Public Policy Forums to be conducted throughout the MAPC region, will discuss alternative land use plans developed by MAPC to bridge the gap between community desires and projected trends. MAPC intends to show citizens the implications of each alternative and lead communities to a consensus on which plan they will adopt.

A number of technical documents back up MAPC's plans. The most intriguing is entitled, Planning for the Future, which compares community growth policy desires against future trends and offers three alternative land use plans. A newspaper style publication summarizes Planning for the Future and serves as a guide to the Public Policy forums.

Copies of both Planning For the Future and the summary are available in local public libraries and town and city halls. Additional copies can be obtained by calling MAPC at 523-2458.

"It's important that community growth policy be examined within the framework of a balanced regional land use plan and be implemented," said MAPC Executive Director Carla B. Johnston. "A lot of hard and important work went into the local growth policy process and MAPC intends to take a leading role in making sure that the state and federal governments are aware of community goals. The best way to do that is for communities to take the initiative and start steps toward local long range policy making."

MAPC is the regional planning agency for the 101 cities and towns in the Boston metropolitan area.

The transfer station will be closed all day Thursday in observance of Thanksgiving. The Star office will also be closed that day.

Copy for next week's paper, which comes out Wednesday, must be in the office by tomorrow.

No to booze

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The action of town meeting taking by voice vote on Thursday, Nov. 10 was quite upsetting to me in regard to the possibility of liquor licenses (being) granted in the Town of Winchester to restaurant operators. One might ask oneself, What are we fostering? What are we asking for? What are we condoning?

It was stated at the meeting we ought to consent because Winchester is changing, life styles are changing. We need to attract business in Winchester. What else will we be attracting? Using alcohol, which is one of the biggest problems in society today, to achieve that goal is ludicrous in my opinion.

Wake up, Winchester. It is the action of adults that are reflected through our young people. We have no one to blame but ourselves for the diminishing standards in our town and across the nation. We as adults are setting up the rules and regulations for our young people to abide by.

Do we need or want alcohol in Winchester restaurants? Hopefully not. Again I urge all voters to make a concerted effort when the time comes to get to the polls and vote NO. Do not destroy our town further.

On behalf of the Winchester Seniors Association I wish to tell you how much we appreciate the Star's plan for contributions to the Building Fund for the Jenks Senior Center. Also, for your paper's participation in our Discount Program for Seniors.

In particular we wish to thank you for the valuable space you have provided in your paper for the senior Association's important publicity and items of interest to its membership.

The board selectmen have posted several vacancies recently and they are looking for townspeople to serve on the insurance committee and to the audit advisory committee.

The insurance committee covers various kinds of insurance policy for the town, including fire and liability, and auto fleet. The board is accepting written resumes at their office.

The audit advisory committee has had a couple of applicants but the board would like to see more. The committee, approved by town meeting last week, will assist selectmen in choosing an auditing firm to do the town's books and to determine the scope of the audit. Resumes should be sent to him at Town Hall.

Town Manager Thomas J. Groux is also looking to fill some spots on the recreation advisory committee. Resumes should be sent to him at Town Hall.

These are just a few ways you can serve your town.

Thirteen former Bruins players are going to clash with the Burlington police in a benefit Friday for the New England Rehabilitation Hospital. The real stars of the evening, however, may well be the Winchester Mites who are also displaying their talent on ice.

Those youngsters from our town are Timmy Day, Sukjong Chung, Peter Regan, Scott Paine, Ted Dever, Greg Winn, Derek Sullivan, Billy Coppins, David Butt, Marc Todisco, Matthew Quill, Marc Falzano, Ronnie Settinane, and Kevin Boyle.

Paul Tucci of Winchester will also do some skating with the Junior Whalers.

In an effort to serve the public effectively the registry of motor vehicles is opening the main office at 100 Nashua st., Boston, at 8 a.m. for the renewal of drivers' licenses.

The office will open 45 minutes earlier than usual and will stay open until 5 p.m. If this plan works out, the license renewal service will be expanded to all branch offices, including the one on Montvale avenue in Woburn.

The registry is also beginning a Saturday morning "walk-in learners' permit" exam to speed up what is a lengthy backlog of exam appointments.

Exams will be given at Northeastern University in the Forsyth Building from 9 to noon. You pick up a permit application from the police station or a registry office and take the form along with a birth certificate, baptismal record, or school certificate, to the NU Forsyth Building. Persons under 18 must have parental consent. There is a two dollar nonrefundable fee for the exam.

If you pass seven out of ten written questions, you are on your way to a full driver's license.

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

After years of discussions, hearings, and planning, the Legislative Special Commission on Unequal Educational Opportunities is bringing to the public the question of whether - and how - the formula for state aid to cities and towns for education should be changed.

The Massachusetts Board of Education filed a revised bill (H64) which would provide comprehensive school finance reform by combining most school aid programs and by recognizing through a system of pupil rights the added costs of providing special programs. It also addresses an important aspect of the urban fiscal situation by substituting property value per person for the presently used property value per school-attending child, thus broadening the measure of a community's ability to pay.

The League of Women Voters thinks that the legislature should act now to change the formula for state aid for education, and the League thinks H64 provides a comprehensive and equitable way to do it.

If you agree, be sure to tell the commission, which is holding a public hearing on the subject on Monday, November 21, at Boston's Faneuil Hall at 5 p.m.

En Ka: 75 years of service

By Karen Polowchena

A Winchester invalid was returning home from the hospital when suddenly her wheel chair broke. Almost before she could begin worrying about where the money would come from for a new one, she was presented with a replacement.

In another part of town, a lonely widower painstakingly perched on his chair, silently awaits Thanksgiving dinner at Mt. Vernon House, a home for the elderly. A small surprised smile cracks his wizened lips as he notices that the table has been specially decorated for the holiday.

College scholarships, hospital equipment, monthly suppers and transportation for the aged, and friendly greetings at the hospital door for patients coming in for operations are a few of the many gifts donated to Winchester by the En Ka Society. These volunteer women will celebrate 75 years of aiding the town's needy and supporting worthy causes on Tuesday.

Six Winchester High School girls conceived of this local society in 1902. At that time En Ka was a secret society patterned after a boys' club. Their German teacher helped the girls choose the motto: "Nachmachen dem Knaben" meaning, "to imitate boys." The first initials of this motto are N—K, pronounced En Ka in German. During the first year the motto was changed to, "to live up to the sisterhood," but the name En Ka remained.

Comprised totally of women today, one of En Ka's original honorary members was Edwin "The Gent" Lovering, popular teacher, principal emeritus, and Latin scholar. The purpose of the first meetings was, "to eat and have secrets" as one member described it. But early members raised money for Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners for the poor.

In 1919, the school board decided that secret societies were not conducive to studying. Members were banned from holding office, being on any school publication, and representing the school in athletics. Outraged students rebelled in the early 1920's and one half of the Student Council resigned. But despite the students' efforts, in 1928 En Ka, along with the other societies, disbanded.

The Depression swept through Winchester, as it did the rest of the nation, in the 30's, leaving a residue of poverty and despair. In 1932, at a time when charitable organizations were greatly needed, En Ka was revived and recognized as an adult society. Hester Goddu, the current historian, was on the reorganizing committee. The year 1935 marked the first annual street fair, a time-honored tradition even to this day.

Throughout World War II the local aircraft observation post kept up continuous operations. Since most of the men went off to war, many Winchester citizens, including En Ka members, voluntarily took their turns at the post. In 1944, a "What-Not-Shop" at 127

Church st. opened. The shop would later move to Main st. and become the En Ka Exchange, a used-clothing store.

By 1950, En Ka had donated nearly $14,000 in gifts to Winchester Hospital, and the Street Fair had been shifted a number of times to different locations around town. En Ka has already donated $21,689 in gifts in 1977 to a variety of recipients ranging from the printing costs of a safety booklet put out by the police department for Halloween trick-or-treaters to a fund to send less fortunate children to camp.

This year ten $750 scholarships will be given to Winchester High School students about to enter college by the Scholarship committee in honor of the 75th anniversary.

Most of the society's funds come from the En Ka Exchange and the street fair. The shop, open Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, earned $8940 so far this year. People donate clothing which must be clean and in good condition. The donor gets half the price of the item.

En Ka's biggest fund-raising event of the year is the street fair. The members sell baked goods, handmade crafts, and tickets to rides. A company which provides the rides and booths takes half the total profit from the amusements. Just the same, the fair cleared $15,439 this year. Husbands and children always lend a helping hand for this elaborate affair. Next year the Story Book Fair, as it will be called, will take place May 19 and 20. Mrs. William Rhodes is the Chairperson of the fair.

Although the group is, "financially well-heeled," according to Mrs. Albert Kajander, publicity director, their monetary contributions are equal to the volunteer services performed by the approximately 125 active members. Each member pays $5 dues which pays for four luncheon meetings in the fall, January, March, and June. But mostly individual members meet in committees.

Members are listed as provisional, active, resident or non-resident associate, charter, or honorary. There are no living charter members, but Mrs. Marjorie Mason has belonged since 1903. The non-resident members remain in the society unless they request not to be included. There are eight to ten provisional members who maintain this status for one year. One must be asked to join En Ka. These provisional women must earn 60 points by working once a month in the En Ka shop to become active members. After 25 years of service, members are awarded a silver daisy pin—a symbol of the society's flower. Mrs. Charles P. Harris is the president of this hard-working organization.

The list of good works performed by En Ka throughout the years seems endless. They are working for the welfare of Winchester in all aspects. By supporting En Ka's fund-raising activities, Winchester citizens are truly helping themselves.

Limit taxation

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The voters of Winchester have an opportunity to make a positive step towards stopping the virtually endless attack on their paychecks by signing an initiative petition which will be circulating in town for the next two weeks.

This petition is sponsored by the organization "Citizens for Limited Taxation," under the directorship of Edward F. King. Essentially, it proposes an amendment to the Massachusetts Constitution which sets a legal limit, or ceiling, on the state budget and on the amount of money the Commonwealth can raise through taxes. It prevents the Commonwealth from taxing or spending more than a predetermined amount each year, an amount based on the average per cent of state income which the state has spent in the last three years. For example, if it were determined that in the last three years the Commonwealth spent nine per cent of what all of us earn, then this nine per cent is the percentage applied to this year's state income to arrive at the tax-revenue limit.

The amendment also contains a growth factor. If personal income increases then state spending can be increased, but always in direct proportion to increases in personal income. What the amendment will prevent is state spending being increased fifteen or twenty per cent in a given year, while personal income only increased five per cent. In the past 12 years personal income in this state has doubled; however, taxes and state spending have increased over 650 per cent in this same period. In 1965 the Commonwealth was taxing 4.4 per cent of each citizen's income; this year it spent 9 per cent of what each working man earned.

This proposal is not without several other provisions to make it a truly workable concept. It specifically prohibits the Commonwealth from mandating unfunded programs to cities and towns, whose only method of raising funds is to increase property taxes. The amendment also protects the local aid fund, preventing the Commonwealth from returning less than the percentage of state revenue it returned to the municipalities for tax relief in the year of its enactment. It does contain a provision to meet the needs of a declared emergency, but under strict regulations. Best of all, the tax limitation amendment mandates that if state revenues exceed the budget ceiling, the surplus be returned to the taxpayers.

Support for this amendment has been widespread, and crosses all party lines to include such noted persons as Prof. Milton Friedman, a well-known conservative economist and 1976 Nobel Prize winner. But more than anything, this proposal needs the support of all voters. Once we have collected the signatures of almost 56,000 voters all across the Commonwealth, the amendment will go before the legislature in a joint constitutional convention and be approved by at least 25 per cent of the lawmakers in both 1978 and 1979.

Thereafter, the amendment will be voted upon by all voters in November of 1980, and if ratified, the taxpayers of this state will be able to look forward to both lower taxes and more fiscal responsibility on the part of state government. I strongly urge every voter to make this concept a reality by supporting the tax limitation amendment.

The Star welcomes letters to the editor on subjects of interest to the citizens of Winchester, written by Winchester residents. Letters should be no longer than 250 words and must be typed. They must also be signed and accompanied by the author's printed name, address, and telephone number, in order that we may verify letters. Names and addresses will be withheld on request.

Blood pressure tested for free Saturday 10-12

The November Blood Pressure Clinic will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. - noon, at the Red Cross Chapter House, 39 Church st.

Registered Nurses Helen Quinn and Ann Watson will be in charge. Scheduled to assist are Molly Davis, Grace Mahoney, Gertrude McPeake and Lou Maroney.

Those coming for blood pressure checks are asked to wear loose clothing so there will be no delays in rolling up the sleeve when the "patient" faces the nurse.

Red Cross emphasizes that there is no charge and that no appointment is necessary. The monthly clinics are a service that the Winchester Chapter renders to the people of Winchester. In case the blood pressure reading is high, the patient is advised to report to his own physician.

Residents on League committee to plan 'Edith Piaf evening'

Saturday, Dec. 3, the International Institute of Boston, 287 Commonwealth ave., and the French Speaking League of New England will sponsor a recital by Deborah Benedict of California.

Singer, actress, and author of the one-woman show, "Tribute to Edith Piaf," Ms. Benedict will revive "the little sparrow of Paris," Edith Piaf.

Members of the League from Winchester are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Banks, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lombardo, and Mr. and Mrs. Alice Mirak.

Mini-meetings at Mystic to explain curriculum, goals

Classroom teachers at the Mystic School have been conducting a series of mini-meetings to explain curriculum objectives to Mystic parents. According to the parents association, response to the meetings has been good.

The series, presented in cooperation with Principal Dr. Martha C. Grenzeback and Nancy Rodriguez, president of the parents association, provides the teachers with a forum for the discussion of scope and sequence for each level, in addition to their philosophies of teaching and their expectations for their classes.

The meetings also include discussions of general interest on the gym, music and art programs and on Winchester's reading program, along with an outline of remedial programs at the elementary level.

Notices from the school announce the times and places for the series, which runs through Nov. 22.

Break-ins break out

Police report more than a dozen break-ins in the past week, most of them occurring in the late afternoon and early evening.

Chief John P. McHugh noted that because of the cold weather, residents keep their homes more tightly closed up, which means neighbors may be less in touch with each other and less likely to see or hear unusual activities going on in the neighborhood.

This allows burglars to "move quite freely throughout the community," according to the chief, who says the approaching holidays mean there is often more cash and gift items around the house which might interest prospective thieves. Chief McHugh urges residents to report any unusual sounds or activities to the police.

Three breaks occurred Monday. One home near the intersection of Mystic Valley parkway and Highland avenue was entered through a window and an antique silver belt was stolen. Value was not placed on the item, but it was reported to be a family heirloom.

Another break occurred in the same vicinity on Highland avenue. Burglars forced a basement window, ransacked the house and made off with "a large amount" of jewelry and silver. The third break of the day occurred on South Border road. Entry was gained through the garage and by forcing a basement door. Jewelry and cash were stolen.

On Sunday a home on Fells road was broken into through a rear window at the rear of the house. The house was ransacked and jewelry and silver were stolen. On the same day, a home on Ardley was burglarized, and a television, a radio and cash were reported missing.

Another home was broken into Saturday on Pond street. Apparently whoever was burglarizing the house was discovered and ran out the back door, leaving behind a bag full of stereo equipment.

Two homes were burglarized last Thursday. Thieves removed a door by pulling the hinge pins at a house on Canterbury road and made off with silverware and a 9-by-12 oriental rug. Several checks and jewelry were stolen from a house on Prince street. The floor there was littered with matches, suggesting that the crime took place after nightfall.

Other breaks occurred Nov. 9 on Bushcliff terrace, where two color televisions, silver and jewelry were taken; at a Cambridge street residence Nov. 8, where a color television, radios, a stereo and speakers were missing; and again Nov. 8 on Winthrop street, where thieves were scared off by returning residents. The house was ransacked and stereo equipment had been piled on the floor, but nothing was reported missing.

Breaks have also occurred recently at a South Main street residence and on Forest street.

The Massachusetts Open Meeting Law says that notice of meetings of all boards, including committees, commissions and subcommittees, however elected, appointed or constituted, shall be filed with the Town Clerk and posted at least 48 hours before the meeting.

Chase leads to arrest of two local men

Two local youths were arrested in Winchester around 2 a.m. on Monday by Medford Police following a chase that ended when the youths ran their car off the road at Fletcher street and Calumet road.

Twenty-three-year-old Timothy Armstrong, who was driving the car, was charged with assault and battery with a dangerous weapon (the car) and operating a motor vehicle so as to endanger. The 20-year-old passenger with him was charged with being idle and disorderly.

A robber changed his mind Nov. 8 after attempting to hold up Salvi's Bakery at 741 Main st.

Two 16-year-old girls working at the store reported that a youth entered the store around 7 p.m., bought some baked goods, then pulled a knife and demanded money from one of the clerks.

The girl asked him if he was kidding, he said no, and she ran to the back of the store. The second girl, who had been working out back, went to the front to see what was going on. She told police that the youth dashed out the door and down Main street.

The girls described the youth as aged 16-

18, of thin build, with long, straight black hair, about 5-foot-5, wearing a black jacket and denim pants with a tear in the leg.

An 18-year-old local girl has been sent down to Framingham for observation after she was arrested twice within 24 hours by Winchester Police for violent behavior.

The woman was seen around 10:30 p.m. on Nov. 7 by police walking down a street with a bottle of beer in hand. She threw two bottles at the police car, according to the report, and police officers chased her to Converse place, where they arrested her and charged her with idle and disorderly conduct.

The next morning she was taken to court, and her case was continued. According to police, at 10:30 a.m. she was down in the center, where she smashed a coke bottle and threw two stones at a police car. She then reportedly ran across the street and shattered the side window of the police box.

She was arrested by Officers Kevin Mawn and Thomas Faulkner and forcibly removed to the police station, where she was charged with idle and disorderly conduct, malicious damage to public property, and breaking glass in a public way. All three charges are misdemeanors.

In other police news, 22-year-old Judith Rooney of Woburn was treated for a laceration and a leg injury after her car ran into a telephone pole on Cross street near the railroad station early Saturday morning.

A 16-year-old Winchester youth was picked up here in town after escaping from his probation officer in Burlington Friday. He was being delivered to a detention center.

A Woburn resident reported someone threw an object through the passenger window of his car as he was driving north on Main street near Blackhorse terrace late Saturday night.

An Oldsmobile stolen Saturday from Buckman drive was found later the same day stripped and burned on Southampton street in Boston.

Wires ignite Edison pole

Electrical wires lying too close to an Edison pole caused the pole to ignite, according to the Winchester Fire Department.

At 1:57 p.m. on Friday, Box 56 located on Johnson and Ridge streets was pulled and Engine 4, rescue truck and Ladder I responded. Upon arrival, the firefighters found the pole burning. After pumping for half an hour to extinguish the fire, they called the Edison Company. Edison put a sleeve on the wires to keep them away from the pole.

Earlier that afternoon at 1:06 p.m. police reported a car fire. A 1973 Ford was in flames on the Mystic Valley Parkway near the lake. Extensive damage was caused to the car which is believed to have been stolen.

On Thursday at 4:05 p.m. the inside of an oven caught on fire. A Willowdale road resident turned on the self-cleaning oven and the heavy grease inside the oven ignited. Firefighters waited for the oven to cool off, opened the door, and ejected the smoke.

Selectmen take stand on proposed charter changes

The board of selectmen took a stand on the proposed charter changes by the Government Regulations Committee at their meeting Tuesday night.

The 12 proposals and the selectmen's stance is as follows:

—The board of selectmen decided not to make an issue of the proposal to increase the size of the school committee from five members to nine. But they said that they do favor five members.

—They opposed a proposal that the school committee members' term of office be changed so as to coincide with the end of the annual spring town meeting rather than in late March.

—They also did not favor a proposal that the budget presented to the town meeting be that of the school committee rather than that of the finance committee.

—The selectmen rejected a proposal that Winchester reestablish an elected or appointed cemetery commission.

—They are against an elected board of public works having complete authority for developing and enforcing policies relating to public works.

—They do not feel that the town manager's salary be established within the management-supervisory schedule of the town's compensation plan.

—Selectmen Chairman Barbara Hankins said, "I don't think it's time to start tinkering" with the annual budget presented for approval by the annual town meeting. The proposed change is that the budget be that of the town manager rather than that of the finance committee.

—They approved the proposed shortening from 30 to 14 days the time between the school committee's public hearing on its budget and the final adoption of that budget.

—The selectmen approved their own proposal to change from 30 to 45 days the time before which the selectmen must close the town meeting warrant after receipt of proposed warrant articles.

—They also approved another of their proposals that the town manager not award but merely approve contracts and that authority to do so be shifted to town departments and agencies.

—They agreed to leave the timetable for preparation and submission of the annual budget as it is, although they do prefer March 1 instead of February 15.

—The Board of Selectmen opposed the last proposal that the terms of office for all elected committees begin and expire near or at the end of the annual spring town meeting.

United Way 1/3 of the way to reaching Winchester goal

Thomas F. Dickinson, Winchester United Way Community Chairman, reports that the Winchester United Way Campaign has reached 37.7 per cent of its goal of $25,499. Pledges to date total $9,613.

"We're continuing to move toward our goal," said Dickinson, "but we still have a lot of work to do. A new study just released by the United Way points out the need to meet our goal and how important it is."

The study Dickinson referred to is a new beneficiary study - a study of United Way service statistics - which shows how many people are being helped by the United Way. In the United Way's West Region, which comprises 18 communities west of Boston, a total of 228,500 people have been helped by United Way agencies, according to the study.

Thirty-one agencies reported serving residents of Winchester. Three of these are located in Winchester: the Winchester Chapter of the Red Cross, the Mystic Valley Mental Health Center Association, and the North Metropolitan Homemaker Home Health Aid Service. The difference in numbers occurs because often residents of a city or town will be served by an agency in another location, such as where they work.

The study, only in its first phase, was conducted by the United Way's Agency Relations and Allocations Department. It is based on reports from 94 agencies and covers a 12-month period ending June 30. To ensure confidentiality, agencies were not asked for names, addresses, or other identifying information.

Winchester is one of 18 towns in the west region, and one of 66 cities and towns in the Mass. Bay area in which the United Way conducts campaigns.

Harrison Chadwick, Mrs. Frederic H.R. Witherby, president of the Mass. Federation of Republican Women, state committeewoman Marian Hunt, state committeeman Werner Carlson, and the visiting presidents of neighboring clubs.

Mrs. James W. Blackham Jr. reported on the national convention of the federation in Atlanta, emphasizing the recognition extended to the importance of women in achieving results in political campaigns.

Mrs. Philip Woodward, a founding member of the Doric Dames, described the beauties of the Mass. State House and urged members to tour the historic building to regain a sense of Massachusetts' contribution to our national history.

Foreign language students find animated films help

"Student-Made Animated Films for the Foreign Language Classroom" was the topic of a presentation by Mrs. Anna Maria Mancini, Italian teacher at Winchester High School, at the annual fall conference of the Massachusetts Foreign Language Association held at the Sheraton Tara, Framingham, November 4 and 5.

Assisting Mrs. Mancini on November 5 were Maria Zappala, currently attending Boston College and Diane Amadeo, now a student at Boston University. Both women are Winchester High School graduates, class of 1977.

This presentation developed from a project done in Mrs. Mancini's Italian III class last spring. This class translated a short children's story into Italian. Cut-out figures were made, colored, and filmed and tape was made in Italian to match the film. The end result was an animated cartoon with an Italian soundtrack — a different, amusing, and worthwhile project for any foreign language classroom.

Also participating in the conference was Mrs. Susan Austin, teacher of German at Winchester High School. She took part in a panel discussion on "Keeping a German Program Alive."

Other members of the foreign language department who attended the conference were John Grange of the McCall Junior High, Leslie Hastings of the Lynch Junior High, and Nancy Gelowsky and Barbara Holden of the senior high school faculty.

Faggiano takes on temporary comptroller job

"Nothing is permanent except change and that's my philosophy of life," says Al Faggiano, recently appointed temporary town comptroller.

Faggiano came to Winchester in 1970 as a senior accountant. In January of 1971 he was appointed assistant comptroller. Now he is taking on the problems and headaches of the comptroller's job until selectmen appoint someone permanently. James Costello resigned from that job at the end of October, after nearly 30 years of service to the town.

The idea of being solely responsible for all accounting matters in town does not deter Faggiano in the slightest.

"I have the experience to handle this job and I can roll with the punches," he said. Faggiano's experience includes work with Paine Furniture Company as a cost accountant, then office manager, and finally as assistant treasurer and controller.

His educational training includes a degree from Bentley College and post graduate work as well. Over the years Faggiano has continued taking courses to maintain his expertise in his field. He also passed a state CPA exam in accounting.

Faggiano lives in Andover with his wife, Eleanor, and is an avid sports enthusiast. He plays hockey and basketball and ice skates when he can.

Although he lives in Andover, Faggiano has a great deal of concern for Winchester.

Alphonse Faggiano

Six years ago he began a system of cash management which turns funds into investments for the town. The system is still working.

"The Town of Winchester is in excellent condition as far as cash management," Faggiano says.

It will probably be several months before selectmen appoint a permanent comptroller. A screening committee is being organized and it will be responsible for interviewing and looking over prospective comptrollers to recommend to the board.

Faggiano says he intends to submit his resume for the position.

Coming events

Thurs., Nov. 17, 8 p.m. Catholic Daughters of America Court Santa Maria social at Immaculate Conception Hall. Public invited. Refreshments served.

Friday, Nov. 18, 3:30 p.m. & Saturday & Sunday, Nov. 19-20, 2 p.m. Fall production of Winchester Children's Theatre, McCall Junior High School.

Wilsack, Oehm, Fotsch make Middlesex League All-Stars

By George Parker

Last Thursday, the Winchester cross-country team attended the Middlesex League awards ceremony, at which many of the Sachem harriers received awards for their performances this season.

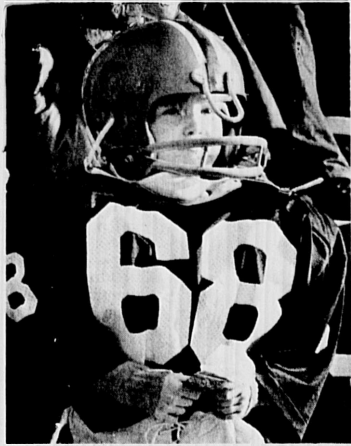

Andy Wilsack, Jan Oehm, Sara Fotsch, and Michelle DeMars were awarded with plaques for their finishes, in the top 10, in the league meet. John Baker, Joe Flynn, and Donna Senna were also commended for their finishes in the top 30 of their races.

Andy, Sara, and Jan were also selected as members of their respective league all-star teams, along with Jim Wilbur and Kathy Cullen, who were chosen as honorable mention members. Jan was also presented with an award for the five course records that she set this season.

Jan also competed in the state championships last Saturday, finishing second, 33 seconds behind Lynn Jennings, who is very likely to be the national champion. Jan was in 10th place at the half-mile mark, as she usually starts out relatively slow, but she was in second place at the three quarter mile mark, and "from then on I just tried to keep some distance between me and Darlene (the third place finisher)," said Jan.

Though she accomplished this quite handily, beating Darlene by 39 seconds with a time of 16:23, it called for great effort: "I wouldn't want to run that again," she added. This remark was prompted by the condition of the weather and of the course itself, which she described as cold, muddy, and hilly - a very difficult course to run on.

This Saturday Jan will be competing in the New England Championships, to be held at Franklin Park, in Boston. Jan expects to finish second again, as Lynn Jennings will again be competing. Then it's off to the nationals, to be held in California this year. In this race she hopes to finish in the top ten, but the cross-country squad is hoping for a one-two Mass. finish - Lynn and Jan.

The Sachems' hopes for a league title this year have gone down the drain, but this young recruit watching Saturday's game against Watertown may be dreaming of future seasons and glories.

Warriors, Knights to meet Saturday

This weekend saw several exciting games of soccer, though there was no change in the standings.

The Warriors managed to defeat the Eagles by 3-0, again showing the power of their defense and goalkeeping. However, the Knights also defeated the Shamrocks 2-0, so they are threatening the first place spot.

Next Saturday, if the weather allows it, will see the game between the Warriors and the Knights.

The Minutemen and the Tigers added another tie score to their record by ending up 3-3 in an exciting, back and forth game. The Celtics defeated the Panthers by 3-1.

Sunday the all-star soccer game was held and ended up 4-2. This was followed by a game between the all-star team and the coaches and parents. The coaches threatened the goal of Paul Williamson and Roger Baldacci a couple of times, but they ended up losing to the all-stars by a lopsided 4-0. Kevin Seully and McGillicuddy scored for one of the all-star teams, while Dave Suvak, Steve Driscoll, and Chris Parker scored for the other team.

VFW team wins 4th state tourney

The Winchester VFW Post 3719 golf team traveled to Cape Cod last weekend and came home with their fourth state championship in five years.

Eight of the 10-man team, captained by Angelo "Shine" Amico, made the cut.

Saturday and won it all Sunday in some closely contested matches on the windswept and difficult New Seabury Championship Blue course.

Roger Keefe won the low gross score on both days in competition with some 170 golfers and took individual honors. Jim Swim and Chick Haggerty won the two-man team title on the final day.

The members of the winning team were Shine Amico, Jim Swim, Roger Keefe, Joe Donald, Chick Haggerty, Ernie Luongo, Bob Sullivan, Sam Bellino, Dom Olivadoti, and John Henley.

The match was sponsored by the state department of the VFW. Plans for a New England tournament next year are in the making and the post plans to participate.

Soccer all-stars to match coaches

The all-star players chosen from this year's ninth and 10th grade boys soccer league will play the number one team, the Red Comets, this Sunday at McDonald Field at noon.

Immediately after the game, the all-stars will play the coaches and any interested parents.

Basketball for girls grades 6-9 at McCall

All girls grades 6-9 interested in playing basketball this winter may sign up Saturday at McCall Junior High between the hours of 1 and 4. This program will begin on December 10 and run through April.

Grades 6 and 7 will register at 1 and grades 8 and 9 will be held at 2. The registration will be held at the rear of McCall Junior High, near the gymnasium. Any mothers who are interested in coaching a girls team may contact the recreation department. All games will be played on Saturdays between 1 and 4.

The program, which is being run by the recreation department, will be conducted by Nancy E. Dizio and Cindy Lou Casey, graduates of Northeastern University, Boston Boyle College with degrees in Health and Physical Education.

During her past five years at Northeastern, Nancy participated in the women's basketball program and was a member of the varsity team for four years. She has been active during the past two summers with the recreation program for women's basketball. Her current position is coaching the girls basketball team in Burlington.

Cindy Casey participated in women's field hockey and lacrosse during her stay at Northeastern. She has competed at the national level at both field hockey and lacrosse and was selected to the national team for women's field hockey. Cindy will be coaching girls' basketball this coming year at Melrose High School, where she just completed her first season of coaching field hockey.

St. E joins CYO hockey; tryouts Saturday

Tryouts will be held Saturday at 10 for boys 15 to 18 who want to play hockey on St. Eulalia's CYO team.

This is the sixth year of the program but only the second year on a Midget level. This year, directors Fr. Donnelly and Dave Madigan applied for registration to compete in CYO Midget hockey competition at Boston College.

All league games will be played at BC on either Saturday or Sunday, with no evening hours scheduled.

Tryouts are open to boys who will not be 19 before Dec. 31 and who has not competed on any varsity high school hockey team in any previous year. Boys must play for their own parish if their church competes in CYO Midget hockey league action.

The tryouts will be held at the North End MDC rink and a nominal fee will be charged to cover ice cost. Dave Madigan at 30 Lockeland rd. has more information.

Thanksgiving deadline

The Thanksgiving week issue of The Star will come out a day early, on Wednesday, Nov. 23. Deadline for news copy will be 5 p.m. Friday, Nov. 18.

To Watertown

Title hopes fall as Sachems lose, 26-6

Nine down, one to go. That's about the best way you can look at it, as the Winchester Sachems fell to league-leading Watertown 26-6 at Knowlton Stadium Saturday for their third straight loss. Their defeat at the hands of the powerful Watertown football squad brings the Sachem season record to 6-3-0.

The breaks fell on both sides of the fence, with both teams recovering three of six fumbles. But the Sachems suffered more from penalties, dropped a couple of pitch-outs, and had trouble handling the Watertown kickoffs. Quarterback Don Allard went to the air 15 times, completed seven and intercepted twice.

One bright spot was a 42-yard dash by Anthony Davis in the third quarter for Winchester's only score.

But that was hardly enough, as Watertown's front line opened the holes on offense and sealed them up on defense. Scoring for the Red Raiders was by Alan DiPietrantonio, who went over from inside the five for three touchdowns, and by Tom Tracy, who dove in from the one for the other Watertown score.

Watertown took the opening kickoff, and it looked as though the Sachem line would hold, as the Red Raiders were held to one set of downs. Raider Steve Lyle carried three times in the series, and he was killed for a loss by Gerard DiBlasi on a fourth-and-one attempt.

Sachem Tom Murray carried twice for six yards, but Sam Bellino was nailed for a one-yard loss on a pitch-out to the left side, and Winchester was forced to punt. Brian O'Connor's 30-yard kick was called for a fair catch by Raider Tracy at the Watertown 29 yard line.

Once again the Sachem defense held off the Red Raiders, and after two short gains by Keith Cooper and Lyle and an incomplete pass, Watertown had to punt.

A pitch-out to Bellino was good for five yards, but Winchester was called for illegal procedure on the next play for a five-yard penalty. Back on his own 15, Allard went to the air and found Bellino for eight yards, but on third and two Mark O'Neil was stopped at the line of scrimmage. O'Connor booted again, and Raider Tracy took the kick and brought it back to the Watertown 43 before being tackled by O'Neil.

Watertown began to move. QB Pat Barry kept the ball on third-and-three and skipped down the sideline for 10 yards and the first down. On the next play Barry threw to Mark Papas for a 32-yard gain, bringing the ball down to the Winchester eight. Two plays later DiPietrantonio dove over from the one for the Raiders' first touchdown of the afternoon. Papas kicked the extra point to make it 7-0.

With just over a minute to play in the quarter, Anthony Davis took the Watertown kickoff and ran it back to the Sachem 34, where he was stopped by Bill Rimsa. Davis took the ball on the first play for two yards, but on second and eight, Allard was nailed for a three-yard loss by Mike Fucci. On third down, Winchester fumbled and then recovered. The second quarter began with the Sachems kicking off to Watertown.

O'Connor kicked the ball 39 yards, and the Sachems got there fast enough to down the ball on the Red Raider 26.

Keith Cooper ran the ball for five yards to start the Red Raiders off. DiPietrantonio advanced another three around the right side to make it third-and-two. Watertown fumbled on third down, but they managed to recover on their 41 for a first down.

DiPietrantonio broke away for 12 yards, finally knocked out of bounds by Davis at the Winchester 47. The Raider offensive line was giving him room to move, and DiPietrantonio picked up nine more yards on the next two plays. Tracy went for five on a keeper to give the Raiders another first down.

Then Watertown fumbled on a reverse-left play and the Sachems recovered. But they failed to capitalize as they fumbled on their first play and Watertown's Steve O'Loughlin recovered. Two more plays and Tracy went across for the second Raider score. Papas' kick was good for the extra point, and

Watertown led 14-0.

Dave Guarnaccia took the kickoff and made it to the Sachem 38 before he was tackled by Red Raider Rick Wade.

Winchester began to move, gaining a first down right away on a pass from Allard to Bellino, which brought the ball close to midfield. The attack stalled, however, as Davis was held for no gain and a second down holding penalty put the Sachems back to second-and-25.

The see-saw offense continued, as O'Neil made long yards and a first down on a pitch-out from Allard, followed by a 15-yard pass play to Bellino for another first down. A bad pitch-out to Davis resulted in a loss of two. That was followed by two incomplete passes and a completed pass to Murray on fourth-and-12 which fell just short of the first down.

Watertown took over, but they had troubles of their own. Despite moving the ball for four first downs on carries by Barry, Tracy, and DiPietrantonio, they were stopped deep in Winchester territory, and the Sachems regained possession on their own nine with time for only one play before the half-time gun.

Bellino took the Watertown kickoff and ran it back to the Sachem 40 to start the second half, but the effort was blunted by a clipping penalty which cost the Sachems 16 yards. On the first play Davis took a pitch-out and ran for eight yards. Davis took the ball again for four for a first down.

Papas intercepted an Allard pass on the next play, and Sachem Murray took him down, but a clipping penalty against Winchester on the play put Watertown in good position on the Winchester 33.

After a four-yard run by DiPietrantonio, Watertown fumbled and the Sachems got another break as DiBlasi recovered on the Watertown 42. On the first play, Davis broke free, dodged several tackles, and took the ball all the way for Winchester's only touchdown of the day. Facing the extra point kick, Allard pitched out, but the attempt fell short, leaving the score Watertown 14, Winchester 6.

The Winchester kickoff was returned by the Raiders to their own 31. After an eight-yard gain on a draw play, Tracy cut loose down the sideline for 59 yards to the Sachem 20. DiPietrantonio went over on first-and-goal to make it 20-6. The extra point attempt failed.

Guarnaccia brought back the Watertown kickoff, but the Sachem offense sputtered. Davis was hit by Papas for a five-yard loss, and an incomplete pass made it third-and-15. Murray came to the rescue, running back for a first down, and an Allard-to-Jack Ciano pass gave Winchester another first down on the Watertown 48.

Despite an offside penalty, Watertown held tight, helped out by another bad pitchout. They pushed the Sachems back, forcing the punt on fourth-and-17. O'Connor's kick was downed on the Red Raider 25.

The Raiders pressed ahead on runs by Tracy and DiPietrantonio, but after gaining a first down to end the third quarter, the Sachem defense hit the Raiders for a 20-yard loss, and Watertown was forced to punt.

Winchester took over on their own 46 but were unable to move the ball. On fourth down at the Watertown 49, they tried a fake kick and a pitch to Guarnaccia, but he failed to make the first down.

Watertown marched down to the Sachem goal line again, sparked by a long run by Tracy to the Winchester 17. On first-and-goal on the two, Wayne Maggio's tackle pushed Watertown back to the six, but two plays later DiPietrantonio bowled over for his third TD of the day. The extra point failed, but the Red Raiders had it sealed up, 26-6, with 3:11 left in the game.

Bellino only managed three yards on the kickoff as the ball bounced away from him. Allard immediately took to the air, but the Watertown defenders kept the pressure on, and Allard failed to connect. A run by Murray gave the Sachems a first down, and a perfectly executed pass across the middle to Davis put Winchester up to their own 48.

But, as had been happening all day, the drive was cut off at its peak. On the next play Raider Tracy intercepted, and Watertown had the ball with two minutes to go.

The Red Raiders failed to move the ball beyond their own 18 and were forced to kick. Offsides and clipping penalties against Winchester on the punt forced a second kick, and Davis fought his way back to the Raider 33.

With seconds left, Allard tossed to Jack Ciano to the Raider 15, but a pass attempt on the final play failed and the clock ran out.

The final game of the season is against rival Woburn at Knowlton Stadium at 10:15 a.m. on Thanksgiving Day.

4 Swim in EMass.

Girls bring home the silver

Winchester High School had only four entries in the girls' Eastern Mass. Swimming & Diving Championships, held at Brockton High Schools this past Saturday. Senior Kathy Conley (backstroke); Tri-Capt. Bitser Dexter (breaststroke); Sophomore Jackie Hart (butterfly); and Tri-Capt. Laurie Grant (freestyle). These four girls made up the medley relay team that were truly rated as underdogs.

Seeded fourth in this event, the girls captured third in the trials, with a time of 2:01.3, chopping seven seconds off their seasons' best.

A thriller in the championship finals, a three-way race between favored Acton-Boxboro, Lexington and then Winchester, the classic photo finish. The gold went to Acton-Boxboro with a time of 1:59.67, the silver to Winchester with a time of 2:00.07, and the bronze to Lexington with a time of 2:00.37. The national record for this event is held by Marblehead 1:59.39 established at the Easterns last year.

Tri-Capt. Laurie Grant placed in the finals of the 50-yard free and the 100-yard freestyle, while teammate Jackie Hart placed in the finals of the 50 yard free and the 100-yard butterfly. Tri-Capt. Bitser Dexter came in with the fourth best time in the 100-yard breaststroke.

Totalling 47 team points these four girls put Winchester High School in the top 10 out of 47 high schools entered in this championship meet, an accomplishment which Winchester should be really proud of.

These same four will have another crack at it again this Saturday, at Springfield College where the state championships are to be held.

Tied for third

Bantam AA's defeat Malden to win third straight game

Winchester's Bantam AA's continued their winning ways Sunday night with a hard-earned 5-1 win over Malden.

Newly-elected Captain Fran Murray led the way with four goals and an assist. Murray scored his first at 2:21 of the first period with an assist going to Ned Fortin.

Murray struck once again less than a minute later on a rink-length rush and beat the goalie with a blazing shot to the far corner. The second period found Murray scoring this third goal at the 7:05 mark on a great rush and beating the Malden goalie to his glove side. Two minutes later Malden got their only goal on a scramble in front of Steve Noble who was tending goal at the time.

The third period started quickly for Winchester as Murray scored his fourth goal at the 1:03 mark with a well deserved assist from Ed Ducharme. Two minutes later Chris Parker scored a fine goal on an assist from Murray, who worked the puck in and hit Chris with a great pass. Parker threaded the needle, beating the Malden goalie to his stick side. The aggressive two-way play of forwards Murray, Fortin, Boyle, Ross, Stackpole, Parker, Lavey and White played a key role in the victory, as well as the defense play of Ferullo, Ducharme, Nolan and Marino, who kept Malden at bay most of the game.

The goaltenders Noble and Giarrizzo continue to sparkle in the twine. Fran Murray was elected captain and the alternate captains elected are Ned Fortin and Brendan Nolan. With their third straight win, Winchester has climbed into a third place tie in the Middlesex League standings.

Baton twirling registration Sat.

The Winchester recreation department's popular baton twirling program will begin Saturday with registration at the Lincoln School.

Beginners: (grades 1 - 3) 1:30 - 2; beginners: (grades 4 - 6) 2 - 2:30; intermediate 2:30 - 3; and advanced 3 - 3:30.

Brenda Gardner, who is a former state champion and a registered NETA teacher and judge, will be the instructor. She has twirled two batons, two fire batons, flag and knife. Ms. Gardner has an associate degree in child study from LaSalle Jr. College and is presently attending Lesley College in Cambridge.

Pop Warner teams travel to Conn. for season finale

On Nov. 12, the Winchester Pop Warner A and B teams departed to participate in the "Honor Bowl" at Westport, Conn. on Sunday, Nov. 13.

Accompanying the boys on the bus trip down were "B" team coaches Tony Gilberti, Rudy Fiore, Bill Quigley and "A" team coach Art Giannelli. In addition to the coaches there were four fathers acting as chaperones for the boys, Henry Peluso, Joe Donlon, Dave Fariolo, and George Kelley.

Although both teams were defeated in the games on Sunday, the trip was a successful one in the fact that it allowed the members of both teams to meet some new people, and make some new friends, which was evident by the way the boys got along with their weekend hosts.

The first game of the day, pitted two teams that were very well matched, the Winchester "B" team and the Westport Jr. Wreckers. During the first half, which was played in bitter cold and heavy snow flurry activity, the ball kept changing hands due to the fact that neither teams running backs could hold on to it due to the cold.

Westport scored early in the first quarter and from that point on into the beginning of the fourth quarter, Westport capitalized on some untimely Winchester errors and went on to score two more touchdowns to make the final score Westport 20, Winchester 0.

Coaches Gilberti, Fiore and Quigley had nothing but praise for their entire team: Bob Bosco, Chuck Allard, Greg Fitzgerald, Ivan Adler, Steve Yammonie, Kevin Shattuck, Tom Schultz, Chris Julian, Bill Pat, Pat Murray, Matt Going, Matt Curtis, Chris and Tim Hoffman, Jerry Malloy and Dave MacMillan. There were a few boys who unfortunately didn't make the trip.

The A game which pitted an undefeated Westport Wrecker Team, against a well balanced Winchester team, started out in the same fashion as the "B" game with a numerous amount of turnovers occurring early in the first quarter. Once both teams settled down, it became a battle of two excellent defensive teams.

Winchester had scoring opportunities but Westport's defense always came up with the big play when they needed it, to keep Winchester scoreless during the first half, but at the same time their offense came up with the big play to score twice making the half-time score Westport 12, Winchester 0.

In the second half, Winchester's offense, which was led by Joe Donlon at quarterback, came back very strong, mixing the running and passing plays nicely.

The first Winchester scoring play came on a well thrown pass from Joe Donlon to Ted Guthrie which carried 40 yards. The defense toughened up and kept the Westporters' off the board until late in the fourth quarter on a deflected pass play. Winchester was driving down field, and time ran out on the Winchesteries on the Westport 15 yard line.

The entire team must be praised for their outstanding play. Joe Donlon, Chris Kelley, Ted Guthrie, Adam Hirschman, Chris Rogers, Steve Costello, Chris Wagstrom, Jim Feeley, Jeff Tinkel, Brian Guarnotta, Tom Gibbons, Dave Fariolo, Don Hoffman, Greg Kirk, Joe Russo, Pat Gill, Bill MacMillan, Mark Merritt, Joe Addelsberger. The final score was Westport 18, Winchester 6.

To the parents of both teams that made the trip down to Westport, the coaches extend gratitude to a bunch of loyal fans and to convey the message from the parents of the Westport teams that hosted our boys for the weekend, that the boys were well mannered and that the parents, the Pop Warner organization, and the town of Winchester should be proud of them.

Couples a go go

Last Saturday evening 23 people showed up to bowl. It proved to be an evening of surprises! The Rolls team is now tied with the Peerless team with eight points each!

Jill Kennedy bowled 113 pins over her average and Nancy Watts bowled 95 pins over her average.

High men's games went to Guy Pollino. 192. John Bradley bowled a high single of 182. Women's high singles went to Jill Kennedy, 157 and to Vi Vangell and Nancy Watts with 154 games. High series went to Guy Pollino, 519 and John Bradley, 512.

After bowling hosts were Al and Louise Hart.

REALTOR

EXCLUSIVE RIGHT TO SELL

When listing your home with a Realtor to sell, there are a variety of arrangements you can make. But if you are seriously intent on selling your home within a reasonable time and at the price you are asking, it would pay to consider making an "exclusive right to sell" agreement. This gives the Realtor the right to his commission if he actually sells your home during the listing period, or if another Realtor sells it, or if you sell it yourself. Under these conditions, the Realtor will have the added incentive and protection to go all-out in heavily advertising your house and showing it to prospects. He will not be afraid of bringing it to the attention of other Realtors who may have qualified prospects. As a rule, Realtors are willing to cooperate and share the single commission. That gives you the advantage of having several Realtors make a determined effort to sell your home.

Hockey debated

Girls' soccer approved as board ok's athletic budget

The school committee approved "in principle" a $20,827 increase in the school athletic budget for next year.

The approval came after a tense debate over whether or not the ice hockey program should continue. Committee Chairman Robert Frank had suggested that the $26,161 spent on hockey at the junior and senior high schools might be spent by adding more sports to the athletic program.

About 30 parents and students showed up at the meeting to show support for the hockey program, and the committee voted to keep it in.

The overall increase of $20,827 would be partially offset by a surplus from this year's budget. The total additional appropriation over the current year's budget amounts to $12,027. The new additions to the budget include:

$5000 for equalization of male and female coaches' salaries. This has already been negotiated and is called for under Chapter 622, which mandates equal educational opportunity for male and female students.

$5863 to add girls' soccer (varsity and JV) to the high school sports program.

$1828 for two assistant coaches for fall cross country and winter track. Athletic Director William Colella noted that about 25 girls are now participating in cross country and 30 in winter track, which has created the demand for more coaching staff.

$558 for step increases in coaches' salaries, already negotiated.

$941 for the estimated increase in the cost of hiring officials for sports events.

$7395 in other expenses for increased costs for equipment and ice time for hockey.

$847 for other miscellaneous items.

Colella also noted that because the Winchester-Woburn football game will be held in Woburn next year, there will be a decrease in the budget of $1405, the cost of off-duty police.

Suggestions were made during the meeting that other sports might be added. Board member Catherine Alexander asked about soccer and track for boys and girls at the junior high level; finance committee member Elizabeth Henriques asked about skiing and fencing.

Colella responded by saying he would gladly submit proposals for more sports programs if he heard any encouragement from parents and any indication from the school committee that they would be willing to vote the funds.

The athletic director noted that eight new sports have been added to the secondary schools in the past three years and said he felt those, plus girls' soccer this year, were "a reasonable addition of sports to the program."

"We're going on what we feel we can realistically get into the budget," said Colella, who commented that while there are less sports at the junior highs than at the high school, there are more at the junior highs now than ever before.

Frank brought up the question of the hockey program, arguing that the money spent on hockey could support several other sports. He pointed out that the per player cost of ice hockey was 10 times the cost of track ($496 versus $50) and that 11 other sports cost at least half as much per player.

More money was spent on hockey last year than on all non-athletic extra-curricular activities, more than on the summer school program, and more than on all girls' sports combined at the high school, according to Frank.

"No we should not reallocate it," was Colella's immediate response. "If you take out a major sport, you are detracting from the total program," he said.

Colella argued that the nature of the sport dictated that the town rent the facilities, since Winchester does not have its own rink; that the sport enjoys "maximum participation" (about 75 skaters); that Winchester is in one of the most prestigious leagues in the state; that many students play only hockey, and that the sport is a door for some into college.

Although there is no "comparable" experience available for girls, girls are allowed to try out for the hockey teams.

Superintendent William C. MacDonald backed Colella, saying it would be "a major mistake" to cut out the program. Also in support of the program, board member Constance Papas argued that the per player cost would be cut in half if the cost of ice time were not included. Supporters claimed the cost of the other sports do not accurately reflect the cost of the facilities they utilize.

"I don't think we should have 75 kids suffer for the amount of money that is there," commented committee member Jack Noble, who said the kids would be "out in the streets" if the program were cut. Noble pointed out that while most towns spend an average of 3 per cent of the total budget on athletics, Winchester spends about 2.2 per cent.

Youth hockey director Francis Murray contended that the board could play around with the figures any number of ways, but he told the board, "If you work it out, I think you'll find you're getting a pretty good deal with hockey."

The final vote to accept the athletic budget — including the hockey program — was 4-1, with Frank opposed.

★ School closings

ministration projects an enrollment of 3895 students by 1979. "If anything, they may be a bit on the high side," MacDonald added. The current enrollment is 4578 students. Enrollment has dropped by more than 1000 since 1972.

The superintendent pointed out that there are currently about half as many children in kindergarten as there are in the 12th grade. He said that US Census figures project enrollments will start back up by around 1984; but enrollment will continue to decline in the higher grades during the 1980's.

"Declining enrollments don't lend themselves to a single, one-time solution," commented the superintendent. He indicated that the capacity of the school buildings left open would probably be able to compensate for future increases. Board member Constance Papas estimated that even with these schools closed, there would still be 800 empty seats in the system in 1980.

Projected enrollments at the eight remaining schools in 1980 is estimated by the administration as follows:

The high school, 1449; McCall, 628; Lynch, 292; Ambrose, 319; Lincoln, 277; Muraco, 340; Mystic, 254; Vinson-Owen, 336.

study committee report (1976), the capacities of those buildings is:

The high school, 1500; McCall, 900; Lynch, 650; Ambrose, 340; Lincoln, 600; Muraco, 500; Mystic, 275; Vinson-Owen, 325.

(MacDonald noted he would prefer that Ambrose have no more than 285 students without renovations and that Lincoln have no more than 500; Dr. Corcoran, principal at V-O, said she could handle 365 students "comfortably.")

Of the 10 alternative plans in the report, MacDonald said the recommended one "best fit the criteria" applied by the study committee.

He said the plan would "keep the schools open with acceptable enrollments" and that it "maintains the neighborhood school concept despite the additional school closings." When asked about the alternative of leaving the system as it stands, the superintendent conceded that that would "maintain totally" the neighborhood school concept. However, he argued that such a course "becomes extremely costly" and said the result keeping all the schools open would result in duplication of services and decreasing flexibility in staffing due to the small number of teachers in each school.

Of the criteria used by the study group to gauge the various proposals, the recommended plan met all but one, the minimum disruption for the student population. The other criteria included:

—Does the plan fit the commitment to the neighborhood school concept?

—Does the plan allow for the continuation of the personal atmosphere that currently exists in our system and which is felt to be necessary for maximum learning?

—Does the plan use existing facilities efficiently?

—Is the plan economically feasible?

—Does the plan provide for a smooth transition for those children in their in-between years?

—Can the plan accommodate the student population as it is projected over the next several years?

—Does the plan provide for a fall back position should the projected enrollment statistics prove to be inaccurate?

—Does the plan do anything to eliminate or reduce the real or imagined differences between schools in the district?

—Does the plan take into account the social and maturational needs of the students?

—Does the plan unify the high school program 9-12 and is the high school facility used effectively? (All of the proposals were based on the assumption of a four-year high school.)

MacDonald contended that the recommended plan avoids as much as possible the redistricting of students already displaced by last year's closing of the Wyman School. The plan calls for redistricting for the Parkhurst, Muraco and Washington Schools. Noonan School's population would largely be absorbed by Lynch.

The advantages of the plan listed in the report include:

—People are comfortable with the K-6 configuration.

—Grade 9 would move to the high school where the majority feels grade 9 belongs.

—All of the grade 7 and 8 students would be together before moving to the high school.

—Less retooling of staff and revision of curriculum would be required.

—Present buildings meet the needs of this age group (grades 7 and 8).

—Competition between the middle or junior high schools would be eliminated.

—Uniformity of programs is highly desirable.

—Town facilities are nearby, such as the library (to the middle school).

—All interscholastics would be at the high school.

—There would be "reasonable" numbers at all levels.

Disadvantages cited in the report include:

—Two years is a very short time for students to be together in a 7-8 building.

—Two year schools have certain limitations.

—There should be consideration of transportation costs for the 7-8 level.

—Extensive redistricting would be required for K-6.

Though most of the cost figures have yet to be calculated, MacDonald estimated a savings of roughly $73,000 for each school closed, including personal services and other expenses. Savings from the closing of the Wyman School last year were estimated at $75,000-$80,000 by Assistant Superintendent for Administration Jack Fallon.

Transportation costs resulting from the redistricting and potential renovation costs (for moving equipment, for example) are not yet available.

Commenting on the grade 7 and 8 configuration for a middle school, MacDonald said the study committee had concluded that none of the considered combinations — 7-8, 6-8, 5-8, or K-8 — substantially outweighs the others in advantages. He said the strength of the system's staffing was a more important factor. He added that the 7-8 arrangement is the best in terms of the students' levels of social maturity.

The first five plans in the report are essentially the same, with the four-year high school, a single grade 7 and 8 school at McCall, and a varying number of K-5 schools with different redistricting plans.

The plan cited as a second choice by MacDonald and the study committee calls for two 6-8 middle schools and six K-5 schools. Washington would remain open under this plan.

While this alternative has certain advantages in terms of utilization of facilities, MacDonald pointed out problems with busing students in grades 6-12 together, with staffing grades 6-8 in one school, with the underutilization of Washington, and with substantial redistricting.

Other alternative plans include:

—Two 6-8 middle schools and eight K-5 schools;

—Two 5-8 middle schools and five K-4 schools;

—No middle schools and seven K-8 schools;

—One 6-8 middle school (McCall), one K-8 middle school (Lynch), and six K-5 schools. All of the plans call for a four-year high school.

Copies of the report are available for review by the public up at Sanborn House; there is also a copy at the Star Office at 3 Church st.

their financial holdings. The amendment requires only disclosure of the sources, but not the amounts, of any income over $1000. The amendment passed, 110-108.

The House approved 108-103 an ethics code amendment which reduces from $100 to $35 the value of gifts a House member is permitted to accept from an individual who has direct interest in legislation before the House in one year. Rep. Saltmarsh voted for the reduction.

The Senate held only five roll calls last week, bringing the 1977 total to 305. Four issues are described below.

The Senate refused to table by 20-11 a new draft of a bill which allows physicians to administer laetrile with the patient's permission. The bill, which was kept alive by the vote, would also allow manufacture of laetrile in the state only by facilities licensed by the department of public health. Sen. Rotondi voted to table the measure.

In a unanimous vote, (36-0), the Senate approved an order requiring the Senate to meet two days weekly as constitutionally required until enough matters are available to warrant further meetings. The order also urges the leadership to take steps to finish action on all matters and adjourn the session soon.

Supporters argued it costs several hundred dollars for the Senate to convene and claimed it was a waste of the taxpayers' money to convene every day, sometimes just for five or ten minutes informally, with no substantial work to be done. They also noted the Senate has met only 243 hours since January, which if put back to back would be only seven weeks.

Both Houses overrode Gov. Michael Dukakis' veto and thus allowed Amesbury Hospital to expand and renovate its facilities. The hospital had been denied a request for a certificate of need by the Public Health Council. Hospital officials then filed a bill with the legislature, which has the power to override the decision of the Public Health Council.

Rep. Saltmarsh voted for expansion approval; Sen. Rotondi voted against it.

Ed Ducharme, Tim Kline, and Bill Mazzarella have been making those famous clung out as they rehearse for St. Mary's CYO show, "Showboat" to be presented Thanksgiving weekend at McCall Junior High. Performances are Nov. 26, 27, and 28 at 8, with a children's matinee Nov. 26 at 2. Tickets are available at O'Neill's Pharmacy, McCormack's Apothecary, from cast members, and at the door.

Celebration of first Pilgrim Thanksgiving at Crawford

The celebration of the first Thanksgiving in a Pilgrim home in this cold and foreign land will be shared by members of the Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church when they look in on the Pilgrim family at their Sunday service, November 20 at 10:45.

The secret thoughts and beliefs of the father, mother, daughter and son and their guests, including two Indians will be brought to the congregation through the words of various early American authors, among them, Longfellow—with his Hiawatha.

This fascinating look into a home of our forebearers has been compiled and directed by Eloise Kadesch, director, teacher, actor, lecturer of Winchester and will be played by Dave Green, father; Grace Ruth Hatch, mother; Susan Doron, daughter; Kevin Cummings, son; Corey Wynn, Don Ponikvar, Donna Goodman and Olive Hatch, guests; Jim Monk and Mike Hewitt, Indians.

Committees working on the production are costumes, Kay Wynn; set, Lee Ackert; and Lisa Meyer, Tim Johnson, Michael Tinkel and Sandy Farrar, food.

The Methodist congregation will bring canned goods to the narthex of the church where the young people will sort it and later take it to the New England Home for Little Wanderers as the church's gift for Thanksgiving.

Laity Day at Congregational this Sunday

Laity Day will be celebrated at the 10 a.m. worship service at the First Congregational Church Sunday. Sponsored by the deacons and the senior minister, the Rev. Walter B. Davis, lay leaders and clergy will exchange roles.

The six-member ministerial team will act as greeters and ushers, and several laypersons will conduct the service, play the organ, and conduct the junior and senior choirs. Life deacons will also replace the active deacons for this service.

The sermon will be given by Dr. Howard Niblock on the subject, "What Can A Church Do?" Kate Fitzpatrick will be the bellringer. Bertha Blanchard will have The Call to Worship, and the invocation. The Time for the Young will be presented by Anne Thyson and Amy Maxwell. Mary Brink will read the scripture lesson and conduct the time of prayer. Lawrence Piper will officiate at the Offering. Robert Mulford will be the organist and Paul Rahmeier, the choir director.

The service will be followed by the usual time of welcome and the 11th Hour adult education session. The latter concludes a series on "Ethics and the Law" in the form of a discussion of Professor Harold J. Berman's book entitled "The Interaction of Law and Religion," led by David Mortensen and Donald Rowlingson.

Youth chorus of St. Mary's sings at 1st Friday liturgy

At their monthly First Friday Liturgy, which was hosted this month by the seventh grade of St. Mary's School, the youth chorus of St. Mary's, under the direction of James F. Proffirio, sang the following selections: "Keep In Mind" by L. Deiss, "Glory of the Bells" by A. Pelouquin, "Take Our Bread," Just A Closer Walk

With Thee, and God's Blessing Sends Us Forth.

Also sung by the chorus were the following acclamations: Penitential Rite, Alleluia, Memorial Acclamation, and Great Amen. The children in grades 5 through 8, rehearse weekly at the school. In spring, they will be the guest choir on the Sunday Liturgy from the studios of WNAC-TV Channel 7.

Churches join in service for Thanksgiving Sun.

The liturgy proposed by the Consultation on Church Union will be celebrated at the 10 a.m. Thanksgiving Day service at the Parish of the Epiphany, The Rev. Walter B. Davis, Pastor of the First Congregational Church, the Rev. Donald T. Rowlingson, associate at First Church, and the Rev. Alan Ferguson, pastor of the Second Congregational Church will join clergy of the Epiphany, the Rev. John J. Bishop, the Rev. M. Jeanne Sproat, in the conduct of the service.

The Consultation on Church Union is composed of eleven Protestant churches in the United States who have committed themselves to develop a plan of church union that each would be able to endorse. The liturgy, developed ten years ago, was designed for occasions in community life, similar to the one next Thursday morning, when member churches elect to observe special events or days by worshipping together. The Episcopal Church, the Methodist Church and the United Church of Christ are three members of the consultation with congregations in the Winchester community.

The choir of the Parish of the Epiphany under the direction of John H. Corrie will lead the congregation in singing the traditional hymns of this season, "We Gather Together," "Now Thank We All Our God" and "Come Ye Thankful People."

Public hearings on mental health set for Nov. 30

The Massachusetts Department of Mental Health is holding a series of regional public hearings in the month of November for the purpose of soliciting public review and comment on the Massachusetts Five-year Plan for Mental Health Services.

Citizens of the area are encouraged to attend the Region III hearing at Kline Hall, Metropolitan State Hospital, 475 Trapelo rd., Waltham Nov. 30 at 7:30 p.m.

The five-year plan outlines specific goals and objectives for the department of mental health for the period of 1977-1981 and includes sections on alternatives to hospital care, children's services, quality of care in public mental hospitals, services to the elderly, community mental health centers and coordination of planning with other public and private agencies.

Federal law mandates that all five-year state mental health plans be reviewed and updated annually. Citizen recommendations for modifying the Massachusetts Mental Health Plan for fiscal year 1978 are important in developing a plan that represents a broad range of interests and viewpoints.

For further information call the Mystic Valley Area Office at 894-4300, extension 305 or 346.

Five arrested in disturbance on Swanton St.

A 21 year old Winchester man was arrested along with four others following a disturbance at Main and Swanton streets, Saturday. The men were arraigned Monday in Woburn District Court for idle and disorderly conduct and possession of dangerous weapons, and the trial was continued until Nov. 30. In addition to these charges, the Winchester man was charged with operating under the influence.

At 8:18 p.m., Winchester police assisted by Woburn police broke up the group who held a knife and baseball bats, before they started fighting. Bruce Boldac, 21, of 965 Main st., Kenneth Umlah, 19, and Arthur Reed, 19, both of Medford, Peter Cinq-Mars, 24, and Kent W. Bradley, 20, both of Malden, were arrested.

An 18 year old Winchester woman was found guilty in Woburn District court Monday on charges of idle and disorderly conduct and malicious damage to public property. She was arrested Nov. 7. The case was placed on file with restitution.

The cases of two youths arrested in Winchester by Medford police were continued to Dec. 6. Timothy Armstrong, 23, was charged with assault and battery with a dangerous weapon and operating so as to endanger on Nov. 14. A 20 year old man was also arrested on that date for idle and disorderly conduct.

In other police news, several incidents of breaking and entering occurred this week. A stereo receiver was stolen at 7:25 p.m. on Friday from a Church street home. Also on Friday, at 8:35 a.m. a gold charm bracelet was taken from an Oxford street residence. Silverware taken from the dining room was found in the backyard. At 11:30 a.m. Saturday, 22 sheets of plywood were stolen from Dennett road.

2 injured in head-on crash

Two local men are still alive after being involved in a head-on collision at 245 South Border rd. Friday at 7 p.m.

John M. Otis of 23 Indian Hill rd. was taken to Winchester Hospital, treated for head and chest injuries, and released. Robert Fallon of Milton, the operator of the other vehicle, was treated and released for head injuries. Otis returned to the Carney Hospital in Boston the following day for further treatment.

Four Winchester Police cars blocked off the area. MDC Police were unable to get any further information on the accident from the two operators.

Selectmen meet

Six named to audit committee; board selects compensation plan

Selectmen Monday night expanded to six the number of members to sit on the ad hoc audit advisory committee. Six citizens applied for appointment and the board wanted to name them all, based on qualifications and experience.

Named to come up with an auditing firm to do the town's books within a scope which they will define are: Joseph Bentley, George Rowe, John H. Kuppjan, John Padgett, Stephen R. Parkhurst, and Jerry Harrington. Bentley, Rowe, and Kuppjan are certified public accountants, Padgett is an attorney, Parkhurst is a commercial banker, and Harrington is a private controller.

The six members will meet with selectmen next Monday night to receive their charge. The town's books have not been audited since March 1974.

Interviews have not yet been completed for the screening committee to recommend town comptroller candidates to the selectmen.

At Monday's meeting John McElwee, John Mitckell, Larry Smith, and Stephen Parkhurst offered their services on this committee. Selectmen Chairman Barbara S. Hanks indicated that three other persons had sent resumes but were unable to attend the interviewing session that night. Those three are expected to be interviewed next Monday and the committee would be named at that time.

In other business matters, the board heard Temporary Comptroller Al Faggiano recommend a reimbursement method unemployment compensation.

Under state law recently enacted, municipalities are responsible for unemployment insurance for their employees. By December 1, the town has to decide which of two methods of insurance it chooses to use.

The two are the contributory method, in which the town pays the state division of employment security (DES) a tax in the amount of one percent of gross payroll. After two years the tax is based on actual unemployment compensation experience.

In Winchester's case, Faggiano says, in two years the town would be paying DES $203,400 based on a payroll in fiscal year 1977 of $11.3 million and in FY 78 of $11.8 million.

The other method, and the one voted by the board, is the reimbursement method. An employee files a claim with the DES and is paid. The DES then bills the town monthly for actual costs.

In this method, Faggiano says, the reimbursement costs the first two years would be $116,900 or $96,500 less than with the contributory method. Faggiano bases his figures on an estimate of 700 employees who could be potential collectors. The national average unemployment is three percent. With 1 collecting every week an average $85, the total effect for a calendar year is $75,346 in 1978 and another $79,113 in calendar year 1979. The federal government in this system will participate in one half of the first year's costs for those employees not covered in 1977 who file claims in 1978.

State-wide, the reimbursement method has a $27 million effect on the cities and towns, Faggiano says.

Faggiano recommended the reimbursement method because "we would know exactly what we were paying for every month."

The method chosen remains in effect for two years.

Selectman Edward F. O'Connell reported to the board on the public hearing held the previous week by the government regulations committee. Briefly, O'Connell summarized the main points of the hearing:

The committee will determine which possible charter changes it will bring before town meeting. All questions of revision will not necessarily be put to a vote.

There was discussion about reinstating the Town manager responds

Town cited for curb cut violations

The state attorney general's office has initiated enforcement proceedings against Winchester for what appear to be violations of the state architectural barriers law.

The violations involve the alleged failure by the town to install curbscutes where "substantial" work has been done on streets and sidewalks in 10 separate locations.

A letter was sent to Town Counsel Douglas Randall Nov. 1 by Dwight Golann, assistant attorney general, asking for some response from the town. The letter reads, "I would be prepared to recommend... that legal action not be undertaken if the town agrees to make the required cuts promptly."

The move by the attorney general's office was undertaken at the request of the architectural barriers board (ABB), which found the town to be in violation of state regulations requiring the cuts. Since 1975, the regulations concerning curbscutes have stated that cuts are required "wherever sidewalks or curbs are being constructed or reconstructed."

Town Manager Thomas Groux has said the town is willing to go ahead and put the cuts in at McCormack's Pharmacy in the center, one of 50 locations cited in the letter from Golann. However, Groux contests the nine other sites.

"Of those 10 locations, six of them are on Cambridge street (a state road); the town did not do that work. The state issued permits and the work was done by Boston Edison through a private contractor," responded Groux.

Groux said he has asked the department of public works to schedule in the work at McCormack's. Of the other three violations, Groux explained that "there are particular reasons why we feel it shouldn't be particularly necessary."

He said at one site, at Main street and Chardon road, curbing was installed "for school purposes" but a slope was left on the corner, at Park and Elmwood. Groux explained that there is an apron about seven feet from the point where the curb begins to curve which could serve as a ramp; and at Main and Skillings, Groux said the only work done in the past few years he was familiar with was done on the Lake street side of the intersection, where cuts were put in.

"I don't think that the matter presents a full-blown legal problem," commented Counsel Randall Groux said he had responded to Golann's letter.

Golann himself said he could not comment on the situation.

The violations were brought to the attention of the attorney general's office by Winchester resident Maureen Winn, a member of the architectural barriers board. T3e complaints were referred back to the ABB, which investigated and found cause for action by the attorney general.

Dump closed

The transfer station and the town dump on Swanton street will be closed all day Thanksgiving Day. Normal operating hours will be in effect again starting Friday.

What's in it?

Is our drinking water safe?

This is the fourth in a series of articles on Winchester's water supply. This segment, reprinted largely from a booklet put out by the US Environmental Protection Agency in March, 1977, details some of the elements for which our drinking water is tested under the Safe Drinking Water Act of 1974.

That act, which went into effect in June, 1977, outlines procedures by which communities must monitor the quality of their water supplies and keep the public informed of any problems that may arise.

Previous articles in this series have dealt with the history of the Winchester Water Works (Oct. 13), the status of the existing system (Oct. 20), and the Safe Drinking Water Act and its impact on Winchester (Nov. 3).

Winchester has been drinking the water from its three reservoirs in the Middlesex Fells for more than 100 years. Up until September of this year, there never were any serious problems with that water. So why do we need a Safe Drinking Water Act?

Bacterial contamination has long been a potential problem; and for a long time, the water has been chlorinated to kill off the bacteria in Winchester's drinking water.

In September, something went wrong—whether through a failure in the system, or because of vandalism. The federal law proved its worth during that crisis: by requiring the regular testing for the common coliform bacteria, Winchester was able to spot the problem before the town's health was seriously affected.

The town tests once a week at seven or more locations for the presence of the bacteria. If the coliform can exist, this indicates the possibility that harmful bacteria and other hazardous organisms can exist in the water (such as viruses).

(While town and state officials indicate that testing once a week is adequate, there are others who feel the testing should be done on a daily basis. In fact, the Metropolitan District Commission and some communities like Woburn do already test their water every day. However, the law does not specifically require this.)

But bacteria is only one of a whole list of items the law says we must test for. Why is it necessary to keep an eye on all the other substances outlined in the law?

Recent decades have brought on a dramatic increase in the quantity and kind of substances being fed into our environment. The list of chemical compounds developed by industry for one purpose or another numbers in the thousands and increases every year. In addition, decades of pollution from various manufacturing and agricultural processes has built up the level of certain elements in our environment to the point where we must begin to keep an eye on them and try to determine what, if any, effect these substances can have on our health.

A booklet published last March by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) spells out the problem:

"Our sources of water supply are being endangered by hundreds of new chemicals and pollutants every year. In addition, some of our water treatment facilities have not kept pace with the technology required to remove the increasing amounts of chemical or microbiological contamination.

"During these same years, our ability to detect contaminants has been improving. Modern science is now equipped to identify specific chemicals in terms of billions of parts of the water being tested. In some cases, scientists can measure them in trillionths. But in case you think that such small amounts can't be very significant, keep in mind that one can get sick from a single microscopic virus particle.

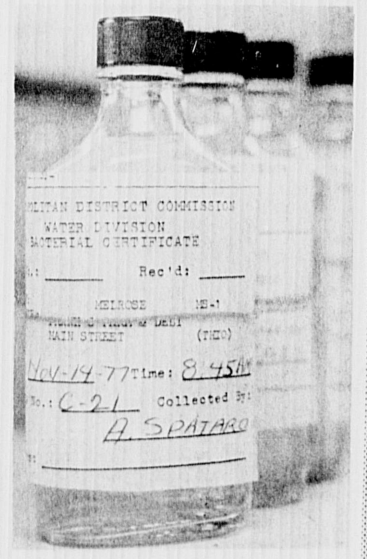

"With information so detailed, new questions arise. What is the effect of consuming these contaminants in such small amounts over long periods of time? There is genuine concern in the scientific community that prolonged exposure to certain elements, even at such low levels, may be increasing the incidence of cancer and heart disease."

But the research is incomplete—little is known about the effects of some contaminants, and for many of them the level at which they become harmful has yet to be determined. Thus the Safe Drinking Water Act standards are largely precautionary. In fact, the standards set by the act are termed "interim standards" by the EPA, because research into their potential effects continues, and these standards may subsequently be strengthened and standards for new substances established.

States the EPA booklet: "Most notices of a violation of drinking water standards (which are required under the law) will not mean that your health is endangered. The reason is that the limit on the amount of each substance allowed in

Children's Theatre review

The truth is in the telling

"You're on!" The most exciting words a youngster can hear sounded this weekend for over 60 boys and girls, and they responded with terrific enthusiasm, a lot of talent, and a fine theatrical performance at the Children's Theatre production — it's 21st season — at McCall Junior High School.

The program included three folk tales: "Hunting for Fire," "Master and Two Servants," and "Snow Maiden," plus a charming dance interlude with music by Bartok.

The first folk tale, "Hunting for Fire," was performed by a group of children turned into animals who recreated the American Indian tale of the theft of fire from the Wind People and the disastrous results when the fire was dropped by Coyote on the way home.

Fine acting jobs were turned in by: Tom Hanlong, Medicine Man; Mike Trabucco, Red Hawk (with Billy Worthen as understudy); Kristin Rothman, Fox; T.J. Foley, Mole; Kenneth Cummings - Weasel; Nancy Phalen, Wolf (with Michael Trabucco as understudy); Laura Guild as Red Sandpiper; Indians: Stephen Biggs, Mone Rowan, Gabrielle Tolentino, Beth Davidson, Kathy Scully, Peter Allison; Julianne Brackett, Rabbit; David Ducharme, Bear (with Tony Fortunati as understudy); Jay Barbuto or Stephen Meade as Coyote and Coyote's Brother; and as Wind People: Eric Pharo, Patrice Costello, Linda Guild, Heather Pomeroy, Bill Worthen, Vanessa Biggs, Tony Fortunati, Jennifer Potter, and Dustine Barbuto; Kenneth Barclay as the Spider.

The second folk tale was performed by the junior high school aged group and told the Armenian folk tale about the greedy Master who sought to cheat his servants and was outwitted by one of them and left poorer than before.

Appearing in this tale were: Kathy Scully as the Mother, Gabrielle Tolentino as Brother Dickran, Peter Allison as Brother Aram, Michael Trabucco as Brother Arsen, Tom Hanlon (Peter Allison, understudy) as the Master, Levon, Beth Davidson as Madame Levart, Christopher Harrington (Peter Allison, understudy) as the servant Abdul, Bill Worthen as the Shepherd, Missy Meade as the Baker's Wife, Bill Worthen as the Baker, Jonathan Stein (Jay Barbuto, understudy) as the Merchant, Missy Meade as the in-law wife, Sena; Jonathan Stein (Tony Fortunati, understudy) as the in-law husband Zareh; and Kim Lovins as the child Arsha.

The older group did a fine job of presenting the story, including effective use of the stage and attention to blocking and basic movement. The audience was very attentive because they could hear the lines being spoken and follow the story.

The third segment was the dance interlude, a nicely choreographed series of short children's pieces based on music by Bela Bartok. The children danced with enthusiasm but also with discipline, and they were a delight to see.

A singing group followed, coming down the aisle and opening the Snow Maiden segment by singing a folk song very nicely. In the singing group were: Heather Quigley, Victoria Ryer, Dustine Barbuto, Laura Jacobs, Kathy Kingsbury, Christine Wiseman, Caroline Reich, Lisa Marie Ward, Iris Fischer, Maura Loony, Danielle DiDio, Dana McClintock, David Ducharme.

The final folk tale was a Russian fable, "The Snow Maiden." This is the story of the young girl formed from snow who melts away when her earth parents cheat the fox who brings her home safely from the forest.

This story featured the Snow Maiden, Lisa Pomeroy, who with many peasant children in charming costumes, danced and filled the stage with movement and color. Young actors and actresses in this tale were: Old Man, Tom Hanlong (or Jonathan Stein); Old Woman,

The staff of the Children's Theatre is to be congratulated for once again presenting a production that not only entertained the audience but also allowed the children in the cast to work out and present their own dialogue, which is never exactly the same but always covers the essential ingredients of the story — and have creative experience in acting, dancing, painting sets, and singing. The costumes, sets and lighting contributed much to the total effect of the plays and were in keeping with the theme and scope of the production. Staff members included: Elaine Garoyan Kasparian, director; Carlene Samoiloff, producer and artistic advisor; Celia Schneider, choreographer; Joan Kingsbury, special choral; Rosemary Tolentino, body training; Loretta Pharo, body training; Randy Love, pianist; Mary Witham, music advisor; costumes - Ellen Quigley, Lois Lovens, Susan Guild, Bettina Trabucco, Jean Grote, Eva White, Nuala Ward, Barbara Potter; props - Barbara Potter; printing - Francine Foley; volunteer coordinator - Ina Rowan; make-up - Eleanor Barbuto and Carlene Samoiloff; publicity - Sandy Pomeroy; ticket co-chairmen - Barbara Fisher and Helga Biggs; treasurer - Ralph Hatch; stage advisor - Neil Gillis; Student crew - Christ Griffith, stage manager; Carl Diocco, Jim Cullen, Max Kreifeldt, Scott McGovern, Paul Bacci, David Krikorian. The Children's Theatre could not function without the hundreds and hundreds of hours of volunteer help offered freely by those who have seen it in action and realize what a fine and unusual opportunity it is for our children to experience the joy of creative drama. The children who participated should be proud of their contributions to the production. They did a fine job and we all congratulate them! — Carol Davidson

Don R. Snyder and his Odyssey Puppets are returning to present a show at the Winchester Public Library Dec. 1 at 3:30 p.m. The Odyssey Puppets will present two legends from Poland, "Basilisk" and "Queen Kinga's Dowry."

An emphasis will be placed on participation between the characters and the children. Special appearances will also be made by Whiskers, Cassidy and Mr. What'sis, whom many boys and girls may remember from previous performances.

This troupe has performed at Boston's Summerthing and has just entranced audiences at Hynes Auditorium as part of the Whole World Celebration.

All children 4 to 12 years old are invited to attend. Admission is free on a first-come basis, and it is requested that pre-school youngsters be accompanied by a parent.

Woman, 81 drowns in Mill Pond

The body of an 81-year-old Winchester woman who apparently drowned herself was taken from the Mill Pond Saturday morning.

Neil Petrocelli, an employee of Wilson's Upholstery Shop on Converse place, discovered the body of Marjorie A. Ford of 158 Mt. Vernon st. at the upper edge of the falls at 7:45 a.m. while he was on his way to work.

Mrs. Ford was the wife of the late Horace Ford, for many years proprietor of Horace Ford's Restaurant on Winchester terrace and a former professional baseball player with the Boston Red Sox.

Petrocelli reported the discovery to the police. Five men responded, including Officer Lawrence Hill, investigating officer at the scene, Sgt. Angelo Amico, Off. Francis Manzie, Off. Richard Anselmo, and off-duty Off. James Gallant.

Dr. Soybell, the county medical examiner, ordered an autopsy, which was performed by the state pathologist, Dr. Katsas. The medical examiner labeled the death a suicide.

Suicide notes were discovered in Mrs. Ford's apartment addressed to her next door neighbors and to a cousin living in Stoneham.

The body, which was not identified for several hours, was transported from the Mill Pond to the Lane Funeral Home. Police said they believed the body had not been in the water for longer than overnight.

The police called nursing homes in the area and checked out unfamiliar cars parked in the square in the hope of identifying the body. Eventually the notes were discovered in Mrs. Ford's apartment, and the body was identified by Rep. Sherman Saltmarsh, who owns the building, and the husband of Mrs. Ford's cousin.

Inspectors William Nash and Richard Beaton of the Winchester Police Department are investigating the incident. Lt. James Ogan said there is no evidence of foul play at this point.

A funeral service for Mrs. Ford was held Tuesday afternoon at the Norris Funeral Home. Burial was at Wildwood Cemetery.

cemetery commission. O'Connell reported that Clara Hewis and Michael Saraco were particularly vehement on this point.

Regarding an expansion in the number of school committee members, O'Connell reported to the board that the finance committee asked for six or seven members, Harrison Chadwick for nine, Clara Hewis and Robert Ericson for no increase.

Another item was the possible creation of a public works commission, sponsored by Miss Hewis.

The public hearing did not conclude Wednesday and another one is scheduled for December 6.

Barbara S. Hanks reported on last week's Middlesex County Advisory Board meeting, at which there was strong support for abolishing the county system of government.

She said that the Senate has cut $1 million from the county budget, effectively cutting out the county highway system. The legislature has not yet passed the county budget and so the towns have not paid their assessments.

In addition, with the court reform bill up in the air, there is another impetus to abolish county government.

Mrs. Hanks said, "In the next couple of years, there may be a movement to abolish counties. Opposition to this movement may come from the western part of the state where counties are healthier and governments do things on a county level much more than they do in a county like Middlesex, for example."

She cited county-level councils on aging and libraries as examples of the scope of activities which can be taken on by county rather than town governments.

Selectman Edward F. O'Connell remarked, "Massachusetts is out of step with the rest of the country, where county governments are important."

In other action, selectmen decided to wait for former Town Comptroller James Costello's return from Ireland before conducting performance reviews of the temporary comptroller and the data processing manager. Costello's extended absence will not affect possible raises which the personnel board might give to these positions.

The board also approved club licenses for Aberjona Civic Association (Sons of Italy), Aberjona Post 3719 (VFW), Christopher Columbus, Winchester Lodge of Elks 1445, and 210 Building Association (Knights of Columbus).

Other matters before the board included approval of a pole relocation on River street in front of the Wire Belt Company to the lot line abutting the Diamond Antenna and Microwave Company.

Also approved was installation of a 3500 lumen mercury vapor lamp on pole 129-7 Robinhood road, in response to a request from residents.

Monthly auxiliary social is Monday

The Aberjona Ladies Auxiliary Number 3719, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will hold its monthly social at the post quarters on River street, Monday evening at 8.

Chairmen Connie O'Kane and Marian Wright invite the public. Refreshments will be served.

Noonan bazaar is next weekend

Noonan School Parents Association, under the direction of Mrs. Tina MacArthur, will be sponsoring a Holiday Bazaar on Friday, December 2 from 7-9 pm and Saturday, December 3 from 10-2 pm in the Noonan School Auditorium, Hemingway Street.

They will be having many specialty tables such as jewelry table, children's table, home-baked goodies and jams, hand-made knitted goods, Christmas decorations, white elephant. There will also be prizes awarded. As a special treat for the children, Santa will be present and also a photographer for taking pictures.

Thanks for what?

It's not so hard to find the bad news — it's usually plastered all over the front page. Bad news has a way of making big headlines — it happens suddenly and affects a lot of people.

The reason for the attraction of bad news is difficult to pin down. Perhaps our innate skepticism allows us to relish the fact that something has gone wrong, and that we were right about the scoundrels all along. Then again, perhaps bad news is news because for most people, life ambles along most of the time like a contented cow who doesn't know any better, roused from her pastoral ambivalence only by an occasional bee on the rampage. Maybe it's simply the dramatic appeal.

Of course, the headlines aren't always about bad news. Some random examples from the past year:

— The tax rate went down 20 cents; and since then, the fiscal year-end balance shows Winchester to be in pretty good financial shape. Money in the bank is always good news.

— The teachers' contract was settled. That may not seem like a lot to shout about, but it put not a few people at ease, and there's nothing bad about teachers having one less thing to worry about and more mental energy to apply to the educational tasks at hand.

— The fall town meeting ended in three nights. That was a bit quick for some, but for the most part the meeting was handled expeditiously. Attendance was good, most of the members seemed to have done their homework, and the business at hand was taken care of without too much loss of sleep.

— Vandalism in the schools, particularly at the high school, has decreased dramatically from previous years. The related costs were cut in half during the last school year from the year before, and the early returns this year indicate that the decline is continuing.

But even behind all the bigger headlines, on the inside pages, there's a steady stream of good news. It's not as dramatic, and it usually doesn't have as immediate an effect on large groups of people. But it's there.

Sometimes it involves the continuing efforts of dedicated groups of citizens working for a common goal. For example, the seniors' center downtown, no more than wishful thinking 18 months ago, sits there off Mt. Vernon street, a reality in wood and brick and glass. If all goes well, it should be opened by the first of the year (though we hear they could use some furniture).

Another example: the human services committee established last spring has been meeting twice a month and is compiling information for a comprehensive directory of available services for Winchester residents. That in itself could help avert a lot of bad news.

There are other examples of quiet success around: the youth job clearing house was set up through the senior service line; two dances for high school students sponsored by the recreation department this fall have come off with little evidence of trouble, and more programs — perhaps even a permanent drop-in center and a community center — are in the works; and after some haggling over the years, town meeting finally acknowledged that those who lost their lives in Korea and Vietnam deserve a place of their own on the honor roll beside Town Hall and voted money for two new additions.

Then there are the individual efforts — the three and four paragraph stories that fill in all the nooks and crannies of the paper every week, the stories that keep coming in all year round.

The judges at a state competition rate the Winchester High School Band as "excellent." Jan Oehm wins the state cross country race, and along with two teammates is chosen a Middlesex League All-star. The VFW Golf team, the high school math team, and the four girls who race in the medley relay for the high school swim team all bring home their prizes.

And there are the graduates, the dean's list students, those who get promoted or complete a course, win an essay contest or earn honor and distinction for doing what they do.

Whatever the bad news headlines have to say, there's a continual flow of good things going on, less conspicuously, quietly, and in the long run, with a lot more impact. At least we have that to be thankful for. — DKF

Compliments

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The Fall Town Meeting has just been dissolved after spending three sessions on a multiplicity of problems. I would like to compliment the moderator for his expeditious handling of the discussion on the complex RB20 zoning article on Thursday, November 10.

I was disturbed at the public comments made by certain town meeting members on the way the debate on Article 16 was handled. This criticism came to light during the discussion Monday, November 14, on a motion for reconsideration of Article 16.

If the town meeting members had done their job by attending and participating in the public hearings which were held as prescribed in the Charter, the redundant questions and comments at Town Meeting would have been minimized.

The Town of Winchester is not being represented as it should be at Town Meeting due in part to the lengthy discussions that have gone on at Town Meeting. This is evident by the relatively low attendance coupled with the difficulty of getting and maintaining a full complement of members in each precinct.

Town Meeting is for decision making, not redundant speech making.

I applaud the moderator's efforts to conduct Town Meeting in a business-like manner and urge him to continue his efforts so that more people will be interested in participating.

Squirreled away?

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I believe that there may be fewer gray squirrels around this year to pester us at our bird feeders. Now that the leaves are down and visibility improved, I find that I can see only one nest in the bare tree tops visible from any window of my house. Other years I could locate six or seven.

I have a large hickory tree on my lawn and the squirrels are welcome to all the nuts that they can find. I do not begrudge them a single one, but I do object when they spurn the nuts and insist upon the right to sit in the middle of my feeder day after day, chomping away at all the sunflower seeds that I have set out for the birds. The birds cannot eat the nuts but the squirrels can. Why do they have to be so greedy?

At any rate, I hope that one little fellow, who has proved himself to be much smarter than I am, has gone away for good. He and I have fought a battle of wits for several seasons and he has always won. After all, he has nothing else to do all day long but try to outwit me.

Town Watch...

Selectmen raising cane

By The Observer

The old Boston Post cane has been found! A long time ago, the now-defunct newspaper gave out one hundred elegant walking sticks to be distributed to the oldest resident of a town.

For a while Winchester's cane had been missing but last week, beneath the books and papers in the Town Hall safe, it was located and brought out into the open.

The selectmen now are wondering just what to do with it. They could give it to the oldest resident. The council on aging has already offered to help locate that person. Or they could mount the rare cane and give a replica to the oldest resident.

Any suggestions?

If you've never perambulated the Medford-Winchester line and you'd like to take part in this centuries-old method of determining boundaries, join selectmen Harry Chelaro and the town engineer on Tuesday, Dec. 6 at 10.

They will walk the line, so to speak, with officials from the city of Medford.

Register of Motor Vehicles, Alan A. Mackey, has invited a pilot program that extends the hours during which a photo driver's license may be renewed at the Registry of Motor Vehicles, 1 Hill street, Woburn.

The Registry office at Woburn will open Monday through Friday at 8 a.m. instead of the usual 8:45 a.m. For the present, the earlier opening time will be devoted solely to the processing of driver license renewals.

8:00 — 8:45 a.m., Photo license renewals only;

8:45 a.m. — 5 p.m., normal registry service including photo driver license renewals.

The early opening at Woburn, according to Registrar Mackey, could be expanded to include other registry offices and other types of service.

If you are seeking information on how to adopt a child, Cong. Edward J. Markey's Mobile Office may be a good place to visit this week. Besides conducting regular constituent services, Markey's van will be participating in "National Adoption Week" this Friday and Saturday, Nov. 25 and 26.

During these days, the mobile office will be staffed with both a congressional aide and a representative from the Mass. Adoption Resource Exchange (MARE), an organization specializing in referral services for couples who are considering adoption. This year, MARE will focus its attention on parentless "special needs" children who have severe emotional or physical handicaps as well as children from minority groups.

The MARE representative will accompany the Mobile Office during its regular rounds through six cities and towns in the 7th Congressional District Friday and Saturday.

On Friday, the van will be located in Winthrop from 9-11 a.m. in the parking lot on Putnam and Pauline sts.; in Chelsea from noon-2 p.m. in the Bradless Shopping Center on the Revere Beach parkway; and in Revere from 2:30-4:30 p.m. at Northgate Shopping Center.

On Saturday, the van will be located in Winchester from 9-11 a.m. across from the town hall; in Woburn from noon-2 p.m. in the Zayre Shopping Center off Rte. 128; and in Stoneham from 2:30-4:30 p.m. at the Redstone Shopping Center.

In the mood...

Far to go, sisters

By Karen Whittlesey-First

The woman's movement was supposed to fall apart by now. The National Women's Conference in Houston this past weekend was supposed to be disrupted by impassioned pleas from both sides of the Equal Rights Amendment article and the questions of abortions and rights of homosexual persons.

It didn't happen. And as long as there is a need to enlighten those in power, even in a small town like Winchester, the movement for human rights will not fall apart.

Look around here. There is so far to go, sisters. Here in your Town Hall Monday night, for example...

Selectmen can't authorize relocation of an electric pole without a public hearing, to which abutters and a representative of the Boston Edison are invited. For a long time Mr. Jones dutifully brought his maps and, on behalf of the electric company, explained the reasons for moving or not moving a pole.

Mr. Jones does not come now and someone else is attending selectmen's hearings on pole relocations.

Monday night there was a hearing scheduled at 8. There were also interviews with nine persons interested in serving on selectmen-appointed committees, a lengthy conversation with residents of Myrtle terrace, and the regular docket of items which selectmen discuss in the running of the town.

It was 9:30 before the young woman from Boston Edison, who had been sitting by the door since 7:45, had a chance to interrupt the meeting to ask when the pole relocation would be discussed.

There was general fluttering about as selectmen chairman Barbara S. Hanks

A contingent of Myrtle terrace residents went to the board of selectmen for the second time in two weeks to ask some relief could be granted them from the all-night parking ban which has started to be enforced in anticipation of the snow and ice season.

Once again, the board was sympathetic to the plight of the residents who do not have driveways and are forced to park on the sidewalk. For the first time in 20 or 25 years, the residents say, the police are ticketing these cars and it's getting darn expensive.

Selectmen Chairman Barbara S. Hanks aid, "We cannot authorize exceptions to the by-laws without opening Pandora's box. There is nothing we can do and I know of no one you can go to for relief."

Police Chief John P. McHugh had a suggestion, passed to the residents by Town Manager Thomas J. Groux. The chief suggested that with the approval of residents on Greeley road, a private way, cars could be parked on that street. It is the public ways which must be kept clear for snow and ice removal.

As Selectman Edward F. O'Connell said, "We're damned by the rest of town if we grant relief and we're damned by the residents of Myrtle terrace if we don't."

The Health Planning Council for Greater Boston Inc. will hold its annual metro health council elections in December.

The Health Planning Council for Greater Boston is a non-profit, federally-designated health systems agency for 65 communities around Boston. Its purpose is to support the joint efforts of consumers and health professionals to address the major issues — cost, quality, and accessibility of health care — affecting the delivery of health services in the area.

Winchester resident Diana Imbimbo is the current president of the council. The membership includes both providers and consumers of health care, with a majority of the members being consumers. This is a public agency, funded and authorized by the federal government, and you can take part in it.

If you wish to be a candidate for the council, or simply to find out more about it, call the coordination and education staff of the Health Planning Council of Greater Boston at 787-5800 for candidate applications and complete election details. The elections will be held at the regular December council meetings.

The US Environmental Protection Agency will hold its sixth annual New England citizens briefing on Dec. 2. The session will be held from 1-4:30 p.m. at the Ramada Inn, Woburn (off Route 128).

Confirmed speakers include: Dr. James MacKenzie, director of energy, Presidential Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ), who will discuss the Carter Administration's approach to energy problems; Thomas Jorling, EPA's recently confirmed assistant administrator for water and hazardous materials, who will discuss the future of the federal government's water pollution control effort; and William R. Adams Jr., the new Regional EPA Administrator, who will focus on directions the agency will be taking in New England in 1978.

Additional speakers will be announced at a later date. The meeting is open to the public, free of charge.

For further information or to register to attend, contact Paul Keough, director of public awareness, EPA, Room 2203, JFK Federal Building, Boston, 02203

Rotondi bill would provide elderly property tax relief

Sen. Samuel Rotondi (D-Winchester) and Rep. James J. Gaffney (D-Tewksbury) announced today the key elements of a major piece of legislation which would provide property tax relief for the elderly.

This bill was the result of several months of intensive study and work by a special subcommittee of the joint committee on taxation, chaired by Sen. Rotondi and Rep. Gaffney. The method of study used by the subcommittee resulted in contacting every board of assessors in the Commonwealth twice. This was done to insure that all municipalities were provided with an opportunity to comment on the proposed legislation.

This review disclosed that varying assessment ratios applied by towns and cities resulted in inequitable application of laws relating to elderly abatements. Specifically these laws are clauses 17 and 41 of Chapter 51, Section 5 of the Massachusetts General Laws. The varying assessment ratios were accentuated by the recent move by many communities to 100 percent evaluation in compliance with a recent Supreme Judicial Court decision in the well-known Sudbury case.

Sen. Rotondi commented, "Some communities moved to 100 percent evaluation and had a corresponding impact on homeowners, and in some cases raising their evaluation by as much as 300 percent. This had a devastating effect on the elderly homeowners because it increased their property valuation beyond the present statutory limits set for abatement purposes. Thus, disparities have occurred which may cause an elderly citizen in one city or town to receive substantially less relief than one with exactly the same property in another community."

For example: taxpayers receiving a Clause 41 abatement in municipalities with a tax rate of $87.50, or less, are limited to the $350 sum while other homeowners can opt for a figure equal to four times the tax rate. Based on 1977 tax rates, this option would be worth $916.00 in Malden and $772.00 in Marlborough.

The following is a breakdown of the key elements of the legislation:

1. The legislation will reduce the whole estate to $17,000 and and 20,000, but eliminate value of domicile from computation. This feature should eliminate valuation as a factor in eligibility, protecting elderly in towns and cities where revaluation is an accomplished fact or is imminent. However, it will have little impact in municipalities where large number of elderly qualify because of low assessment ratios.

2. Abatement: an increase to $500 and retain $4,000 valuation option. The $4,000 valuation was retained to avoid reducing abatements in municipalities where the tax rate exceeds $125. As the Sudbury decision is implemented, it is anticipated that something approaching a uniform $500 abatement will be achieved.

3. Date of eligibility: Changed to end of fiscal year.

4. Cost of legislation: The Senate Ways and Means Committee will recommend full funding by the state of the legislation in the amount of $9,000,000, and thus, the change should not affect property taxes.

Sen. Rotondi received a commitment from the Senate Ways and Means Committee that the bill would be reported out soon to the Senate floor for its deliberation. The senator is confident of the support of the Senate and will be working with the governor in hopes that he would sign the legislation should it reach his desk.

Hearing on pollution based on MAPC water quality report

A public meeting to discuss strategies for combating water pollution in the Mystic River basin will be held Dec. 7 at 7:30 p.m., at the Edith Fox Library, 175 Massachusetts ave., Arlington. The meeting is sponsored by the Metropolitan Area Planning Council's (MAPC) Water Quality Project and the Mystic River Watershed Association.

Discussion will center on the MAPC "Mystic River Basin: A Preliminary Report," which pinpoints existing and future water quality problems. The report includes a mail-back questionnaire to aid citizen response.

The report covers the Mystic River basin communities of Winchester, Arlington, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Somerville, Stoneham, Woburn, Everett, Chelsea, Revere, and Winthrop.

Copies of the MAPC report and the accompanying Action Handbook are available in local town and city halls and main libraries. Additional copies may be obtained by writing or calling the MAPC Water Quality Project, 11 Beacon st., Boston (227-0176).

MAPC recommendations deal with several pollution problems including: storm water runoff, excessive road salt use, combined sewers, leachate from municipal landfills, and the loss of wetlands and other natural areas.

Citizen comments from the Dec. 7 meeting and written responses will be incorporated into a final area-wide water quality plan to be submitted to the governor and the US Environmental Protection Agency for approval.

Rep. Saltmarsh reports

New labor bill seen as 'an effective compromise'

The recent passage of legislation establishing a joint labor-management committee to oversee municipal police and firefighters collective bargaining and arbitration proceedings was described this week by Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh, Jr. as an effective compromise between municipal officials and bargaining groups which should do much to end controversy and contention surrounding collective bargaining rights.

Saltmarsh, who was the only legislator to speak in favor of the bill before the committee on public service, said that the Mass. League of Cities and Towns and the professional firefighters of Mass. both pushed for the bill, which substantially alters the state's three-year-old binding arbitration statute for local police and firefighters.

"The Mass. League of Cities and Towns was threatening to bring about a statewide referendum on the state's binding arbitration law which was approved for an additional two years over the Governor's veto," Saltmarsh declared. "Municipal officials felt that the process favored the unions at the expense of the taxpayers, whereas police and fire officials felt the impasse-breaking mechanism was justified to offset the fact that their unions cannot legally strike."

Saltmarsh maintained that such a referendum would have split communities down the middle, causing bitter fighting between municipal officials and police and firefighters.

He said that the new legislation is in large part product of involved negotiations in which a major role was played by Harvard Professor John Dunlop, former Secretary of Labor and national authority in the field of labor relations.

It establishes in the department of labor and industries a joint labor-management committee comprising 13 members including a chairman. Twelve committee members will be appointed by the governor — three from nominations submitted by the Professional Firefighters of Mass., International Association of Firefighters, AFL-CIO; three from nominations submitted by the International Brotherhood of Police Officers, NAGE and the Mass. Police Association; and six from nominations submitted by the local government advisory committee. The chairman will be nominated by the committee and appointed by the governor.

If the committee determines an impasse exists it can specify the issue or issues to be arbitrated, name the panel of neutral arbitrators from which the arbitrator will be selected and, in the event parties cannot agree, appoint the neutral arbitrator.

The committee can also determine the most appropriate form of arbitration to be employed.

High school update

Why standardized testing?

By Linda Svirskey

What is it that students consider a "drag" and parents a necessary requirement? Among other things, standardized testing.

Standardized testing such as the SAT and ACT (Standard Aptitude and Achievement Tests) has recently become a prominent issue in the minds of many Americans. The problem is that they many students seem to be graduating without having learned the essentials generally felt necessary to begin their college careers.

Because parents are becoming more and more concerned about whether or not their children are receiving the fundamental knowledge before graduation, there is a pressure upon the educational system to get back to the three basic-reading, writing, and arithmetic. The parents create the pressure and apply it to the school committee, which applies it to the super-intendent, who applies it to the principal, who, in turn, applies it to the teachers.

These tests are a means for the parents and the school to determine if students are competent in the major subject areas. (i.e. English and math) the high school. In the past, it has been the policy of the high school to exempt any senior with an average of a B or above in a given subject from that final exam. The proposal was made that all seniors be required to take finals as a standard for evaluation of the curriculum.

According to Vincent Larocco, principal of the Winchester High School, the finals would help; evaluate the progress made by the students through their junior and senior high school years and also determine whether the outlined curriculum goals have been met.

On a broader scope, Dr. Walter Gleason, assistant superintendent for curriculum, stated that testing would not only be a progress report, but a standard of measurement for comparing Winchester students to students nation-wide.

The issue of final exams is brought up for consideration year after year with little follow through. As for this year, the issue has been dismissed, seniors with a B or above will not be required to take finals. Although the issue has been put aside this year, there is a good possibility of it surfacing again in future years.

Two final thoughts: to the seniors of '78 RELAX and to the seniors of '79 BEWARE!

Rotondi co-sponsoring bill for pre-paid legal services

The Massachusetts State Senate has passed a piece of legislation filed by Sen. Samuel Rotondi (D-Winchester) and Rep. Kevin M. Burke (D-Beverly) which will for the first time allow insurance companies to offer prepaid legal service plans to Massachusetts residents.

The bill was written in 1974 by Sen. Rotondi when he was the legislative director of the Massachusetts Bar Association, in response to a study done state-wide which discovered that moderate income people were not getting access to legal services. They were not indigent, and therefore, could not get them free, and simply could not afford to pay for them out of their limited incomes.

Similar uninsured plans have been existing in Massachusetts in various labor groups. Federal law has authorized their existence, and the new legislation will not affect their continuation. It will simply offer an alternative. Besides the insured legal plans, the legislation also authorizes non-profit corporations to form for the sole purpose of rendering legal services. These types of plans have particular benefits in urban communities where they can provide quality legal services at a lower cost.

Sen. Rotondi and Rep. Burke offered several amendments to guarantee strict regulatory controls by the commissioner of insurance over these plans. For example, the commissioner would have the right to review every plan with subsequent rights of review every three years. He would also have the authority to withhold the approval of any fee schedule if he determined them to be unreasonable or excessive in the relation to the services rendered. The reasons for these amendments was to insure that the premiums of these plans do not escalate beyond the capacity of those people to whom they are primarily directed.

Sen. Rotondi commented, "The passage of this piece of legislation is the highlight of my freshman year in the Massachusetts State Senate, thus far. I would like to thank Rep. Burke, who has filed this legislation for the past two sessions, for his relentless efforts which resulted in the House passage of the bill for the first time in its four-year history."

The senator added, "this bill has the endorsement of the legislature, labor organizations, consumer interests, organized bar, and the governor, which is proof of its merit."

drinking water was based on what you could consume for a lifetime without adverse health effects. This large safety margin was built into most standards so that you will not be harmed even if the water you drink exceeds some of the maximum contaminant levels for short periods of time.

The safe drinking water act sets standards for 10 chemicals, six pesticides, bacteria, radioactivity and turbidity. They are described by the EPA as follows:

"Most of these substances occur naturally in our environment and in the foods we eat. The national drinking water standards set by EPA reflect the levels we can safely consume in our water, taking into account the amounts we are exposed to from these other sources.

"Only two substances for which standards have been set pose an immediate threat to health wherever they are exceeded:

"Bacteria—Coliform bacteria from human and animal wastes may be found in drinking water if the water is not properly treated. These bacteria may cause disease themselves or indicate that other harmful organisms may be present in the water. Waterborne diseases such as typhoid, cholera, infectious hepatitis, and dysentery have been traced to improperly disinfected drinking water. If you should receive notice that the bacteria level in your water exceeds the minimum standards, follow directions given in the notice.

"Nitrate—Nitrate in drinking water above the national standard poses an immediate threat to children under three months of age. In some infants, excessive levels of nitrate have been known to react with the hemoglobin in the blood to produce an anemic condition commonly known as "blue baby." If you receive notice that your drinking water contains an excessive amount of nitrate, do not give the water to infants under three months of age and do not use it to prepare formula. Do not boil the water, as boiling will only increase the nitrate concentration. Simply read the notice you receive and follow instructions carefully.

Following is a brief outline of the other substances covered by the national drinking water standards. Water exceeding the maximum contaminant levels for these elements, for short periods of time, will pose no immediate threat to health. However, these substances must be controlled as drinking water that exceeds these standards over long periods of time may prove harmful.

"Arsenic—This element occurs naturally in the environment, especially in the western United States, and it is also used in insecticides. It is found in foods, tobacco, shellfish, drinking water, and in the air in some locations.

The national standard allows for 0.05 milligrams of arsenic per liter of water.

Peter Green, junior sanitary engineering aide at the MDC's Somerville Water Testing Laboratory, runs water samples through a filter which traps bacteria. Filters are then placed in a medium and incubated for 24 hours to determine if the water sample is contaminated. (Staff photo)

If you drink water that continuously exceeds the national standard by a substantial amount over a lifetime, you may suffer from fatigue and loss of energy. Extremely high levels can cause poisoning.

"Barium—Although not as widespread as arsenic, this element also occurs naturally in the environment in some areas. It can also enter water supplies through industrial waste discharges.

Small doses of barium are not harmful. However, it is quite dangerous when consumed in large quantities and will bring on increased blood pressure, nerve damage, and even death.

The maximum amount of barium allowed in drinking water by the national standard is 1 milligram per liter of water.

"Cadmium—Only minute amounts of this element are found in natural waters in the United States. Waste discharges from the electroplating, photography, insecticide, and metallurgy industries can increase cadmium levels, however. The most common source of cadmium in our drinking water is from galvanized pipes and fixtures. But the main sources of cadmium exposure are the foods we eat and cigarette smoking.

The maximum amount of cadmium allowed in drinking water by the national standard is 0.01 milligrams per liter of water.

"Chromium—This metal is found in cigarettes, some of our foods, and the air. Some studies suggest that in minute amounts, chromium may be essential to human beings, but this has not been proven.

The national standard for chromium is 0.05 milligrams per liter of water.

"Fluoride—This is a natural mineral and all drinking water contains some. High levels of fluoride in drinking water can cause brown spots on the teeth, or mottling, in children up to 12 years of age. Adults can tolerate ten times more than children. In the proper amounts, however, fluoride in drinking water prevents cavities during formative years. This is why many communities add fluoride in controlled amounts to their water supply.

The maximum amount of fluoride allowed in drinking water by the national standard ranges from 0.4 milligrams per liter to water to 2.4 milligrams, depending on the average maximum daily air temperature. (The hotter the climate, the lower the amount allowed for people tend to drink more water in hot climates.)

"Lead—This metal is found in the air and in our food. It comes from lead and galvanized pipes, auto exhausts, and other sources. The maximum amount of lead permitted in drinking water by the national standards is 0.05 milligrams per liter of water. Excessive amounts well above this standard may result in nervous system disorders or brain or kidney damage.

"Mercury—Mercury is found naturally throughout the environment. Large increases in mercury levels in water can be caused by industrial and agricultural use. The health risk from mercury is greater from mercury in fish than simply from waterborne mercury. Mercury poisoning may be acute, in large doses, or chronic, from lower doses taken over an extended time period.

The maximum amount of mercury allowed in drinking water by the national standard is 0.02 milligrams per liter of water. That level is 13 percent of the total allowable daily dietary intake of mercury.

"Selenium—This mineral occurs naturally in soil and plants, especially in western States. It is found in meat and other foods. Although it is believed to be essential in the diet, there are indications that excessive amounts of selenium may be toxic. Studies are underway to determine the amount required for good nutrition and the amount that may be harmful.

The national standard for selenium is 0.01 milligrams per liter of water. If selenium came only from drinking water, it would take an amount many times greater than the standard to produce any ill effects.

"Silver—This metal should pose no problem. It is sometimes used in disinfecting water. The maximum amount of silver allowed in drinking water by the national standard is 0.05 milligrams per liter of water.

"Pesticides—Millions of pounds are used on croplands, forests, lawns, and gardens in the United States each year. They drain off into surface waters or seep into underground water supplies. Many of them may pose health problems if they get into drinking water and the water is not properly treated. The maximum limits for pesticides in drinking water are:

Endrin, 0.004 milligrams per liter
Lindane, 0.004 milligrams per liter
Methoxychlor, 0.1 milligrams per liter
Toxaphene, 0.005 milligrams per liter
2,4-D, 0.1 milligrams per liter
2,4,5-TP Silvex, 0.01 milligrams per liter

It would take a dose ten times greater than these standards for pesticides to produce any harmful effects.

"Radioactivity—Radioactivity is the only contaminant for which standards have been set that has been shown to cause cancer. However, your possible exposure to radiation in drinking water is only a fraction of your exposure from all natural sources.

"The main source of radioactive material in surface water is fallout from nuclear bomb testing. Other sources could be nuclear power plants, nuclear fuel processing plants, and uranium mines. Those sources are monitored constantly and there is no great risk of contamination, barring accidents.

"Alpha, and radium radioactivity occur naturally in parts of the west, mid-west, and northeast in ground water. Standards for those types of radioactivity and for man-made, or beta, radiation have been set at levels of safety comparable to other contaminants.

"The safe drinking water program includes a monitoring effort to locate contaminated systems so that remedial action can be taken.

"Turbidity—The cloudiness, or turbidity, of drinking water is also covered by the national standards. The minute particles suspended in the water that cause turbidity can interfere with disinfection and with bacteria testing. Excessive turbidity can thus allow disease-causing organisms to survive. Standards have been set to provide for varying circumstances.

Those, in brief, are the substances for which drinking water standards have already been established. Any violation of these standards will be announced publicly, even if the violation does not endanger your health. The important thing to remember is that the law requires water systems to inform the public of any violation of the regulations, no matter how minor. It's your extra margin of safety.

"So if your water system notifies you of a violation, read it carefully. Do whatever is recommended to protect yourself and your family. If you follow whatever precautions are suggested, you will have no cause for immediate concern and can help support the steps necessary to correct the problem.

This series of four articles, prompted by the bacterial contamination of Winchester's water for a week last September, was written by David Funkhouser, editor at The Star, along with the help of local and MDC officials and Winchester residents.

New program in special ed seeks youngsters

A new program, funded by the federal government under a Title VI grant, is beginning Monday at the Muraco School. The program is unique to Winchester.

Under the year-long grant, 12 kids between the ages of three and six will be able to take part in special education classes before they get into the public school system.

According to Bonnie Robbins, project director, children with mild to moderate special needs are eligible for this service. The problem, Ms. Robbins says, will be in finding the children. Last year there was a pre-school screening procedure for children about to enter school. This program is looking for even younger children.

"We have sent letters to parents of elementary school-aged children who might have younger ones at home; we have notified doctors and dentists; we have contacted the high school radio station," she says. If anyone thinks his or her child may have emotional, social, gross or fine motor problems, in the mild to moderate range, testing and evaluations can be set up.

"Early intervention is the focus of this program. If we can identify those youngsters with special needs before they start school, we may be able to correct the problems earlier than we could before," Ms. Robbins says.

If a child seems to have a special need, he or she is first screened informally, either by a psychologist or by the program staff. If further screening seems warranted, there is a full CORE evaluation with specialists and administrators. None of this will cost the parents a cent.

If the CORE evaluation verifies the special needs of a child, a plan for education is worked out and, with parental approval, the child is placed in the class.

"This does not mean the child will be in special needs classes the rest of his or her life," Ms. Robbins emphasizes. "The point of the program is to keep the children out of the special classes by early detection."

The class of 12 will meet from 9 to 11:30 daily at Muraco. Transportation will be provided if needed, again at no cost to the parents. Staffing includes an early childhood specialist, a teaching assistant, a speech and reading specialist, and, if there is a need, a physical or occupational therapist.

The program begins Monday. Anyone who is interested in having his or her child considered for enrollment, should contact Bonnie Robbins at 729-8850 or 729-8985.

Dr. and Mrs. George A. Marks pose in front of plaque noting Dr. Marks' contributions to the surgical care at Winchester Hospital. Dr. Marks was honored recently at a dinner and reception held at the Winchester Country Club. He is retiring after 44 years on the hospital staff.

Awarded plaque

Dr. Marks honored after 44 years on hospital staff

Dr. George A. Marks, MD, a member of the Winchester Hospital medical staff for the past 44 years, was the guest of honor at a reception and dinner held recently at the Winchester Country Club to mark his retirement from active practice.

Dr. Howard Ulfelder, a long-time friend of the guest of honor, was the master of ceremonies for the evening.

Among the many guests present were Dr. Marks' four children, Anne, George Jr., Frederick and Amelia, with Frederick travelling from Japan and Amelia from New York to celebrate the milestone in their father's career.

On behalf of the hospital's board of directors, vice president D. Reid Weedon Jr. presented Dr. Marks with a framed resolution citing the surgeon's contributions to the hospital and to the community during his 44 years of surgical practice.

A special plaque, commemorating his contribution to the improvement of surgical care at the hospital was presented to Dr. Marks by his daughter, Anne. The plaque will be displayed permanently in the hospital's surgical suite.

As a lasting memorial to him, the George A. Marks, MD Fund has been established by many of his friends and admirers, with the proceeds of the fund reserved for use in the hospital's surgical suite.

Dr. William L. Kermond, president of the medical and dental staff, and Dr. Hugh F. McCarthy, chairman of the department of surgery at the hospital also paid tribute to the guest of honor.

In his remarks of thanks and appreciation, Dr. Marks made specific reference to the high standard of medical care developed and maintained by the hospital and by medical staff members.

"It's (Winchester Hospital's) development and growth over the years of my association with it have been a personal challenge. Having arrived here fresh out of the Old Mass General Hospital, I dimly recall asking myself if we couldn't maintain, on a small scale, an institution operating on its basic principles of high quality medical care and intellectual honesty, and I think we have."

"...Dick Clark, Milton Quinn, Phil McManus, Angelo Maletta and Justin Anderson were part of it."

He also commended the board of directors and friends and volunteers of the hospital. "Organized or individually, they have gladly come forward to satisfy the hospital's needs — whether in work or funds," he said.

Dr. Marks joined the Winchester Hospital staff in 1933 and served in World War II as a lieutenant colonel in the US Army Medical Corps from 1942-1946. In 1945 he was awarded the Legion of Merit, one of the nation's highest decorations.

Firemen check Nelson st. fire

Firefighters extinguished many small fires in the area this week. On Nov. 16, all equipment responded to a third floor fire at 7 Nelson st. The crew found a fire smoldering on the outside of the building at 9:50 a.m. Facial boards and cedar shingles were removed. The department believes that the fire was caused by painters using electric heaters to remove old paint.

Later that afternoon at 1:48, police reported a shed fire at the end of River st. The shed was completely in flames when firefighters arrived on the scene. That night at 10:45 the crew took three and a half hours to extinguish two piles of burning leaves.

At 8:26 P.M. Friday, a dumpster caught fire at 23 East st. A little later at 9:10 a 1972 Chevrolet Vega was found burning at the rear of the USA Skating Rink at Conant street.

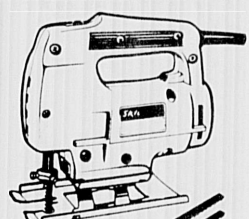

Two brush fires occupied firefighters on Saturday. An extensive brush fire occurred behind Plato terrace at 3:18 p.m. The crew put out the blaze in an hour and a half. At 7:41 p.m. the fire department received a call reporting a red glow in the sky around the area of Hillcrest Parkway. A large brush fire was in progress in the Fells from Hillcrest Parkway to Long Pond.

On Sunday at 8:02 p.m. firefighters responded to a second alarm from Woburn Box 65. One and a quarter hours later, the fire was extinguished at a Prospect st. building in Woburn.

Middlesex Y to close; last event Dec. 1

The Central Middlesex Branch of the Cambridge YWCA located at 6 Spruce Hill rd. in Burlington will be closing mid-December.

In June 1977, a committee was formed to study the role of the Cambridge YWCA in the Central Middlesex area. The committee, with the approval of the Central Middlesex Administrative Committee, recommended the following to the Cambridge YWCA Board of Directors: that the YWCA divest itself of its property in Burlington as soon as possible, that all programming stop at the end of the fall session, and that the Cambridge YWCA postpone any other programming in the Central Middlesex area until there is a broader base of community support. On November 8, the Board of Directors approved the recommendations.

The Central Middlesex Branch began as an outpost of the Cambridge YWCA in the late 1950's when people were moving to a rapidly growing Burlington and surrounding area. The United Way recognized the need for services to women and girls and urged Cambridge to help organize programs. A nucleus of enthusiastic volunteers from the area were involved from the beginning and an active program began. As Burlington grew and more services became available, the enrollment began to decline. As enrollment dropped, financial pressure increased and rising costs strained the budget. As Phyllis Rickett, Chairperson of the Study Committee, said, "We were the only flower in the field. We have cross-pollinated and now there are many."

As a closing event, a Greening Day has been planned for Thursday, December 1 from 10 to 2. All past members and volunteers, non-members, and active members and volunteers are invited to this day of making wreaths and swags and enjoying the company of friends.

Bring green cuttings, wire coat hangers, ribbons, cones etc. and gloves and clippers. Brown bag a lunch, coffee and cider will be provided. Children are welcome and nursery will be available. This will be the YWCA's closing event and all are invited. Call 272-3181 for information.

Y to sponsor health day for women Tuesday

What are the dangers of mammography? How reliable is a pap smear? How does a parent answer questions about growth and development? How does a parent keep the lines of communication open? These questions are just a few of the topics of Woman's Health Day, a morning program co-sponsored by the Central Middlesex YWCA and the Lahey Primary Care Clinic on Tuesday from 9 to noon at Lahey Primary Care Clinic, Mall road in Burlington.

John Carzo of 3 Mason st. is a senior forestry major at the University of Maine at Orono. He has just been elected captain of the lacrosse team and is president of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Women's Health Day is free and is open to everyone. YWCA membership is not required. Advanced registration is requested as enrollment is limited. Child care is available on a limited basis and by reservation only. A small fee is required for the service. Call 272-3181 for reservations and information.

Warriors on top of youth soccer as season ends

Fighting for the championship, the Warriors went off to an early lead on goals by Philip DiDio and Richard Veitch. A strong offensive was kept up through the first half by Robby Ricciardelli, Frank Muggia, John Doherty, Ned White, Eric Johnson, Magliozzi and the rest of the team.

During the second half the Knights fought back hard and the attacks of Parker, Casey, Triglione and Gorassi, saw the Warrior defense of Mark Steranka, Bruce Nichols, Lee and Guderson fighting hard to try to maintain the lead. The final score, 2-2, pointed out how evenly matched those teams were.

The Minutemen defeated the Celtics 3-0, managing to earn a tie for second place, and the Panthers defeated the Tigers 2-0. Unfortunately not all the games that were cancelled on account of rain could be made up.

The soccer season is over but so much enthusiasm has been demonstrated that we will plan to have a game every Saturday morning at 11 o'clock for as long as the weather allows us to play. Any youngster interested in playing should go up to Ambrose Field at 11 a.m.

At state meet

Four members of the Winchester High School Girls Swim team went to the state championships last weekend and put in a pretty good showing.

The four girls - Tricaptains Bitser Dexter (breaststroke) and Laurie Grant (freestyle), Senior, Kathy Conley (backstroke), and Sophomore Jackie Hart (butterfly) came in third in the 200-yard medley relay at the meet, held in Springfield.

Their time in the race was 2:00.536. Acton-

Boxboro won the race with a record-breaking 1:57.14.

Grant and Dexter also came in fifth and sixth in the 100-yard breaststroke event.

The same relay team took second last week in the medley relay at the Eastern Mass. championships held in Brockton. Acton-Boxboro won that event also. The four girls brought in a total of 47 points at the E. Mass. Meet and put Winchester in the top 10 out of 47 schools entered.

Youth hockey intermurals are underway

Winchester Youth Hockey's winter intermural program started last Sunday at the USA Rink with a large turnout of future superstars. Registration will be held each Sunday morning at the rink until team rosters are filled. Early registration is urged in order to finalize plans for the season, which will continue each Sunday until April.

"Playing and learning in Winchester Youth Hockey's Sunday program is practically a must if a boy hopes to play for his school team someday," says youth hockey Director Fran Murray. "The rosters of many colleges, prep schools, high schools and junior highs are made up of boys who learned their skating and hockey skills under the tutelage of the volunteer instructors and coaches of Winchester Youth Hockey."

"The fun of competitive sports is also a learning experience where one learns to work and play with others for a common goal. Murray added, "Skillful hockey is the policy and excessive roughness is not condoned. Boys are separated by age and ability and after a period of instruction and conditioning, teams are formed. It isn't necessary to be a super star to participate and there are no tryouts. All boys play, as the emphasis is on letting the boys have fun under safe, supervised conditions."

As in past years the program will be under the direction of Eddie Sandford former captain of the Bruins and Kevin Nolan, who look forward to a large response for this, the 18th season. All boys from 5-17 are eligible. Jerseys will be provided and are kept by the skaters, who provide their own skates, sticks and protective equipment. Goalies are most welcome and goalie equipment is supplied. Further information may be obtained by contacting Pres. Alan Ross, 9 Norfolk rd.

Little League's annual meeting is on Wednesday

The Winchester Little League will hold its annual meeting and election of officers for 1978 Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Winchester Elks Home, Cambridge street, Winchester. The League asks all managers, coaches, board of directors, members and executive board members to be present.

Mini-college

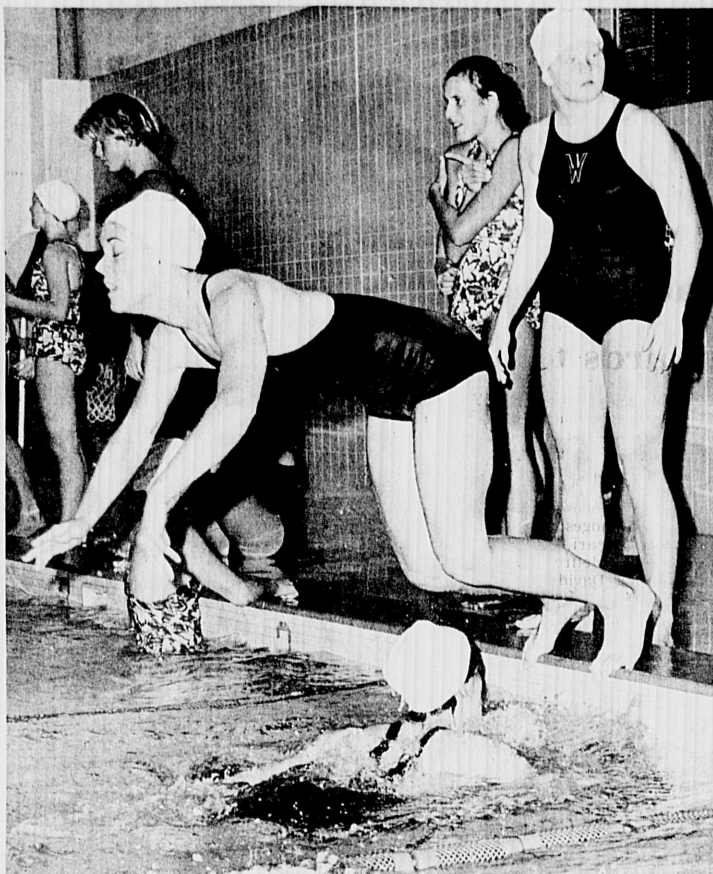

Every Wednesday after school at 2:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of the high school, the guidance office will be conducting a mini-college program to which all high school students and their parents are invited.

On Wednesday, Nov. 30, the following institutions will be represented:

Aquinas Junior College, Bentley College, Endicott College, Gordon College, Laboure Junior College, Lesley College, Massachusetts Bay Community College, North Adams State College.

On Wednesday, Dec. 7, admissions representatives from the following institutions plan to attend:

Johnson & Wales College (Rhode Island), University of Miami (Florida), Nathaniel Hawthorne College (New Hampshire), Norwich University (Vermont), Westbrook College (Maine).

WHS swimmer Bitser Dexter takes off in relay event as teammate touches in below; Jean Cresse waits her turn behind. Four Sachemette swimmers placed third in the medley relay in state competition, second in Eastern Mass. competition over the past two weekends. The team included Dexter (breaststroke), Kathy Conley (backstroke), Laurie Grant (freestyle) and Jackie Hart (butterfly). (Don Young photo)

Every Monday night at 8:30 at St. Eulalia's Church, 50 Ridge st., there will be a meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous. Everyone is welcome.

'Showboat' on stage at St. Mary's this weekend

Ten years ago a parish priest, a piano player, 50 young persons and a small group of adults started what has become an annual event which has brought entertainment to persons of all ages and walks of life.

Anything that lasts for 10 years must have a good reason for being, and the St. Mary's CYO Show reveals that reason to be the cooperation between parents, sponsors, organizations, businesses, adult helpers, and the youth of the town.

The show goes on this weekend, Nov. 26-28 at St. Mary's, and this year's performance will be "Showboat." The original parish priest, Fr. Bernard Hoy, and the pianist, Barbara Paulson, have left, but much of the tradition remains in the families who have been involved with the show for the past 10 years.

For times and tickets, call St. Mary's.

Special service at Christian Science church on T'Day

Members of the Christian Science Church, 114 Church st., invite the public to Thanksgiving day services at 10 a.m.

The service will include (from the 100th Psalm) the reading of the President's proclamation and a special time for members to express their gratitude to God.

Music by organist Ann Blanchard will include "Thou Crownest the Year" by Burdett, "While the Earth Remains" by Tours and "Ye Shall Dwell in the Land" by Stainer. The soloist Lyndel Andrews will sing "Thanksgiving" by O'Connor-Morris.

The nursery will be open. Children beyond nursery age are invited to the church service.

Members of the "Busy Bees" of the Volunteers Association at New England Rehabilitation Hospital, Woburn, have made some 300 attractive turkey decorations. They will put one on each meal tray at Thanksgiving. The Volunteers are noted for their holiday souvenirs at Christmas, Easter, Mother's Day, and other special days throughout the year. Shown are Mrs. Tina Storti (left) of Woburn, and Mrs. Mary Nunziato of Winchester, chairman.

"Light Up Your Candle. But not at both ends." will be the sermon topic of Dr. Robert A. Storer at the Winchester Unitarian Church on Sunday at the 10:30 service.

'Third World gift' sale at Epiphany

A sale of gifts, developed by UNICEF, and a special display of "Third World Gift items" will be offered in Hadley Hall at the Epiphany Sunday from 3:30 - 5:30.

The "Third World Gift" sale is sponsored by Packard Manse, an ecumenical center in Stoughton. Several years ago members of the Manse community established a shop where gifts made by poor people in Africa, Asia and Latin America and in Appalachia in this country are sold.

The merchandise on sale Sunday comes from people in many different conditions. Some are the products of skills learned in the home. Other items come from people in desperate poverty struggling to stay alive, and many are made by craft-people holding on to ancient skills. The Manse receives merchandise only from those individuals and agencies who assure them that the Third World crafts peoples themselves are the only beneficiaries of the sales.

The sale Sunday is open to the public.

Turkey Day classic

Sachems look to cap 6-3 season with a win

By Jon Kalman

The Thanksgiving Game classic, held this year at Winchester's Knowlton stadium, should prove to be a game with many surprises.

The pre-season polls all predicted a dogfight in the Middlesex League, but after the smoke had cleared, only the Melrose and Watertown teams remained on top.

The Sachems, picked by many to be number one this season, marched unscathed through the first six games with close calls coming at Burlington and Belmont.

The Tanners though, fell to hard times, winning only one of their first six matches, as the Woburnites could not find the winning formula.

Then the script changed: the Sachems, at the time rated number four in the state Division one polls, were upset by a strong Wakefield squad. The loss was written off as a "lucky win," but the Winchester club continued to slide, dropping their next two games to Melrose and Watertown, and slipping out of the state division one rankings.

The pre-season Middlesex League picture was now jarred out of focus, with only Watertown and Melrose scrambling for top honors.

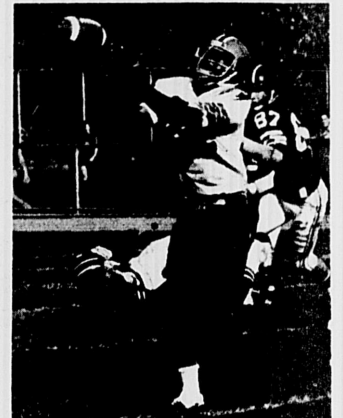

The Sachems are entering this game coming off three straight losses, but Winchester would like nothing better than demolishing the Tanners to cap the season.

The Tanners too are out for blood, needing this win to save a long, frustrating season. Woburn's secret weapon for the game is Andy Clivio, a junior running back who turned into a premier runner this year, marching for over 1000 yards and battling with Melrose's Kevin McCormack for top scoring honors.

Clivio though, will have to move through the Sachem defense, which proved during the season that it has the ability to clamp down when the going gets tough. Captains John Della Grote and Wayne Maggio team with Gerald DiBlasi, Brian O'Connor, and Bill Monson to make the defense very tough.

Captain Don Allard, supervising the strong Sachem backfield of Anthony Davis, Tom Murray, Sam Bellino, and Mark O'Neil, must get the Sachem offense established early to insure the win. Anthony Davis has had an excellent year for Winchester, running for 700 yards and 12 touchdowns.

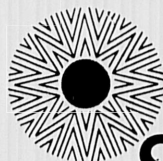

So after everyone has finished putting in their two cents worth, I still stand behind the Sachems to secure their second consecutive Turkey Day Classic.

Senior Halfback Anthony Davis has helped make it a good season for the Sachems.

It's another side to Koko Boodakian. Steady appreciation. Of the real value of that fine Oriental you buy, not just of its practical beauty. This Persian we sold ten years ago, for instance, is already worth over three times its cost. And its value should keep increasing. Because fine, new Orientals are getting scarcer every day. As industrialization races across the Near East, more and more artisans abandon their age-old craft for easier work and higher wages.

So we must search harder and go further to keep our half-million dollar stock of new, antique, and used Orientals complete, and our range of prices within reach. But if you want one "someday," the time to invest is now. On the other hand, if you'd like to sell a used Oriental you can't use any more, call us. We can always use another good one. Open Monday through Saturday 9:30-5:00, Thursday & Friday to 9:00. Telephone 729-5566.

Cheerleaders, Tumblettes keep Sachem spirit alive

By Karen Polowchena

There once was a time when being a high school cheerleader was a ticket to popularity. It may still be that way today, but the Winchester High School cheerleaders show that it takes a lot of hard work to stay on the team.

These girls attend all of the football, soccer, basketball, and hockey games as well as many of the girls' hockey games. This means taking their enthusiastic support to other high schools for away games. Co-captains, Lori Constantine and Eve West practice with their 14-girl squad every weekday and Saturday mornings. Besides cheering at all of the sports events, the girls also march in the EnKa Day and Memorial Day parades. Mrs. Barbara Stoddard, the team's faculty supervisor, says that the cheerleaders can be seen at the three or four pep rallies a year, energizing the students for a victorious season.

Jeanne Landry and Dori Redding are the Seniors on the team this year. Juniors are: Carla Buzzotta, Leslie Allen, Lindsay James, Mary McNamara, Carol Thomas, and Jana Constantine. Terry Amoroso, Debby Lizzott, and Cheryl Banks represent the sophomore class.

Right next to the cheerleaders at football games you will see the Tumblettes performing their gymnastic routines to the accompaniment of the band. There are usually two co-captains for this team but this year's cap Maureen McCabe won by such an overwhelming vote that faculty advisor, Pam Rufo, decided she should hold the office alone. Maureen is also the co-captain of the girls' gymnastic team with Laurie Vincent.

Other members of the Tumblettes are, in the senior class: Carrie Hooper, Maurie Vincent, juniors: Terri Allard, Robin Getson, Mary Donlan, Mary Beth Reinhardt, Terry Burns, Lisa Thyson, Peggy McCabe, and Beth Walters, sophomores: Joyce Frykland, and Eileen McCabe.

The squad usually consists of 14 girls with two alternates but this year 12 girls and two alternates made up the team. Three of the members were out with injuries.

The Tumblettes are another very busy group. They practice three afternoons a week and on Saturday mornings. After they get the music from the band, they make up the routine as a group. They tumble at the EnKa Day Parade, the Memorial Day Parade, two pep rallies each year, as well as the football games. They also put on tumbling shows at the Vinson-Owen School.

You will have to ask the members of these teams to find out if promoting team spirit is the key to popularity these days. Whether this is true or not, it is true that it takes plenty of time and effort.

Winchester pulled out last-minute score

By Walter Shaughnessy,
1917 WHS Team Captain

The squad was small in number and size, but the Winchester High School Football team of 1917 was fast, and they had a lot of spirit. Back then the home games were played on Manchester Field, which was not yet enclosed and therefore no supporting income was realized.

Transportation was a problem too. There were few automobile owners and no buses as we know them today. Travel was by trolley car for a five cent fare, with the advantage of a transfer slip.

The coach was a physical education teacher assisted by a manager without the aid of assistant coaches or trainer.

The squad was so limited, the members of the first team played the entire game offensively and defensively, with subs getting in occasionally when there was an injury or a player needed a short rest.

In 1917, Winchester did not play Woburn in the Thanksgiving Day game, because Woburn was not in the Mystic Valley League. At that time Winchester's main opponent was Arlington. However, during this time we had several practices with Woburn.

The picture (of the 1917 squad) was taken after the final game at Spy Pond Field in Arlington. For almost the entire game the teams battled back and forth, with neither team being able to score.

Finally, at the closing moments of the game, Winchester decided to try a field goal, which was successful, thus leaving Coach Doc McCarthy and his Arlington squad bewildered. The final score was Winchester 3, Arlington 0.

A few of the members of the 1917 Sackem Football team are still around to recall the days when there was no fence around Manchester Field, and the Aberjona ran around the other side of the field behind where McCall Junior High stands. Back together for an informal reunion are team members (l-r) Richard Clifton, Captain Walter Shaughnessy, and Theodore Elliott.

What Christmas Gift Can Last A Lifetime?

"I tried everything. . . diet pills, group meetings and even other figure salons and nothing has worked like Gloria Stevens. I don't know whether it's because of their diet, their friendly and well-trained staff or just because they have made me stick with it; where I didn't with other weight-loss methods. All I know is everyone keeps telling me how great I look, and I feel like a kid again! Gloria Stevens is really different!"

Ann McCann, wife of a physician and mother of four. She lost 34 pounds and 39 inches at Gloria Stevens.

Manufacturers' Suggested Retail Prices. Actual selling prices may vary.

For 1978, there's a new Chevy Chevette with four doors and plenty of interior room and comfort. Plus, lots of new standard features that were either not available or extra cost on last year's 2-Door Chevy Chevette Hatchback. It's more Chevette than ever before. Compare it to the leading imports and you're in for a pleasant surprise. Right down the line you'll see that the Chevy Chevette 4-Door challenges the imports with its standard equipment.

You'll also see that Chevy Chevette 4-Door challenges import value with its remarkable price.

The new Chevy Chevette 4-Door Hatchback is a lot of car for your money.

*These are the latest manufacturers' suggested retail prices available as of October 24, 1977. Sticker price including destination charges to Boston and not including taxes, license and optional equipment.
